Eight scenarios. Eight skills.

Eight school and program decisions: explain an admissions outcome, align learning and assessment, review support, repair a family message, calibrate grading, limit record access, report review evidence, and compare staffing options.

13

A topic list is not a learning outcome | Align a measurable learning outcome with classroom preparation, assessment evidence, and a shared scoring rule.

03 Student Support and Intervention

22

A plan on paper is not a delivered intervention | Distinguish need, implementation, and outcome when reviewing a student-support plan.

04 Parent and Guardian Communication

31

Repair a message that sounded accusatory | Acknowledge the effect of a message, correct unsupported wording, and arrange a clear, accessible meeting.

05 Faculty Coordination and Evaluation

40

The same paper, two different rubric readings | Resolve scoring disagreements through shared criteria and evidence rather than averaging incompatible judgments.

06 Compliance, Records, and Privacy

49

A route-planning task does not need an entire file | Clarify purpose, authorized access, and minimum task-relevant records without treating job title as blanket permission.

07 Accreditation and Program Review

58

Three completed actions are not a closed review | Report action status, ownership, and evidence without confusing completion with effectiveness or accreditation approval.

08 Budget, Staffing, and Institutional Priorities

67

One more class still leaves four learners waiting | Compare staffing options using capacity, full cost, displaced work, and authorization status.

Clear language, fair processes

An education administrator often connects people who use the same words differently: families, teachers, reviewers, and budget holders. State the relevant rule, the available evidence, and the next authorized step.

Name the actual process

Eligibility, selection, enrollment, and placement are different stages. A person can meet entry conditions without receiving a place when capacity is limited.

"The application met the eligibility criteria; the published allocation process determined the offer."

Separate observation from interpretation

Describe recorded attendance, submitted work, or a documented action before making a claim about motivation, support, or learning.

"The record shows three late arrivals; it does not establish the reason."

Make the next step usable

Specify the responsible person, date, channel, and decision needed. An invitation to talk should not sound like a finding of fault.

"Please confirm whether Tuesday at 08:45 works, and whether you need an interpreter."

Keep claims within the evidence

A completed action does not by itself prove improved outcomes. A policy, an implemented practice, and evidence of effectiveness serve different purposes.

"The action is complete; the outcome review is still scheduled for next month."

PROFESSIONAL BOUNDARIES

All institutions, people, figures, deadlines, and local procedures in the scenarios are fictional. Admissions, safeguarding, disability support, privacy, employment, and accreditation requirements vary by institution and jurisdiction. Use the applicable approved process and qualified advice; this book teaches communication, not legal or safeguarding decisions.

Eligible, but no place available yet

A Read the situation

Explain an allocation decision without disclosing other applicants or promising a future offer.

Admissions officer Leena speaks with guardian Mr. Ortiz about a fictional program with 20 places and 24 eligible applicants. The published process uses a lottery among eligible applicants. His child met the entry criteria but was not selected and is fourth on the waiting list. The local procedure allows a factual-error review requested within five school days of the decision notice. A review is not a second lottery, and no vacancy is confirmed. Leena may explain the family's own record and published process, not other applicants' information.

PEOPLE / Leena: Admissions officer | Mr. Ortiz: Guardian

EXPLAIN THE RULE WITHOUT SOUNDING DISMISSIVE

A family may hear a capacity decision as a judgment about the child. Acknowledge that concern, distinguish eligibility from selection, and give a precise next step. Warmth does not require predicting a waiting-list outcome or discussing another family.

Briefing checks

Circle one answer in each item. Use the briefing.

1. Why was an offer not made?

- A The child failed the entry criteria.
- B The application was submitted late.
- C A factual-error review has already rejected the case.
- D The eligible applicant was not selected in the capacity-limited lottery.

2. What is the current waiting-list position?

- A Fourth
- B First
- C Twentieth
- D Twenty-fourth

3. What does the local review procedure examine?

- A A guaranteed new place
- B Another family's private record
- C A new lottery requested by any guardian
- D A claimed factual error in the application decision

- 01 Mr. Ortiz: The letter says my daughter meets the criteria, but she has no place. Did someone decide she was not suitable?
- 02 Leena: Her ¹ _____ is confirmed. The program had twenty places and twenty-four eligible applicants. Meeting the entry conditions allowed her into the allocation process, but did not guarantee selection.
- 03 Mr. Ortiz: Was this a comparison of ability, or was something missing from my daughter's file?
- 04 Leena: The published process used a ² _____ among eligible applicants. I can explain your daughter's record and that process, but I cannot discuss other families' applications or personal information.
- 05 Mr. Ortiz: So this was a capacity decision, not a new assessment of her ability. The notice also mentions a list, but I need to understand her position.
- 06 Leena: She is fourth on the ³ _____. No vacancy is confirmed at present. I understand that makes planning difficult, but I do not want to give you an unsupported date.
- 07 Mr. Ortiz: Does fourth mean that four children would have to leave? I do not want to misunderstand the number and make plans the school cannot support.
- 08 Leena: It states her current position, not an offer timetable. Any ⁴ _____ would be handled under the published procedure. I can send that procedure so you can see how the list operates.
- 09 Mr. Ortiz: I also noticed a review option. Can I ask for the lottery to be run again because we are disappointed with the result?
- 10 Leena: The local review examines a claimed ⁵ _____. It is not a second lottery. If you believe a fact in your daughter's decision record is wrong, identify it and provide supporting material.

- 13 Mr. Ortiz: If I identify an incorrect fact, should I send a whole new application, or just explain the issue and attach the relevant evidence?
- 14 Leena: Identify the disputed fact and attach the relevant ⁷ _____. The review team needs a clear account of the issue. A new application is not what this procedure asks for.
- 15 Mr. Ortiz: Will receiving my request mean that you agree an error occurred? I would like the acknowledgment to be clear about what has actually happened.
- 16 Leena: An ⁸ _____ confirms receipt, not the outcome. The review team still needs to examine the identified fact. I cannot promise that the result will change.
- 17 Mr. Ortiz: Thank you. I had also assumed the placement discussion would happen now, but perhaps that is a different stage from this application review.
- 18 Leena: Yes. ⁹ _____ concerns the class or setting, rather than whether a place has been offered. We should keep those stages separate while the admissions position remains unchanged.
- 19 Mr. Ortiz: Please send the procedure, the permitted record information, and confirmation that she remains fourth. I will check for any factual error before deciding about review.
- 20 Leena: I will include the relevant ¹⁰ _____ details. Your daughter met the entry criteria; the lottery did not select her; and no vacancy is currently confirmed. Those are the facts we can rely on.

A topic list is not a learning outcome

A Read the situation

Align a measurable learning outcome with classroom preparation, assessment evidence, and a shared scoring rule.

Curriculum coordinator Pavel and teacher Nia review a draft course before teaching begins. Its topic list includes media literacy, but the proposed quiz asks only for definitions. The agreed intended outcome is to compare two supplied sources and justify which is more reliable using authorship and supporting evidence. The draft lessons currently practice only recalling terms. The team can revise the lessons and assessment before approval. They need source-comparison practice and a task scored on both named criteria, not a claim that remembering definitions demonstrates evaluation.

PEOPLE / Pavel: Curriculum coordinator | Nia: Teacher

CHALLENGE ALIGNMENT, NOT A COLLEAGUE'S COMPETENCE

A familiar quiz may be well written but measure the wrong performance. State the intended learner action and show the mismatch. This makes revision a shared design problem, not a personal judgment about a teacher or an argument against all factual knowledge.

Briefing checks

Circle one answer in each item. Use the briefing.

1. What must learners demonstrate in the intended outcome?

- | | |
|---|---|
| A Recite every definition from the glossary. | B Choose whichever source is longer. |
| C Express an unsupported preference. | D Compare two sources and justify reliability using authorship and evidence. |

2. What does the proposed quiz currently assess?

- | | |
|---|--|
| A Recall of definitions | B A supported comparison of two sources |
| C Implementation of a revised curriculum | D Agreement between graders |

3. When can the team make the proposed changes?

- 01 Pavel: The draft curriculum lists media literacy, and the quiz is ready. Before we approve it, can we state what learners must actually do with the material?
- 02 Nia: The intended ¹ _____ is to compare two supplied sources and justify which is more reliable using authorship and supporting evidence. That is more specific than covering the topic.
- 03 Pavel: At the moment the quiz asks for definitions of reliability, evidence, and author. Those questions are clear, but do they show the performance we agreed?
- 04 Nia: They show ² _____, not the complete comparison. A learner could reproduce every definition without applying either criterion to the sources. We need a different final task.
- 05 Pavel: I agree, although I do not want colleagues to think we are dismissing factual knowledge. Learners still need the terms before they can discuss the sources.
- 06 Nia: Certainly. The issue is ³ _____, not whether definitions matter. The outcome, classroom practice, and assessment should reinforce the same performance, with vocabulary serving that performance rather than replacing it.
- 07 Pavel: Our lessons practice definitions too. Changing only the final assessment would confront learners with a comparison task they had not practiced.
- 08 Nia: Add a guided ⁴ _____ with two sources. We can model how authorship and supporting evidence affect the judgment, then gradually reduce the support before the assessed task.
- 09 Pavel: For the final task, I suggest supplying both sources and asking for a choice with reasons under the two named headings. That keeps the evidence focused.
- 10 Nia: Yes. Each ⁵ _____ should be visible in the task and the scoring guidance. We should not reward a long response that never evaluates either source.

- 11 Pavel: Some teachers suggest one overall mark for sounding persuasive. That seems hard to explain consistently without mentioning the two required criteria.
- 12 Nia: A shared ⁶ _____ should describe how well the learner uses authorship information and supporting evidence. Persuasive wording alone cannot substitute for an accurate, supported comparison.
- 13 Pavel: We also need a concrete description of an adequate answer. Otherwise the same word, sufficient, could mean something different to every teacher.
- 14 Nia: Write a clear ⁷ _____ for each level. It should distinguish naming a feature from explaining why that feature strengthens or weakens a source for this purpose.
- 15 Pavel: Could we use a sample response during teaching? Students might understand the distinction more quickly if they could see how a reason connects to a judgment.
- 16 Nia: An ⁸ _____ would help. We can identify the evidence supporting its conclusion, rather than asking students to copy its wording or assume there is only one acceptable sentence.
- 17 Pavel: This is still a draft, so we can revise before teaching starts. I will check that the lesson sequence, task instructions, and scoring guidance all match.
- 18 Nia: Update the ⁹ _____ as well. That will show where learners practice the comparison and where they demonstrate it, instead of leaving the revised quiz disconnected from the plan.
- 19 Pavel: Our approval summary will say that learners compare two supplied sources, apply both criteria, and justify the stronger source. Definitions remain supporting knowledge, not the final evidence.
- 20 Nia: That captures the required ¹⁰ _____. We will approve the revised design only after the practice and scoring materials are ready, so students receive a coherent learning experience from the start.

A Read the situation

Student-support coordinator Mina and attendance lead Theo review a learner who arrived late on four of the last ten school days. An earlier plan proposed ten morning check-ins over two weeks. 1. Which sentence accurately summarizes implementation?

- A "Exactly eight check-ins definitely did not occur."
- B "The learner refused eight check-ins."
- C "Two check-ins are documented; eight have no delivery record."
- D "All ten check-ins definitely occurred."

2. Which question is most useful before evaluating effectiveness?

- A Can the missing records be counted as completed?
- B Should the target be removed from the report?
- C Was the planned support delivered as intended?
- D Is the learner inherently unreliable?

3. What should the new record track?

- A Only the existence of a written plan
- B Only staff impressions of motivation
- C A target with no observations
- D Both check-in delivery and late arrivals during the same ten-day period

4. If the next period has one late arrival, what is supported?

- A The local numerical target was met for that ten-day period.
- B The intervention certainly caused the change.
- C All future lateness has been eliminated.
- D The earlier records were complete.

- 01 Theo: We have four late arrivals in ten school days. Someone suggested closing the morning check-in plan as an intervention that failed.
- 02 Mina: First separate the ¹ _____ from the delivery evidence. Four late arrivals describe the attendance period. They do not show whether the planned support occurred or why the learner arrived late.
- 03 Theo: The plan proposed ten contacts over two weeks. The recovered log records only two completed check-ins.
- 04 Mina: Then our ² _____ is incomplete. We can confirm two documented contacts, but the other eight are unverified. Missing entries do not prove either that the contacts happened or that they did not.
- 05 Theo: Then saying ten check-ins made no difference goes beyond the record. It assumes full delivery before judging the result.
- 06 Mina: Exactly. We need to establish ³ _____ before describing a fully delivered intervention as ineffective. Otherwise a gap in delivery or documentation could be mistaken for evidence that the support approach cannot work.
- 07 Theo: Colleagues suspect transport, but neither the learner nor the guardian has confirmed a cause.
- 08 Mina: Record it as a possible ⁴ _____, not a finding. Ask for the learner's account and the guardian's input. We should not replace their experience with a convenient explanation that nobody has verified.
- 09 Theo: For the next period, can we state the support frequency and who records each contact? The old document named a general team rather than a coordinator.
- 10 Mina: I will act as ⁵ _____. I will coordinate the new ten-day record and confirm the reported barriers. The record should identify each scheduled contact, its delivery status, and relevant follow-up.

- 11 Theo: We also need an outcome we can check. The proposed local target is no more than one late arrival during the next ten school days.
- 12 Mina: That is a ⁶ _____ with a defined period. Zero or one would meet it; two would not. We should keep that distinction clear without treating the count as a judgment of character.
- 13 Theo: I will keep late arrivals separate from full-day absences. Combining them would change the measure and mislead the comparison.
- 14 Mina: Use the same definitions for ⁷ _____. Track the next ten school days, alongside support delivery. A count without the observation period would be difficult to compare fairly with the current record.
- 15 Theo: At the review, should we first check whether the planned contacts occurred and then look at attendance? That would keep delivery and outcome from being confused.
- 16 Mina: Yes. Review ⁸ _____ and the attendance measure separately, then discuss them together. We need to know what was delivered before deciding whether to continue, adjust, or seek additional support.
- 17 Theo: If late arrivals fall from four to one, we can say the target was met. But other changes might have contributed, so causation would still be uncertain.
- 18 Mina: Correct. That would be useful ⁹ _____, not proof that check-ins alone caused the improvement. We can report progress honestly while remaining open to the learner's explanation of what helped.
- 19 Theo: I will correct the meeting note: two contacts documented, eight unverified, cause of lateness not established, new ten-day monitoring coordinated by you.
- 20 Mina: Add the ¹⁰ _____ at the end of that period. The next discussion should have a clear delivery record, comparable attendance information, and the learner's and guardian's accounts available.

Repair a message that sounded accusatory

A Read the situation

Acknowledge the effect of a message, correct unsupported wording, and arrange a clear, accessible meeting.

Administrator Rosa sent an authorized guardian, Ms. Lin, an email saying the family had failed to prioritize punctuality. The verified attendance record shows three late arrivals in the last five school days, but no cause is established. Ms. Lin says the wording was accusatory and reports a bus delay. Rosa must correct the unsupported inference, retain the accurate attendance facts, and offer a meeting on Tuesday at 08:45. An interpreter can be requested; availability and the guardian's preferred language still need confirmation. The meeting is to understand barriers and agree support, not announce a predetermined penalty.

PEOPLE / Rosa: School administrator | Ms. Lin: Authorized guardian

ACKNOWLEDGE IMPACT BEFORE EXPLAINING INTENTION

Explaining that an email was well intended can sound like refusing to hear a concern. Acknowledge the wording, correct the unsupported inference, and keep the verified facts. Then move to a concrete meeting invitation that the guardian can accept, adjust, or clarify.

- A The five-school-day observation period
- C The claim that the family failed to prioritize punctuality

- B The proposed Tuesday meeting time
- D The count of three late arrivals

2. How should the bus issue be described now?

- A A verified cause of all late arrivals
- C A reason to erase the attendance record

- B Proof that the school made no error
- D A delay reported by the guardian

3. What needs confirmation for language support?

- A A penalty before the meeting
- C The preferred language and interpreter availability

- B That translation is never necessary
- D Another family's language preference

The same paper, two different rubric readings

A Read the situation

Resolve scoring disagreements through shared criteria and evidence rather than averaging incompatible judgments.

Department lead Erin and teacher Sam compare scores for the same anonymized student paper. The published rubric has three criteria, each scored from zero to four, for a maximum of twelve. Erin awarded ten and Sam seven. For the evidence criterion, the level-three descriptor requires two relevant examples with an explanation of how each supports the claim. The paper supplies both, but Sam reduced that criterion because the response was short. Length is not a criterion. They must calibrate the rubric, review affected work, and explain any corrected scores under the institution's process.

A route-planning task does not need an entire file

A Read the situation

Clarify purpose, authorized access, and minimum task-relevant records without treating job title as blanket permission.

06

Transport coordinator Dana asks records officer Yusuf for complete student files to update pickup assignments. The task requires student IDs and assigned pickup stops only; counseling notes, disciplinary history, and health information are not needed for this task. The fictional institution requires the records owner to approve the fields, recipients, and access period before release. That approval is pending. Yusuf can prepare a two-field roster for review but cannot release it yet. An old shared folder still grants broad access and must be referred for access review, not assumed safe because it is internal.

PEOPLE / Dana: Transport coordinator | Yusuf: Records officer

EXPLAIN THE USEFUL ALTERNATIVE

A privacy boundary is easier to understand when paired with a route to completing the work. State the task-relevant fields and the approval still required. Avoid implying that a colleague is untrustworthy merely because the request was broader than necessary.

Briefing checks

Circle one answer in each item. Use the briefing.

1. Which fields are needed for the stated task?

- A All records because the recipient is a colleague
- C Complete counseling and disciplinary records

- B Student IDs and assigned pickup stops
- D Every health note

2. What is the current release status?

- A A job title grants unrestricted access.
- C The narrow roster is automatically approved.

- B Approval is pending, so no roster may be released yet.
- D The old folder replaces approval.

3. What should happen to the old broad-access folder?

- A Refer its access for review.
- C Add more sensitive files immediately.

- B Assume it is safe because it is internal.
- D Delete all institutional records without authorization.

- 07 Dana: Then I should name the people who will use the list, not just request access for the whole transport team in case someone needs it.
- 08 Yusuf: Correct. Each ⁴ _____ must be within the approved scope. We should not expand the audience for hypothetical future work that has not been assessed or authorized.
- 09 Dana: The task is a pickup update, not a welfare or discipline review. I will state that purpose in the request.

- 13 Dana: I will include the proposed access period. Once that ends, should the source records be deleted, or does the period refer only to our access?
- 14 Yusuf: It concerns access. The ⁷ _____ determines how records are kept under the applicable rules. Do not turn an access end date into an unauthorized instruction to destroy source records.
- 15 Dana: The old folder still contains more information than this task needs. Should I assume someone approved that earlier and continue using it until the new list arrives?
- 16 Yusuf: Refer it for an ⁸ _____. Existing permissions may be too broad or outdated. We need that issue examined rather than using it to bypass the pending approval for this request.
- 17 Dana: After approval, I can use the approved channel and avoid sending the roster to colleagues who are not included. Is that the right boundary?
- 18 Yusuf: Yes, including restrictions on ⁹ _____. Authorization to receive the list does not automatically authorize further distribution. Keep the approved audience and purpose attached to the information when you use it.
- 19 Dana: I will submit the two fields, named recipients, and proposed period. Please prepare the roster for review, but hold release until the decision is recorded.
- 20 Yusuf: That is the correct ¹⁰ _____ sequence. I will also refer the broad folder permissions for review. We can support the route update without treating convenience as permission for a complete student file.

Three completed actions are not a closed review

A Read the situation

Report action status, ownership, and evidence without confusing completion with effectiveness or accreditation approval.

Quality coordinator Amara and program director Hugh prepare a fictional internal review due on October 15. Its action plan has five actions. Actions 1, 2, and 3 have approved completion evidence. Action 4 is underway, with an assigned owner and an October 10 deadline. Action 5 has no assigned owner and no completion evidence. No outcome evaluation has yet established whether the completed actions improved learning. The team must report three of five actions complete, seek an owner and deadline for Action 5, and avoid presenting the internal review as an accreditation decision.

A CANDID STATUS REPORT SUPPORTS CREDIBLE REVIEW

2. Which action lacks an owner?

- A All five actions
- C Action 4

- B Action 5
- D Action 3

3. What remains unestablished about the completed actions?

One more class still leaves four learners waiting

A Read the situation

Compare staffing options using capacity, full cost, displaced work, and authorization status.

Operations manager Kiran and principal Elise consider one extra class for a waiting list of 24 learners. The class cap is 20, so one class would leave four learners waiting. Option A reallocates an existing qualified teacher for four weekly teaching hours, removing four weekly tutoring hours; it has no additional direct staffing charge. Option B uses confirmed available, qualified temporary support at an all-inclusive cost of $4,800 against an uncommitted $5,000 budget, preserving tutoring. D Check your understanding

Circle one best answer for each item. Use the stated purpose and case facts, not the option that merely sounds most polite.

1. What is the budget headroom under Option B?

- A $5,000
- B $9,800
- C $200
- D $4,800

2. Which description of Option A is most accurate?

- A No cost or service consequence of any kind.
- B It preserves all tutoring and costs $4,800.
- C It creates twenty-four places.
- D No additional direct charge, but four weekly tutoring hours are displaced.

3. Which recommendation is best supported?

- A Promise all waiting learners immediate places.
- B Approve spending solely because it fits the budget.
- C Describe Option A as identical to Option B.
- D Recommend Option B to preserve tutoring, subject to approval, while acknowledging four learners still waiting.

4. What is still required before a staffing commitment?

- A Deleting the tutoring impact
- B Funding approval
- C Recalculating twenty-four minus twenty as zero
- D Assuming a room conflict despite confirmed feasibility

- 01 Elise: Twenty-four learners are waiting. The proposal for one additional class needs to explain staffing and remaining demand clearly.
- 02 Kiran: The ¹ _____ is twenty. One class adds twenty places and leaves four learners waiting. Neither staffing option changes that limit, so we should not describe either as clearing the list.
- 03 Elise: Option A uses an existing qualified teacher for four hours each week. There is no additional direct staffing charge, which makes it look attractive.
- 04 Kiran: But the ² _____ removes four weekly tutoring hours. The teacher's time is not an unused resource. The proposal needs to show what is displaced, not just the absence of a new invoice.
- 05 Elise: Our priority is preserving tutoring while adding places. What is the full cost of temporary support?
- 06 Kiran: Its ³ _____ is four thousand eight hundred dollars. The person is qualified and available, and both options meet the room and timetable requirements. Those readiness checks are confirmed.
- 07 Elise: We have five thousand uncommitted dollars. Please state the remaining amount, rather than saying the cost is approximately within budget.
- 08 Kiran: The ⁴ _____ is two hundred dollars. Five thousand minus four thousand eight hundred leaves that amount. The option fits the supplied budget, although fitting it does not authorize spending.
- 09 Elise: Good. Funding approval is still pending. We should not tell the temporary teacher that the appointment is confirmed while the decision is unresolved.
- 10 Kiran: Exactly. ⁵ _____ remains a decision condition. We can recommend the option and describe readiness, but we must keep the appointment unconfirmed until the authorized decision is made.

E Conversations / turns 11-20

Continue with the word bank on page 73.

- 11 Elise: How should we explain Option A fairly? I do not want colleagues to think that no new charge means we are hiding an unquantified financial bill.
- 12 Kiran: State the ⁶ _____ in its own terms: four tutoring hours are lost each week. The brief does not price that loss. We should neither ignore it nor invent a dollar equivalent.
- 13 Elise: Then Option B meets the tutoring priority more closely, while Option A reduces that service. Both add the same twenty places and fit the practical timetable.
- 14 Kiran: That supports the ⁷ _____ for Option B. The recommendation follows the supplied priority and facts, not a general claim that temporary staffing is always better than using existing staff.
- 15 Elise: We also need a separate statement about the four learners who remain waiting. Approving this class does not decide what happens to them next.
- 16 Kiran: Keep that ⁸ _____ visible. The proposal adds capacity without resolving every request. Any further provision would need its own feasible plan and authorization rather than being implied by this decision.
- 17 Elise: The final paragraph should ask for the exact approval needed, state the full cost, and make clear that tutoring is preserved under the recommended option.
- 18 Kiran: I will connect it to the ⁹ _____ and record the two hundred dollars remaining. We should also state the capacity limit so the budget decision is not confused with a promise to all families.
- 19 Elise: Please request approval. Do not confirm the appointment or change tutoring while the decision is pending.
- 20 Kiran: I will state those ¹⁰ _____ explicitly. The recommended class can add twenty places and preserve tutoring for four thousand eight hundred dollars, subject to approval, with four learners still waiting.

01 Briefing and language checks

Enrollment, Admissions, and Placement

A Briefing checks / page 4

1. Why was an offer not made?

D. The eligible applicant was not selected in the capacity-limited lottery.

The brief confirms eligibility but states that the lottery did not select the applicant.

2. What is the current waiting-list position?

A. Fourth

The child's supplied waiting-list position is fourth, not the total number of applicants.

3. What does the local review procedure examine?

D. A claimed factual error in the application decision

The fictional procedure provides a factual-error review, not an automatic second allocation.

D Language checks / page 9

1. Which response best corrects a misunderstanding about eligibility?

C. "Your child was eligible; the capacity-limited lottery determined the offer."

This response separates the confirmed entry conditions from the subsequent allocation decision.

2. Which request can Leena address within the supplied scope?

C. Explain the child's own decision record.

The permitted scope includes this family's record but excludes other applicants' information.

3. Which statement about the review is accurate?

C. It examines a claimed factual error under the local procedure.

The stated procedure defines review by factual error and promises no new allocation.

4. What should Leena say about timing?

A. "No vacancy is confirmed, so I cannot give an offer date."

Waiting-list position alone supplies neither a confirmed vacancy nor a reliable offer date.

01 Conversation answers

Enrollment, Admissions, and Placement

E Dialogue gaps

Pages 10-11

- 1. eligibility. Turn 2. Eligibility confirms that the child met the entry criteria, even though the later allocation did not produce an offer.
- 2. lottery. Turn 4. The lottery, rather than a comparative judgment of merit, was the supplied allocation method among eligible applicants.
- 3. waiting list. Turn 6. The waiting list records the applicant's current position for possible vacancies, not a confirmed future offer.
- 4. vacancy. Turn 8. A vacancy is an actual available place; the supplied case confirms none at present.
- 5. factual error. Turn 10. A factual error concerns an incorrect fact or record, which is the stated scope of this review process.
- 6. review window. Turn 12. The review window is the locally specified period for requesting review, here five school days from the notice.
- 7. supporting document. Turn 14. The supporting document substantiates the particular claimed error rather than reopening every aspect of the application.
- 8. acknowledgment. Turn 16. An acknowledgment confirms receipt; it does not establish that the review has accepted the claim or changed the outcome.
- 9. Placement. Turn 18. Placement assigns a learner to a class or setting and is distinct from eligibility and the offer decision.
- 10. decision notice. Turn 20. The decision notice anchors the outcome and review timing, helping the family connect the instructions to the correct case.

Page 12

1. entry criteria

Officer: "The applicant met the entry criteria."

The brief explicitly confirms eligibility, meaning the entry conditions were met.

2. second

Guardian: "The current waiting-list position is second."

The supplied position is second, not a prediction of waiting time.

3. factual error

Officer: "The review concerns a claimed factual error."

The fictional procedure limits review to a disputed fact or record.

4. not confirmed

Guardian: "A future offer is not confirmed."

No vacancy is confirmed, so a future place cannot be promised.

Curriculum Planning and Learning Outcomes

1. What must learners demonstrate in the intended outcome?

D. Compare two sources and justify reliability using authorship and evidence.

The agreed outcome explicitly requires comparison and justification using two named criteria.

2. What does the proposed quiz currently assess?

A. Recall of definitions

The supplied quiz asks for definitions rather than the intended comparative judgment.

3. When can the team make the proposed changes?

C. Before teaching begins and before draft approval

The brief places the course in a draft stage before instruction and approval.

D Language checks / page 18

1. Which assessment matches the intended outcome?

D. Compare the supplied sources using authorship and evidence, then justify the stronger source.

The first task directly elicits comparison and justification against both required criteria.

2. Which instructional change is needed?

D. Add guided source comparisons before the final assessment.

Learners need preparation in the performance that the intended assessment will require.

3. Which proposed scoring feature is unsupported?

A. Awarding marks only for response length

Length alone is not one of the agreed criteria and does not establish sound evaluation.

4. Which statement preserves an appropriate role for definitions?

B. Definitions can support comparison but are insufficient evidence of the complete outcome.

Factual knowledge can enable higher-level work without demonstrating that the work occurred.

02 Conversation answers

Curriculum Planning and Learning Outcomes

E Dialogue gaps

Pages 19-20

1. learning outcome. Turn 2. The learning outcome specifies the observable source-comparison performance, rather than merely naming the media-literacy topic.

2. recall. Turn 4. Recall demonstrates retrieval of definitions, which is useful but does not itself demonstrate comparative evaluation.

3. alignment. Turn 6. Alignment requires the outcome, instructional practice, and assessment to support the same intended learner performance.

4. practice task. Turn 8. A practice task prepares learners for the comparison and justification they will later need to demonstrate independently.

5. assessment criterion. Turn 10. An assessment criterion identifies a dimension of performance to judge, here authorship or supporting evidence.

6. rubric. Turn 12. The rubric describes performance against the required criteria, providing a clearer basis for consistent scoring than an undefined impression.

7. descriptor. Turn 14. A descriptor explains a performance level so teachers do not rely on different unstated interpretations of quality.

8. exemplar. Turn 16. An exemplar makes the expected performance visible and supports discussion of how criteria are applied.

9. curriculum map. Turn 18. The curriculum map records the links between outcomes, teaching experiences, and assessment so the revision remains traceable.

10. evaluation. Turn 20. Evaluation is the supported judgment against criteria; it is more than recalling terms or selecting a source without reasons.

F Transfer conversation

Page 21

1. recall

Coordinator: "The quiz currently tests recall."

Asking for definitions measures retrieval rather than the required classification with reasons.

2. classification

Teacher: "The revised task must include classification."

The stated outcome requires sorting each supplied expense into a category.

3. explanation

Coordinator: "Each choice also needs an explanation."

The outcome requires reasons for classifications, not only category labels.

4. teaching begins

Teacher: "We should revise practice and assessment before teaching begins."

The course is still a draft, allowing alignment before students encounter instruction.

03 Briefing and language checks

Student Support and Intervention

A Briefing checks / page 22

1. What does the attendance record show?

C. Four late arrivals in ten school days

The record identifies late arrivals, not absences, completed support, or their cause.

2. How much check-in delivery is documented?

B. Two of ten planned check-ins

Two are documented; missing records for eight do not prove either delivery or non-delivery.

3. What conclusion is premature?

C. The fully delivered intervention failed.

The evidence does not establish full delivery, so it cannot support that specific failure claim.

D Language checks / page 27

1. Which sentence accurately summarizes implementation?

C. "Two check-ins are documented; eight have no delivery record."

The available log supports two contacts and leaves the remaining delivery unverified.

2. Which question is most useful before evaluating effectiveness?

C. Was the planned support delivered as intended?

Effectiveness cannot be fairly attributed to a fully delivered plan without establishing its implementation.

3. What should the new record track?

D. Both check-in delivery and late arrivals during the same ten-day period

Recording delivery and outcomes together makes the implementation and progress review more informative.

4. If the next period has one late arrival, what is supported?

A. The local numerical target was met for that ten-day period.

One late arrival meets the stated target but does not prove causation or permanent change.

E Dialogue gaps

Pages 28-29

- 1. baseline. Turn 2. The baseline is the starting attendance measure, here four late arrivals in ten school days, not an explanation of their cause.
- 2. delivery log. Turn 4. The delivery log documents two check-ins while leaving the other eight without evidence of delivery.
- 3. implementation. Turn 6. Implementation concerns whether the planned support was actually put into practice before its effectiveness is assessed.
- 4. barrier. Turn 8. A barrier is a possible obstacle to attendance that needs clarification, not an established cause merely because staff suspect it.
- 5. case coordinator. Turn 10. The case coordinator organizes the support actions and record, making responsibility clear rather than leaving it with an undefined group.
- 6. measurable target. Turn 12. A measurable target states a checkable outcome, here zero or one late arrival during a defined ten-day period.
- 7. progress monitoring. Turn 14. Progress monitoring requires repeated, comparable observations so the team can assess change over the planned period.
- 8. implementation fidelity. Turn 16. Implementation fidelity asks how closely actual delivery matched the agreed plan, separately from the learner's observed outcome.
- 9. outcome evidence. Turn 18. Outcome evidence records the observed result but does not alone establish which action caused it.
- 10. review point. Turn 20. The review point sets when the team will examine the new delivery and attendance evidence rather than leaving the plan open-ended.

F Transfer conversation

1. four

Coordinator: "Documented check-ins total four."

The delivery log confirms four contacts, not all six scheduled contacts.

2. unverified

Teacher: "Delivery of the other two is unverified."

The missing records establish uncertainty, not definite delivery or non-delivery.

3. met

Coordinator: "The numerical attendance target was met."

One late arrival is within the stated limit of no more than one.

4. causation

Teacher: "The result alone does not prove causation."

The observed change does not isolate support from other possible contributing factors.

A Briefing checks / page 31

1. Which part of the email is unsupported?

C. The claim that the family failed to prioritize punctuality

The attendance facts do not establish the family's priorities or motivation.

2. How should the bus issue be described now?

D. A delay reported by the guardian

The guardian reports a delay, but the brief does not establish it as a verified cause.

3. What needs confirmation for language support?

C. The preferred language and interpreter availability

The brief explicitly leaves both the language preference and interpreter availability unconfirmed.

1. Which opening best repairs the email?

C. "I should not have inferred your family's priorities from the attendance record."

The opening takes responsibility for the unsupported inference without denying accurate facts.

2. Which sentence preserves attribution?

C. "You have reported a bus delay; we need to understand its effect."

It identifies the guardian as the source and does not overstate what has been verified.

3. Which meeting message is accurate?

C. "Tuesday at 08:45 is proposed; please confirm whether it works."

The stated time is an offer requiring confirmation, not an established arrangement.

4. What should the follow-up summary contain?

B. Actions actually agreed and any arrangements still awaiting confirmation

A useful summary separates genuine agreements from unresolved arrangements and unsupported assumptions.

04 Conversation answers

Parent and Guardian Communication

E Dialogue gaps

Pages 37-38

- 1. tone. Turn 2. Tone concerns the attitude conveyed by the email, which here implied blame unsupported by the attendance record.
- 2. reported concern. Turn 4. A reported concern preserves the guardian's account while avoiding an unsupported claim that the cause has been independently established.
- 3. inference. Turn 6. The inference concerns the family's priorities, a conclusion that does not follow from the attendance count alone.
- 4. agenda. Turn 8. The agenda is to understand barriers and agree support, not to announce a predetermined penalty.
- 5. availability. Turn 10. Availability concerns whether the guardian can attend the proposed time, which has not yet been confirmed.
- 6. preferred language. Turn 12. The preferred language must be established before an appropriate interpreter request can be arranged.
- 7. meeting invitation. Turn 14. The meeting invitation records the proposed time, purpose, and unresolved arrangements so the guardian can respond accurately.
- 8. two-way communication. Turn 16. Two-way communication gives the guardian a genuine opportunity to contribute rather than treating the meeting as a one-sided announcement.
- 9. follow-up summary. Turn 18. A follow-up summary records actual agreements and unresolved points without inventing consent or completion.
- 10. correction. Turn 20. The correction removes the unsupported claim about priorities while preserving the verified attendance facts and next steps.

1. inference

Administrator: "The claim about your interest was an unsupported inference."

Missed appointments alone do not establish the guardian's interest or motivation.

2. reported explanation

The account is attributed to the guardian rather than described as independently verified.

3. facts

Administrator: "The two missed appointments remain recorded facts."

Correcting the unsupported judgment does not erase the verified appointment record.

4. awaiting confirmation

Guardian: "The new arrangements are still awaiting confirmation."

Neither the meeting nor interpreter request has yet been confirmed in the brief.

Faculty Coordination and Evaluation

A Briefing checks / page 40

1. What is the maximum rubric total?

C. Twelve

Three criteria scored up to four each produce a maximum total of twelve.

2. What caused the identified disagreement?

A. Sam used response length although it is not a rubric criterion.

The brief identifies an unsupported length penalty on the same student paper.

3. What does the evidence descriptor require?

A. Two relevant examples and explanation of how each supports the claim

The supplied level-three descriptor specifies relevant examples with their connection to the claim.

D Language checks / page 45

1. Which evidence supports level three on the evidence criterion?

B. Two relevant examples, each explained in relation to the claim

The paper meets the two explicit elements in the supplied level-three descriptor.

2. Why is simply averaging ten and seven inadequate?

B. It leaves the unsupported length penalty and interpretation unresolved.

Averaging produces a number without correcting the identified misuse of the scoring standard.

3. What final total can be inferred now?

D. No corrected total is established for all three criteria.

The brief resolves evidence for one criterion but supplies no complete corrected criterion-level total.

4. Which wider action is appropriate?

D. Review other work affected by the same length interpretation.

The same unsupported interpretation may affect other work and should be checked under the established process.

- 1. criterion. Turn 2. A criterion identifies the dimension being judged, so the discussion must locate the disagreement rather than compare totals alone.
- 2. descriptor. Turn 4. The descriptor specifies the requirements for a performance level, here two relevant examples and an explanation connecting each to the claim.
- 3. rationale. Turn 6. The rationale must connect the judgment to the supplied descriptor and work, not to an unstated preference for longer answers.
- 4. scoring discrepancy. Turn 8. The scoring discrepancy arises from incompatible interpretations, which an average would conceal rather than resolve.
- 5. anchor paper. Turn 10. An anchor paper is a shared reference sample that helps teachers apply a scoring level consistently.
- 6. score adjustment. Turn 12. A score adjustment must follow a complete relevant review; resolving one criterion does not establish the final total.
- 7. affected cohort. Turn 14. The affected cohort consists of work potentially influenced by the same interpretation and needing review, not automatic score increases.
- 8. feedback comment. Turn 16. A feedback comment should explain performance against the actual criterion so learners are not directed toward an unstated requirement.
- 9. audit trail. Turn 18. An audit trail records what changed and why, supporting transparent review rather than silently replacing marks.
- 10. calibration. Turn 20. Calibration develops a shared application of the existing standard rather than adding an undisclosed new grading rule.

3. unresolved

Lead: "The final corrected total remains unresolved."

The second criterion is not yet reviewed, so the total cannot be inferred.

Possible use of the same unsupported penalty requires examination, not automatic identical changes.

1. Which fields are needed for the stated task?

B. Student IDs and assigned pickup stops

The brief limits route-assignment needs to two specified fields.

2. What is the current release status?

B. Approval is pending, so no roster may be released yet.

The fictional local rule requires approval before release, and that approval is pending.

3. What should happen to the old broad-access folder?

A. Refer its access for review.

Broad existing access needs review rather than being treated as proof of appropriate authorization.

D Language checks / page 54

1. Which response best supports the transport task?

B. Prepare the ID-and-stop roster for owner review without releasing it.

The limited roster addresses the task while respecting the pending release authorization.

2. Why is the old folder not sufficient authority?

A. Existing access may be broader than the approved task requires.

Current permissions must be reviewed against purpose and authorization rather than assumed appropriate.

3. What must be approved under this fictional procedure?

B. Fields, recipients, and access period

The brief explicitly identifies these three approval elements before release.

4. Which statement about access expiry is accurate?

D. It does not by itself determine record retention or deletion.

The period of permitted access and the record-retention schedule address different decisions.

1. access scope. Turn 2. Access scope identifies the information and actions actually needed, instead of treating an existing folder as permission for every record.

2. roster. Turn 4. The roster is the limited list of student IDs and pickup stops that supports the stated task.

3. records owner. Turn 6. The records owner is the designated authority for approving the fields, recipients, and access period under the fictional procedure.

4. authorized recipient. Turn 8. An authorized recipient is approved for the specified information and purpose, rather than included through an indefinite team-wide request.

5. purpose limitation. Turn 10. Purpose limitation keeps use tied to the authorized pickup task instead of allowing unrelated uses of the same information.

6. student identifier. Turn 12. A student identifier can link the roster to a particular learner and is not automatically anonymous merely because it is not a name.

7. retention schedule. Turn 14. The retention schedule governs how long records are kept, a different question from how long a recipient may access them.

8. access review. Turn 16. An access review checks whether existing permissions remain appropriate; their existence alone is not proof of authorization for this use.

9. redisclosure. Turn 18. Redisclosure is further sharing by a recipient and must remain within the applicable approved conditions.

10. release authorization. Turn 20. Release authorization is the required approval still needed before the prepared roster can be disclosed.

1. What share of actions is complete?

A. Three of five, or 60%

Three actions have approved completion evidence out of five total actions.

2. Which action lacks an owner?

B. Action 5

The brief identifies Action 5 as unassigned while Action 4 has an owner.

3. What remains unestablished about the completed actions?

D. Whether they improved learning outcomes

Completion is documented, but the brief states that outcome effectiveness has not been established.

D Language checks / page 63

1. Which headline accurately reports progress?

D. "Three actions complete; one underway; one unassigned."

The first statement preserves all three status categories supplied in the brief.

2. What should the director decide about Action 5?

D. Assign an owner and deadline, without falsely marking it complete.

The missing ownership and timing need a decision, while completion remains unsupported.

3. Which evidence would address effectiveness rather than mere completion?

B. A suitable evaluation of whether the actions improved the intended outcomes

Effectiveness concerns the intended result, which requires appropriate outcome evidence rather than presentation or scheduling.

4. What does the October 15 date represent?

B. The internal review submission deadline

The brief assigns October 15 to internal submission, not external recognition or outcome proof.

1. status report. Turn 2. The status report should distinguish completed, underway, and unassigned work rather than hide the differences behind a vague label.

2. completion evidence. Turn 4. Completion evidence is required before an action is counted as finished; having an owner and starting work are insufficient.

3. underway. Turn 6. Underway means started but not complete, preserving the distinction between progress and verified closure.

4. action owner. Turn 8. The action owner supplies accountability for progressing the task; assigning one does not itself complete the action.

5. evidence register. Turn 10. The evidence register connects each completion claim with its supporting record so reviewers can verify the stated status.

6. effectiveness. Turn 12. Effectiveness concerns whether intended results were achieved, which has not been established by the supplied completion evidence.

7. outcome measure. Turn 14. The outcome measure should address the result sought, rather than substitute a convenient count of revised documents.

8. evidence gap. Turn 16. The evidence gap concerns missing support for outcome effectiveness as well as the unfinished action, and should remain visible.

9. decision authority. Turn 18. The decision authority for accreditation is distinct from the team preparing an internal progress report.

3. unassigned

1. How many learners would remain waiting after one extra class?

B. Four

The waiting list has twenty-four learners, while the extra class has only twenty places.

2. What does Option A displace?

C. Four weekly tutoring hours

The existing teacher's four teaching hours replace four weekly tutoring hours.

3. Which option matches the stated priority within the supplied budget?

C. Option B, subject to funding approval

Option B preserves tutoring and fits the budget, but approval remains pending.

D Language checks / page 72

The option's financial charge is zero while its supplied service trade-off is real.

3. Which recommendation is best supported?

D. Recommend Option B to preserve tutoring, subject to approval, while acknowledging four learners still waiting.

This recommendation follows the stated priority, budget, approval boundary, and remaining capacity gap.

- 2. reallocation. Turn 4. Reallocation moves existing staff time from tutoring to the new class, creating a service loss as well as extra teaching capacity.
- 3. all-inclusive cost. Turn 6. The supplied all-inclusive cost is four thousand eight hundred dollars, not an hourly rate or an incomplete estimate.
- 4. budget headroom. Turn 8. Budget headroom is the two hundred dollars remaining after subtracting the stated cost from the uncommitted budget.
- 5. Funding approval. Turn 10. Funding approval is the authorization still needed before a commitment, separate from available funds and operational readiness.
- 6. service trade-off. Turn 12. The service trade-off is the loss of four weekly tutoring hours; the brief does not assign that loss a dollar value.
- 7. staffing business case. Turn 14. The staffing business case connects the recommendation to cost, capacity, feasibility, and the stated institutional priority.
- 8. unmet demand. Turn 16. Unmet demand is the remaining need not covered by the new class, here four learners still awaiting places.
- 9. institutional priority. Turn 18. The institutional priority is the supplied objective of preserving tutoring while adding capacity, which justifies the choice between otherwise feasible options.
- 10. decision conditions. Turn 20. Decision conditions define what must be authorized before the proposal proceeds, preventing a recommendation from being treated as a completed commitment.

1. four

Manager: "The remaining waiting-list count would be four."

Twenty-two waiting learners minus eighteen new places leaves four without a place.

2. 400

Principal: "The remaining budget would be 400 dollars."

Four thousand dollars minus three thousand six hundred leaves four hundred.

3. preserved

Manager: "Existing tutoring would be preserved."

The supplied temporary-support option does not reallocate current tutoring hours.

4. pending

Principal: "The spending decision remains pending."

Available funds and staffing do not replace the outstanding authorization.
