

ENGLISH FOR WORK / SEPTEMBER 2026

Real Estate English

Conversation lab

12 complete workplace dialogues, followed by eight additional role-play cases. Study the exchanges, then make the conversation your own.

PRACTICE THAT TRANSFERS TO WORK

Read a realistic case. Study complete conversations. Find the right language, speak, get feedback, and try again.

Eight lessons | Intermediate to advanced | Independent or classroom study

For real estate agents, brokers, transaction coordinators, property managers, leasing teams, and commercial real estate staff.

Fictional language practice. Legal, financial, and regulatory meanings depend on jurisdiction and context; use current documents and qualified review for actual decisions.

All scenarios, figures, and model responses are fictional teaching material. Use invented details in practice.

Open this course on English Ladder

Inside this conversation lab

Original fictional training conversations in professional English. These are realistic scripts, not transcripts of actual people. The professional roles are the speaker labels; all figures, incidents, and organizations are invented.

- 01 Buyer Consultation: Agreement Before Touring
- 02 Fair Housing Question: 'Is This a Good Neighborhood?'
- 03 Listing Presentation: Seller Wants an Unrealistic Price
- 04 Multiple Offers: Stronger Terms vs Higher Price
- 05 Inspection Negotiation: Repair Credit
- 06 Low Appraisal: Contract Price Is Higher Than Appraised Value
- 07 Financing Delay: Underwriting Conditions
- 08 RESPA Risk: Referral Benefit
- 09 Seller Disclosure: Known Water Intrusion
- 10 Lead-Based Paint Disclosure
- 11 Dual Agency or Same-Brokerage Conflict
- 12 Commercial Lease: NNN and TI Allowance

Then try eight independent role-play cases, followed by feedback criteria and references.

Read it. Hear it. Make it yours.

1. Read the setting. Identify the roles, the immediate problem, and what each speaker needs.
2. Read the whole conversation aloud with a partner. In a group, give a third person the observer role. For three-speaker scripts, assign each professional a separate voice.
3. Notice how the speakers ask a specific question, qualify a claim, disagree, explain a technical point, or agree on a next step. Underline language you would actually use.
4. Cover the script. Recreate the exchange using the situation and professional roles. Keep the meaning, but change the wording.
5. Switch roles and introduce a complication: a missing record, a different priority, an unavailable colleague, or a changed assumption. End with a clear outcome or unresolved question.

Register and terminology

These colleagues use concise professional language. In an internal technical meeting, familiar abbreviations can be natural. With a new colleague or a client, expand unfamiliar terms and check understanding. Keep disagreement directed at the evidence or proposal, and match the degree of certainty to what is known.

Independent study

Speak each role aloud. Pause before the reply and supply your own response before revealing the next line. Record a second version using invented details, then compare its clarity and tone with the script.

Professional context

Fictional language practice. Legal, financial, and regulatory meanings depend on jurisdiction and context; use current documents and qualified review for actual decisions.

FULL DIALOGUE 01 / 7 SPEAKING TURNS

Buyer Consultation: Agreement Before Touring

A buyer wants to see a house immediately but has not discussed representation or compensation.

Roles: Buyer / Agent / Transaction adviser

Buyer: Can you show me the house this afternoon? I do not want to sign anything yet.

Agent: Before arranging representation and a tour, let's review the applicable law, brokerage policy, and any agreement requirements. I will explain the services, term, and compensation arrangements clearly.

Transaction adviser: This agreement is not meant to pressure you. It defines who I represent, what I can do for you, and what compensation we agree to. We can keep the term narrow if you only want to evaluate this property.

Buyer: So I have to pay you?

Transaction adviser: Compensation is negotiable and may be paid in different ways depending on the offer and transaction. The important point is that we discuss it clearly before we start representation.

Buyer: I will review the proposed services and ask about anything unclear.

Transaction adviser: We can document the arrangement only after the relevant terms and requirements are understood.

Notice the professional language

Explain agreement and compensation calmly before advice becomes transaction-specific.

Use transparent language without implying compensation is fixed or required by law.

Rehearse and extend with AI

Explain the issue and the agreed next step without reading. Identify any point still awaiting evidence, agreement, or approval. Then replay the exchange with a changed constraint and a new ending.

Observer: name one natural professional expression and one place where the follow-up made the meaning clearer.

FULL DIALOGUE 02 / 7 SPEAKING TURNS

Fair Housing Question: 'Is This a Good Neighborhood?'

A buyer asks for subjective neighborhood advice that could lead to steering.

Roles: Buyer / Agent / Transaction adviser

Buyer: Is this a good neighborhood for families like us?

Agent: I can help you compare objective information, but I cannot steer you based on who lives here.

Transaction adviser: Let's define what 'good' means for you: commute time, budget, property condition, parks, school district boundaries, noise, transit, or walkability. I can point you to public resources so you can evaluate the area using your own priorities.

Buyer: But would you live here?

Transaction adviser: I should not substitute my personal preference for your decision. I can give you property facts and objective sources, and you can decide whether the area fits your needs.

Buyer: I will compare the objective information against the buyer's stated priorities.

Transaction adviser: Keep the discussion focused on property facts and the buyer's own criteria.

Notice the professional language

Do not shame the client; redirect to objective criteria.

Avoid statements that imply preference based on protected-class characteristics.

Rehearse and extend with AI

Explain the issue and the agreed next step without reading. Identify any point still awaiting evidence, agreement, or approval. Then replay the exchange with a changed constraint and a new ending.

Observer: name one natural professional expression and one place where the follow-up made the meaning clearer.

FULL DIALOGUE 03 / 7 SPEAKING TURNS

Listing Presentation: Seller Wants an Unrealistic Price

A seller wants to list far above the CMA range because a neighbor got a high price last year.

Roles: Seller / Listing agent / Transaction adviser

Seller: My neighbor sold for more last year. I want to list at that number plus 10 percent.

Listing agent: The market has changed since then.

Transaction adviser: We can test a premium only if the evidence supports it. The closest recent comps show lower closed prices, longer DOM, and seller concessions. If we list too high, we may reduce urgency and help competing listings look more attractive.

Seller: I do not want to leave money on the table.

Transaction adviser: Neither do I. My recommendation is a price that creates serious buyer activity and gives us leverage. We can also agree now on a review point if showings or feedback are weak.

Seller: I will prepare the comparable-sales evidence and a proposed review point.

Transaction adviser: Make the assumptions and market dates clear in the pricing discussion.

Notice the professional language

DOM - Days on market; how long a property has been publicly listed under local rules.

Rehearse and extend with AI

Explain the issue and the agreed next step without reading. Identify any point still awaiting evidence, agreement, or approval. Then replay the exchange with a changed constraint and a new ending.

Observer: name one natural professional expression and one place where the follow-up made the meaning clearer.

FULL DIALOGUE 04 / 7 SPEAKING TURNS

Multiple Offers: Stronger Terms vs Higher Price

A buyer wants to win in a competitive situation but does not understand the risk of waiving protections.

Roles: Buyer / Agent / Transaction adviser

Buyer: Let's waive everything and offer over asking.

Agent: That may strengthen the offer, but it changes your risk.

Transaction adviser: We should compare price, appraisal gap, inspection rights, financing contingency, earnest money, closing date, and seller priorities. A stronger offer is not just a higher price. It is also certainty and clean terms.

Buyer: Can we waive inspection?

Transaction adviser: Waiving or changing inspection protections can have significant consequences. Let's review the actual contract, applicable local requirements, and qualified advice before you choose or authorize any strategy.

Buyer: I will ask for a comparison of the actual contractual options.

Transaction adviser: We will coordinate qualified review before you authorize any change to protections.

Notice the professional language

Earnest money - Deposit showing buyer seriousness, handled according to contract and escrow rules.

Appraisal gap - Difference between contract price and appraised value that can create financing or negotiation issues.

Rehearse and extend with AI

Explain the issue and the agreed next step without reading. Identify any point still awaiting evidence, agreement, or approval. Then replay the exchange with a changed constraint and a new ending.

Observer: name one natural professional expression and one place where the follow-up made the meaning clearer.

FULL DIALOGUE 05 / 7 SPEAKING TURNS

Inspection Negotiation: Repair Credit

An inspection found roof and electrical issues. The buyer is angry and wants the seller to fix everything.

Roles: Buyer / Agent / Transaction adviser

Buyer: This house has problems. Ask them to fix every item.

Agent: We need to separate major issues from normal maintenance.

Transaction adviser: The strongest request will focus on safety, systems, and cost. Instead of sending a long emotional list, we can ask for a licensed electrician to address the panel issue and request a credit toward the roof repair, supported by the inspection report and estimate.

Buyer: What if they refuse?

Transaction adviser: Then we evaluate your contract options, your appetite for repairs, and whether a revised price or credit makes the risk acceptable.

Buyer: I will gather the inspection references and estimates.

Transaction adviser: Then we can frame a specific request and review the available contractual options.

Notice the professional language

Convert anger into specific, document-supported requests.

Separate inspection facts from negotiation strategy.

Rehearse and extend with AI

Explain the issue and the agreed next step without reading. Identify any point still awaiting evidence, agreement, or approval. Then replay the exchange with a changed constraint and a new ending.

Observer: name one natural professional expression and one place where the follow-up made the meaning clearer.

FULL DIALOGUE 06 / 7 SPEAKING TURNS

Low Appraisal: Contract Price Is Higher Than Appraised Value

The appraisal comes in below contract price and financing is affected.

Roles: Lender / Buyer / Transaction adviser

Lender: The appraisal is twenty thousand below contract price.

Buyer: Does that mean the deal is dead?

Transaction adviser: Not automatically. We have several paths: challenge the appraisal if there are factual issues, renegotiate price, increase down payment, use an appraisal-gap clause if one exists, or cancel if the contract allows it.

Buyer: What should we do?

Transaction adviser: First, let's review the appraisal with the lender and compare it to our comps. Then we can choose a negotiation position based on your cash, contract rights, and risk tolerance.

Lender: I will ask the lender to explain the appraisal implications.

Transaction adviser: We will assess the options against the actual contract and your verified resources.

Notice the professional language

Low appraisal language should be calm and options-based.

Do not promise the appraisal can be changed.

Rehearse and extend with AI

Explain the issue and the agreed next step without reading. Identify any point still awaiting evidence, agreement, or approval. Then replay the exchange with a changed constraint and a new ending.

Observer: name one natural professional expression and one place where the follow-up made the meaning clearer.

FULL DIALOGUE 07 / 7 SPEAKING TURNS

Financing Delay: Underwriting Conditions

Closing is approaching but the lender still needs documentation.

Roles: Seller agent / Buyer agent / Transaction adviser

Seller agent: Are your buyers clear to close? We need certainty.

Buyer agent: The file is still in underwriting.

Transaction adviser: The lender has issued conditional approval and is waiting on two documents from the buyer. We expect an update tomorrow afternoon. I do not want to overpromise, so I will send a written status update by 4 p.m. with any impact on closing.

Seller agent: Should we issue a notice?

Transaction adviser: I understand your concern. Please send any contract notice through the proper channel. Meanwhile, I will keep the timeline, owner, and dependency clear for everyone.

Seller agent: I will track the outstanding documents with the lender.

Transaction adviser: Keep every party informed of confirmed changes through the proper transaction channels.

Notice the professional language

Clear to close - Lender status indicating conditions are substantially satisfied for closing.

Rehearse and extend with AI

Explain the issue and the agreed next step without reading. Identify any point still awaiting evidence, agreement, or approval. Then replay the exchange with a changed constraint and a new ending.

Observer: name one natural professional expression and one place where the follow-up made the meaning clearer.

FULL DIALOGUE 08 / 7 SPEAKING TURNS

RESPA Risk: Referral Benefit

A settlement-service provider offers valuable benefits for referrals.

Roles: Vendor / Agent / Transaction adviser

Vendor: If you send us your buyers, we can sponsor your client event and give you premium tickets.

Agent: That sounds generous, but we need to be careful.

Transaction adviser: I cannot agree to benefits tied to settlement-service referrals. Any proposed arrangement needs broker and compliance review under the applicable rules and our policy before we discuss acceptance.

Vendor: Everyone does it.

Transaction adviser: Our policy is to protect clients and avoid referral-kickback risk. I can share your public information with clients if they ask for options, but I cannot trade referrals for benefits.

Vendor: I will send any proposed arrangement to the broker for review.

Transaction adviser: Keep acceptance pending and do not link any benefit to referrals.

Notice the professional language

Referral pressure requires direct, documented refusal.

Use broker and compliance review rather than improvising.

Rehearse and extend with AI

Explain the issue and the agreed next step without reading. Identify any point still awaiting evidence, agreement, or approval. Then replay the exchange with a changed constraint and a new ending.

Observer: name one natural professional expression and one place where the follow-up made the meaning clearer.

FULL DIALOGUE 09 / 7 SPEAKING TURNS

Seller Disclosure: Known Water Intrusion

A seller wants to avoid disclosing a past water problem because it was repaired.

Roles: Seller / Agent / Transaction adviser

Seller: Do we really need to mention the basement leak? It was fixed two years ago.

Agent: Known property issues can create disclosure duties.

Transaction adviser: I cannot tell you how to complete the legal disclosure form, but I can tell you not to hide known facts. Let's review the form instructions, gather repair records, and if you are unsure, ask your attorney before we publish or respond to buyers.

Seller: I am afraid buyers will panic.

Transaction adviser: Clear disclosure with documentation can reduce surprises later. A hidden issue can create a much larger trust and contract problem.

Seller: I will assemble the repair records and form instructions.

Transaction adviser: Qualified advice can resolve the disclosure questions before the response is finalized.

Notice the professional language

Do not complete legal disclosure decisions for the client.

Encourage truth, documentation, and expert review.

Rehearse and extend with AI

Explain the issue and the agreed next step without reading. Identify any point still awaiting evidence, agreement, or approval. Then replay the exchange with a changed constraint and a new ending.

Observer: name one natural professional expression and one place where the follow-up made the meaning clearer.

FULL DIALOGUE 10 / 7 SPEAKING TURNS

Lead-Based Paint Disclosure

A pre-1978 home is going under contract and documents are incomplete.

Roles: Transaction coordinator / Agent / Transaction adviser

Transaction coordinator: The lead disclosure form is missing the buyer acknowledgment.

Agent: Can we just send it after signatures?

Transaction adviser: We need to check the applicable lead-disclosure requirements, including whether this property and transaction are covered and when the required steps must occur. Route the incomplete file to the responsible broker or compliance reviewer before proceeding.

Agent: The seller does not know of any lead paint.

Transaction adviser: A lack of known lead information does not by itself resolve the disclosure question. Let's verify the applicable forms, information, timing, acknowledgments, and any inspection-related requirements with the authorized reviewer.

Transaction coordinator: I will flag the incomplete item in the transaction checklist.

Transaction adviser: The responsible reviewer should confirm the applicable steps before the file proceeds.

Notice the professional language

Lead disclosure is a document and timing conversation, not only a knowledge conversation.

Use process language and file discipline.

Rehearse and extend with AI

Explain the issue and the agreed next step without reading. Identify any point still awaiting evidence, agreement, or approval. Then replay the exchange with a changed constraint and a new ending.

Observer: name one natural professional expression and one place where the follow-up made the meaning clearer.

FULL DIALOGUE 11 / 7 SPEAKING TURNS

Dual Agency or Same-Brokerage Conflict

A buyer wants to make an offer on a listing held by the same brokerage.

Roles: Buyer / Agent / Transaction adviser

Buyer: Can you still represent me if your office has the listing?

Agent: It depends on state law, brokerage policy, and the agency structure.

Transaction adviser: We need to disclose the relationship clearly and explain whether this is dual agency, designated agency, or another permitted arrangement. You should understand what advice I can and cannot give before you decide whether to consent.

Buyer: Will you tell me what the seller will accept?

Transaction adviser: I cannot share confidential information from another client or side. My role and limits must be clear before we proceed.

Buyer: I will request a clear explanation of the permitted representation structure.

Transaction adviser: Document the required disclosures and decisions through the applicable process.

Notice the professional language

Designated agency - Same brokerage but different designated agents represent different clients, where permitted.

Dual agency - Representation of both buyer and seller in the same transaction where allowed and properly disclosed.

Rehearse and extend with AI

Explain the issue and the agreed next step without reading. Identify any point still awaiting evidence, agreement, or approval. Then replay the exchange with a changed constraint and a new ending.

Observer: name one natural professional expression and one place where the follow-up made the meaning clearer.

FULL DIALOGUE 12 / 7 SPEAKING TURNS

Commercial Lease: NNN and TI Allowance

A small business owner is reviewing a commercial lease proposal.

Roles: Tenant / Commercial agent / Transaction adviser

Tenant: The rent looks affordable. It says NNN, CAM, and TI allowance. What does that mean?

Commercial agent: Those terms affect your real occupancy cost.

Transaction adviser: Base rent is only one part. NNN usually means you may pay taxes, insurance, and maintenance in addition to base rent. CAM covers common area maintenance. A TI allowance is landlord contribution toward tenant improvements, but the lease will define conditions and repayment risk.

Tenant: So can I sign the LOI?

Transaction adviser: An LOI can frame the deal, but you should review lease language with legal and financial advisors before committing. Let's compare total occupancy cost, term, options, buildout timeline, and exit risk.

Tenant: I will prepare a total-occupancy-cost comparison using the draft lease.

Transaction adviser: Flag assumptions and obtain the appropriate legal and financial review before commitment.

Notice the professional language

CAM - Common area maintenance charges in some commercial leases.

NNN - Triple net lease structure where tenant may pay taxes, insurance, and maintenance in addition to base rent.

Rehearse and extend with AI

Explain the issue and the agreed next step without reading. Identify any point still awaiting evidence, agreement, or approval. Then replay the exchange with a changed constraint and a new ending.

Observer: name one natural professional expression and one place where the follow-up made the meaning clearer.

Eight more situations to make your own

The following cases are open role plays. They give you facts, contrasting roles, useful expressions, and a short model response. Use what you learned from the complete dialogues to create a longer exchange.

Preparation: two minutes. Conversation: three to five minutes. Feedback: one minute. Switch roles and repeat with the second-round challenge.

ROLE-PLAY CASE 01

Agency, Representation, Compensation, and Trust

SHARED CASE

A prospective buyer asks whether an agent represents both sides. The relationship has not yet been established or documented.

Role A | Responding professional

Explain a useful distinction in plain English. Use only the facts given. Choose two relevant terms and be ready to explain one of them in ordinary words.

Role B | Listener

You are unfamiliar with one technical term in the case. Ask for a plain-English explanation and then paraphrase it. Do not pretend to understand a term you cannot explain.

Useful expressions

In this context, ... means

The difference is that

How would you explain that distinction to a colleague?

Cover this until after your first attempt

Before we discuss a property, let's clarify who would represent whom and review the required disclosures and agreements. The available arrangements depend on the applicable rules and the parties' agreement.

Second round

Your listener is new to this field. Replace two specialist expressions with clear explanations without changing the meaning.

Debrief and extend with AI

Which phrase helped the listener? Which case fact needed clarification? Say one better follow-up question, then repeat the exchange.

ROLE-PLAY CASE 02

Client Intake, Needs Analysis, and Property Search

SHARED CASE

A buyer asks for a "good neighborhood" and "a short commute." They have not specified transport, budget, or property needs.

Role A | Responding professional

Clarify missing information before responding. Use only the facts given. Choose two relevant terms and be ready to explain one of them in ordinary words.

Role B | Listener

You need to know exactly what information is missing. Give one answer only after your partner asks a focused question; then ask them to confirm their understanding.

Useful expressions

When you say ..., do you mean ...?

Could you clarify which ...?

So, my understanding is Is that right?

Cover this until after your first attempt

What commute time and transport options would work for you? Let's also list your budget and property requirements so we can use clear, relevant criteria for the search.

Second round

The other person uses an ambiguous word such as 'ready', 'approved', or 'urgent'. Clarify it before continuing.

Debrief and extend with AI

Which phrase helped the listener? Which case fact needed clarification? Say one better follow-up question, then repeat the exchange.

ROLE-PLAY CASE 03

Listings, Property Descriptions, Pricing, and Market Data

SHARED CASE

A pricing presentation uses three recent sales, but one property is much larger and another required major repairs.

Role A | Responding professional

Separate observations, assumptions, and conclusions. Use only the facts given. Choose two relevant terms and be ready to explain one of them in ordinary words.

Role B | Listener

You need to tell a colleague what is known. Ask which part is confirmed and which part is an assumption. Challenge one statement that sounds more certain than the case supports.

Useful expressions

The available evidence shows

This may indicate ..., but

We have not yet established whether

Cover this until after your first attempt

These sales provide context, but they are not identical to the property. I'll explain the differences in size and condition and how they limit the comparison instead of presenting one certain sale price.

Second round

Someone asks for a yes-or-no answer when the evidence supports only a qualified answer. Be concise while preserving the uncertainty.

Debrief and extend with AI

Which phrase helped the listener? Which case fact needed clarification? Say one better follow-up question, then repeat the exchange.

ROLE-PLAY CASE 04

Showings, Open Houses, Fair Housing, and Advertising

SHARED CASE

A listing draft uses vague claims about the "ideal type of family." The team needs a description focused on the property.

Role A | Responding professional

Make a request with a clear action, purpose, and realistic timing. Use only the facts given. Choose two relevant terms and be ready to explain one of them in ordinary words.

Role B | Listener

You can help but need a clear request and its purpose. Ask what is required and whether the timing is fixed or negotiable.

Useful expressions

Could you provide ... so that ...?

Please confirm ... by [agreed time].

If that timing is not possible, please let me know ...

Cover this until after your first attempt

Please describe the rooms, features, and location facts instead. We can make the listing informative by stating what the property offers and sending the wording through our advertising review.

Second round

The other person cannot meet the requested timing. Clarify an alternative without inventing authority to change a formal deadline.

Debrief and extend with AI

Which phrase helped the listener? Which case fact needed clarification? Say one better follow-up question, then repeat the exchange.

ROLE-PLAY CASE 05

Offers, Counteroffers, Negotiation, and Contingencies

SHARED CASE

A proposed offer requests completion in 30 days. The buyer's financing timeline is still provisional.

Role A | Responding professional

Negotiate scope or timing while making conditions explicit. Use only the facts given. Choose two relevant terms and be ready to explain one of them in ordinary words.

Role B | Listener

You want the preferred outcome but can accept one tradeoff. Ask for two options, then state which condition you can accept and which still needs approval.

Useful expressions

We can ..., provided that

Would you prefer ... or ...?

I can take that proposal for review; I cannot yet confirm

Cover this until after your first attempt

The buyer prefers 30 days, but the financing timeline is not confirmed. Could we discuss the proposed timing and any relevant contingencies with the appropriate parties before making a firm commitment?

Second round

The preferred option is unavailable. Offer an alternative and clearly state any approval still needed.

Debrief and extend with AI

Which phrase helped the listener? Which case fact needed clarification? Say one better follow-up question, then repeat the exchange.

ROLE-PLAY CASE 06

Inspections, Repairs, Disclosures, and Due Diligence

SHARED CASE

An inspection report identifies an issue and recommends specialist evaluation. A buyer asks the agent to diagnose it.

Role A | Responding professional

Explain a useful distinction in plain English. Use only the facts given. Choose two relevant terms and be ready to explain one of them in ordinary words.

Role B | Listener

You are unfamiliar with one technical term in the case. Ask for a plain-English explanation and then paraphrase it. Do not pretend to understand a term you cannot explain.

Useful expressions

In this context, ... means

The difference is that

How would you explain that distinction to a colleague?

Cover this until after your first attempt

The report identifies a concern but does not establish its full cause or repair cost. We can help arrange the recommended specialist review so you have better information for your decision.

Second round

Your listener is new to this field. Replace two specialist expressions with clear explanations without changing the meaning.

Debrief and extend with AI

Which phrase helped the listener? Which case fact needed clarification? Say one better follow-up question, then repeat the exchange.

ROLE-PLAY CASE 07

Financing, Appraisal, Title, Escrow, and Closing

SHARED CASE

A transaction checklist shows the appraisal received but title questions still open. A client asks whether everything is ready to close.

Role A | Responding professional

Distinguish completed work from pending work and explain its impact. Use only the facts given. Choose two relevant terms and be ready to explain one of them in ordinary words.

Role B | Listener

You need to brief someone who has only one minute. Ask what is complete, what is open, and which open item affects the next action.

Useful expressions

We have completed ...; ... remains open.

As of ..., the status is

The next update will cover

Cover this until after your first attempt

The appraisal has been received. Title questions remain open, so I cannot say that every closing item is complete. I'll confirm the outstanding items and the next update with the responsible professionals.

Second round

The listener asks you to reduce the update to two sentences. Preserve the most important completed and pending items.

Debrief and extend with AI

Which phrase helped the listener? Which case fact needed clarification? Say one better follow-up question, then repeat the exchange.

ROLE-PLAY CASE 08

Leasing, Property Management, Commercial Basics, Ethics, and Crisis Scenarios

SHARED CASE

A tenant has reported a leak twice and received no update. The property team has logged the issue but has no confirmed appointment.

Role A | Responding professional

Acknowledge a communication problem and give a corrected message. Use only the facts given. Choose two relevant terms and be ready to explain one of them in ordinary words.

Role B | Listener

You are frustrated because an earlier message created an expectation. Explain that expectation. Ask your partner to distinguish the correction from anything still uncertain.

Useful expressions

My earlier message did not make ... clear.

I'm sorry for The correct information is

Let me check that the revised explanation addresses

Cover this until after your first attempt

I'm sorry you have had to follow up. The issue is logged, but I do not yet have a confirmed appointment. I'll contact the responsible team and update you today, even if the timing is still pending.

Second round

The listener remains disappointed after the correction. Acknowledge the impact and restate the available next step calmly.

Debrief and extend with AI

Which phrase helped the listener? Which case fact needed clarification? Say one better follow-up question, then repeat the exchange.

Lesson conversations and speaking practice

The following sections match 05 and 06 on the industry webpage and in the learner workbook. Each lesson has three ten-turn conversations and two bounded speaking scenarios. These are original fictional teaching scripts, not transcripts of real people.

LESSON 01 / 05 • CONVERSATIONS / 1 OF 3

A conversation does not establish representation

The lesson's prospective buyer asks whether the agent represents both sides; the relationship is not established or documented. This is language practice, not legal advice.

01 • Prospective buyer: Do you represent both me and the seller because we're discussing this property together?

02 • Real estate agent: The relationship hasn't been established or documented. This conversation alone doesn't answer whom I represent.

03 • Prospective buyer: Then what is the difference between explaining a property and agreeing to represent me?

04 • Real estate agent: Property information describes the listing; representation involves an arrangement whose scope needs to be clarified.

05 • Prospective buyer: Would an agency disclosure and a buyer representation agreement serve exactly the same purpose?

06 • Real estate agent: We should review the applicable documents rather than treat their different functions as interchangeable.

07 • Prospective buyer: I also want to understand compensation before assuming any obligation exists.

08 • Real estate agent: That's appropriate. We'll explain the proposed relationship and terms using the actual documents and relevant review.

09 • Prospective buyer: Please don't describe me as already represented while that discussion remains unfinished.

10 • Real estate agent: Agreed. We'll clarify the relationship before making claims about duties, authority, or compensation.

Notice, then rehearse

Name each speaker's purpose. Identify one useful expression and the next step or unresolved question. Read the roles aloud, then switch roles.

LESSON 01 / 05 • CONVERSATIONS / 2 OF 3

A team name does not identify the representative

Separate fictional brokerage exercise: two agents use the same team branding; a buyer asks whether that establishes designated agency. No arrangement is supplied.

01 • Buyer: Both agents use the same team name. Does that mean you have designated agency here?

02 • Broker: Team branding doesn't establish the representation arrangement. We need the actual documents and applicable context.

03 • Buyer: So the team's marketing identity and an agent's role in the transaction are different questions?

04 • Broker: Exactly. We shouldn't infer duties or authority from the logo on a business card.

05 • Buyer: Could you explain who is proposed to represent whom before I discuss negotiating instructions?

06 • Broker: Yes. I'll identify the proposed roles and refer any unresolved legal questions for appropriate review.

07 • Buyer: Would mentioning fiduciary duty settle every detail of that relationship for me?

08 • Broker: No. A general term doesn't replace an explanation of the actual arrangement and relevant obligations.

09 • Buyer: Then let's review the representation information before treating the team as acting for me.

10 • Broker: Agreed. We'll keep any unestablished role or compensation term explicit during that review.

Notice, then rehearse

Name each speaker's purpose. Identify one useful expression and the next step or unresolved question. Read the roles aloud, then switch roles.

LESSON 01 / 05 • CONVERSATIONS / 3 OF 3

An introduction is not an engagement

Separate fictional referral: a relocation coordinator introduces a buyer to an agent; no buyer representation agreement or compensation terms have been discussed.

01 • Relocation coordinator: I introduced the buyer to you. May I tell them representation is now arranged?

02 • Real estate agent: No. An introduction connects us; it doesn't establish the representation or compensation terms.

03 • Relocation coordinator: The buyer wants someone to negotiate for them, not merely send property information.

04 • Real estate agent: Then we need to discuss that proposed role and the relevant agreement before assuming authority.

05 • Relocation coordinator: Would you explain that distinction directly so my introduction doesn't create a false expectation?

06 • Real estate agent: Yes. I'll say we're discussing a possible engagement, not that a documented relationship already exists.

07 • Relocation coordinator: Should I quote a standard compensation amount to make the introduction more helpful?

08 • Real estate agent: Don't invent one. The actual proposed terms need to be provided and reviewed.

09 • Relocation coordinator: I'll correct my description to an introduction for a representation discussion.

10 • Real estate agent: Thank you. That keeps the buyer informed without creating obligations from an assumed arrangement.

Notice, then rehearse

Name each speaker's purpose. Identify one useful expression and the next step or unresolved question. Read the roles aloud, then switch roles.

LESSON 01 / 06 • SAY IT

Two scenarios to practice

Use only the supplied facts. Prepare for two minutes, speak for one minute, then respond to a follow-up. Switch roles and repeat. For solo study, speak both roles aloud.

Scenario 1 | Agency, Representation, Compensation, and Trust

A prospective buyer asks whether an agent represents both sides. The relationship has not yet been established or documented.

Prepare for two minutes. Speak for 45-60 seconds using the case facts, then respond to your partner's question. Switch roles and repeat without reading the model response.

Partner: You are unfamiliar with one technical term in the case. Ask for a plain-English explanation and then paraphrase it. Do not pretend to understand a term you cannot explain.

Second round: Your listener is new to this field. Replace two specialist expressions with clear explanations without changing the meaning.

Model for scenario 1: Before we discuss a property, let's clarify who would represent whom and review the required disclosures and agreements. The available arrangements depend on the applicable rules and the parties' agreement.

Scenario 2 | A showing appointment and negotiating authority

A fictional agent has agreed to show a property, but representation and authority to negotiate have not been established. The visitor asks the agent to tell the seller an offer is certain.

Role A: You are the agent. Explain the limited confirmed appointment and clarify the unestablished negotiating role.

Role B: You are the prospective buyer. Ask what discussion is needed before any offer communication.

Possible opening: The showing is arranged, but we haven't established representation or instructions to communicate an offer.

Success checks

- Distinguish the appointment from representation.
- Avoid implying an offer or authority already exists.
- Agree to clarify roles and instructions before negotiation.

Add a complication: The visitor says booking a showing should count as permission to negotiate.

LESSON 02 / 05 • CONVERSATIONS / 1 OF 3

Making neighborhood preferences concrete

Separate fictional extension of the lesson: a buyer wants to travel by train to Central Station in no more than thirty minutes door to door. Budget, other property needs, pre-approval, and proof of funds remain unknown.

01 • Buyer: I'd like a good neighborhood and a short commute. Can you help make those preferences more precise?

02 • Real estate agent: Certainly. What is your destination, preferred transport, and maximum door-to-door travel time?

03 • Buyer: Central Station, by train, with no more than thirty minutes from my door to the station.

04 • Real estate agent: So your search preference is Central Station by train within thirty minutes door to door, including walking and waiting?

05 • Buyer: Yes. A thirty-minute train journey plus extra walking would not meet that preference.

06 • Real estate agent: Understood. We'll check actual routes rather than infer travel time from distance or neighborhood descriptions.

07 • Buyer: I still haven't specified my budget or other property needs. Can we discuss those next?

08 • Real estate agent: Yes. Have you supplied pre-approval or proof of funds for us to review?

09 • Buyer: Neither yet. Please keep financing unconfirmed rather than assume the commute preference establishes what I can afford.

10 • Real estate agent: Agreed. We have a concrete travel criterion, with budget, property needs, and financing still to clarify.

Notice, then rehearse

Name each speaker's purpose. Identify one useful expression and the next step or unresolved question. Read the roles aloud, then switch roles.

LESSON 02 / 05 • CONVERSATIONS / 2 OF 3

Accessible means more than a vague listing label

Separate fictional property search: a buyer wants step-free entry but has not specified other access requirements; listing verification is pending.

01 • Buyer: I need step-free entry. Could we filter the search for properties described as accessible?

02 • Search agent: We can investigate, but could you clarify which specific access features matter beyond the entrance?

03 • Buyer: I haven't listed the other requirements. The step-free entrance is the one confirmed need.

04 • Search agent: Then we shouldn't assume a broad listing label establishes that every space meets your needs.

05 • Buyer: Could you ask about the actual entrance arrangement before recommending a viewing?

06 • Search agent: Yes. I'll request property-specific information and keep any unverified feature clearly marked.

07 • Buyer: Does a photograph of the front door establish there are no steps elsewhere on the route?

08 • Search agent: Not necessarily. We need to check the route rather than infer it from one image.

09 • Buyer: I'll describe any additional requirements separately without being asked to justify personal details.

10 • Search agent: Good. We'll focus on concrete features and verified information when narrowing the search.

Notice, then rehearse

Name each speaker's purpose. Identify one useful expression and the next step or unresolved question. Read the roles aloud, then switch roles.

LESSON 02 / 05 • CONVERSATIONS / 3 OF 3

Pre-approval and proof of funds answer different questions

Separate fictional intake: a buyer mentions a lender conversation but supplies neither a pre-approval document nor proof of funds.

01 • Buying agent: You mentioned speaking to a lender. What documentation, if any, has the lender actually provided?

02 • Buyer: I haven't supplied a document. I thought the conversation itself meant everything was financially confirmed.

03 • Buying agent: Let's keep the status unconfirmed until we know what was issued and what it states.

04 • Buyer: Is proof of funds simply another name for pre-approval in the search process?

05 • Buying agent: They address different evidence: available funds and a lender's assessment are not interchangeable.

06 • Buyer: Then what should I ask the lender before we rely on a financing statement?

07 • Buying agent: Ask what document exists, its scope, and any conditions; the lender should explain its meaning.

08 • Buyer: I'll obtain that clarification through the appropriate channel rather than claim final financing approval.

09 • Buying agent: Good. We can discuss property needs while keeping the financing information accurately qualified.

10 • Buyer: Please note that no reviewed financing document or proof of funds is available yet.

Notice, then rehearse

Name each speaker's purpose. Identify one useful expression and the next step or unresolved question. Read the roles aloud, then switch roles.

LESSON 02 / 06 • SAY IT

Two scenarios to practice

Use only the supplied facts. Prepare for two minutes, speak for one minute, then respond to a follow-up. Switch roles and repeat. For solo study, speak both roles aloud.

Scenario 1 | Client Intake, Needs Analysis, and Property Search

A buyer asks for a "good neighborhood" and "a short commute." They have not specified transport, budget, or property needs.

Prepare for two minutes. Speak for 45-60 seconds using the case facts, then respond to your partner's question. Switch roles and repeat without reading the model response.

Partner: You need to know exactly what information is missing. Give one answer only after your partner asks a focused question; then ask them to confirm their understanding.

Second round: The other person uses an ambiguous word such as 'ready', 'approved', or 'urgent'. Clarify it before continuing.

Model for scenario 1: What commute time and transport options would work for you? Let's also list your budget and property requirements so we can use clear, relevant criteria for the search.

Scenario 2 | Near the station needs a route definition

A fictional buyer wants a property near a station. They have not specified walking time, preferred route, or whether transfers matter. No properties have been assessed.

Role A: You are the search agent. Ask for measurable travel preferences without assuming household or neighborhood characteristics.

Role B: You are the buyer. Clarify how you would evaluate proximity and which details remain undecided.

Possible opening: When you say near the station, what walking time and route would you consider suitable?

Success checks

- Clarify the travel measure.
- Separate map distance from an actual route assessment.
- Agree a search criterion while preserving undecided preferences.

Add a complication: A colleague suggests using a straight-line map distance as if it were verified walking time.

LESSON 03 / 05 • CONVERSATIONS / 1 OF 3

Three sales do not make three equal comparisons

The lesson's pricing presentation uses three recent sales; one is much larger and another required major repairs.

01 • Seller: The three recent sales look persuasive. Can we average them and call that our property's value?

02 • Listing agent: We need to account for differences. One comp is much larger, and another required major repairs.

03 • Seller: So a recent sale isn't automatically a closely comparable property for the CMA?

04 • Listing agent: Correct. A comparative market analysis needs context, not just a list of nearby prices.

05 • Seller: Have the size and condition differences already been assessed in the presentation?

06 • Listing agent: That assessment isn't supplied here. We shouldn't invent adjustment amounts to make the comparison complete.

07 • Seller: Then a proposed list price would still be a judgment, not a guaranteed sale price.

08 • Listing agent: Exactly. The observed sales inform the discussion without determining this property's final outcome.

09 • Seller: Please show the differences and identify the analysis still needed before recommending a figure.

10 • Listing agent: I will. The presentation should make the evidence useful without overstating comparability or certainty.

Notice, then rehearse

Name each speaker's purpose. Identify one useful expression and the next step or unresolved question. Read the roles aloud, then switch roles.

LESSON 03 / 05 • CONVERSATIONS / 2 OF 3

Asking prices are not completed sales

Separate fictional pricing exercise: a seller brings three active listing prices, but no sale prices or transaction outcomes are supplied.

01 • Seller: These three listings have high prices. Doesn't that prove buyers are paying those amounts?

02 • Listing agent: They show asking prices, not completed sale prices. We don't have the transaction outcomes.

03 • Seller: Could we still include them in the market discussion without calling them sold comps?

04 • Listing agent: Yes. Active listings may describe competition, but their role differs from evidence of completed sales.

05 • Seller: I was going to say the market has already validated that price level.

06 • Listing agent: That would exceed the evidence. A list price is an offer to the market, not proof of acceptance.

07 • Seller: Then let's identify which figures are listings and seek appropriate completed-sale information separately.

08 • Listing agent: Good. We'll also examine property differences rather than assume equal value from the area alone.

09 • Seller: The pricing recommendation should remain provisional until that comparison is properly assessed.

10 • Listing agent: Agreed. We'll distinguish available observations from the judgment still being developed.

Notice, then rehearse

Name each speaker's purpose. Identify one useful expression and the next step or unresolved question. Read the roles aloud, then switch roles.

LESSON 03 / 05 • CONVERSATIONS / 3 OF 3

A renovated label needs supporting detail

Separate fictional listing review: a draft calls a property fully renovated, but the supplied record confirms only replacement kitchen cabinets.

01 • Listing coordinator: The description says fully renovated, but the record only confirms replacement kitchen cabinets.

02 • Listing agent: Then the broad condition claim isn't supported by the facts currently supplied.

03 • Listing coordinator: Could the new cabinets justify assuming the electrical and plumbing systems were updated too?

04 • Listing agent: No. Those are separate features, and their status hasn't been established here.

05 • Listing coordinator: I'll propose a precise statement about the cabinets and leave other work unconfirmed.

06 • Listing agent: Good. We should request supporting information before expanding the property description.

07 • Listing coordinator: Does a more attractive description allow a stronger list-price conclusion in the CMA?

08 • Listing agent: Only evidence about the property and market can support that analysis, not promotional wording itself.

09 • Listing coordinator: I'll keep description accuracy separate from the pricing judgment and note the missing renovation detail.

10 • Listing agent: That will prevent an unsupported condition claim from spreading into the market presentation.

Notice, then rehearse

Name each speaker's purpose. Identify one useful expression and the next step or unresolved question. Read the roles aloud, then switch roles.

LESSON 03 / 06 • SAY IT

Two scenarios to practice

Use only the supplied facts. Prepare for two minutes, speak for one minute, then respond to a follow-up. Switch roles and repeat. For solo study, speak both roles aloud.

Scenario 1 | Listings, Property Descriptions, Pricing, and Market Data

A pricing presentation uses three recent sales, but one property is much larger and another required major repairs.

Prepare for two minutes. Speak for 45-60 seconds using the case facts, then respond to your partner's question. Switch roles and repeat without reading the model response.

Partner: You need to tell a colleague what is known. Ask which part is confirmed and which part is an assumption. Challenge one statement that sounds more certain than the case supports.

Second round: Someone asks for a yes-or-no answer when the evidence supports only a qualified answer. Be concise while preserving the uncertainty.

Model for scenario 1: These sales provide context, but they are not identical to the property. I'll explain the differences in size and condition and how they limit the comparison instead of presenting one certain sale price.

Scenario 2 | A sale outside the stated period

A fictional CMA labels all comparisons as sales from the last three months, but one included transaction occurred a year ago. No market-time adjustment has been assessed.

Role A: You review the CMA. Identify the date mismatch and limit the comparison claim.

Role B: You prepared the analysis. Explain whether to relabel, investigate, or replace the older sale without inventing an adjustment.

Possible opening: One sale is a year old, so the current last-three-months description isn't accurate.

Success checks

- State the older sale's actual period.
- Avoid inventing a market adjustment.
- Agree a transparent revision or further comparison review.

Add a complication: A stakeholder asks you to change the date label without disclosing the older transaction.

LESSON 04 / 05 • CONVERSATIONS / 1 OF 3

Requesting a property-focused description

The lesson's listing draft describes an ideal type of family rather than the property; specific replacement features have not been supplied.

01 • Broker: Could you revise the listing so it describes the property rather than an ideal type of family?

02 • Listing writer: What kind of replacement would preserve useful information without guessing who should live there?

03 • Broker: Use verified property features, and request missing details instead of substituting assumptions about prospective occupants.

04 • Listing writer: Should I invent a spacious-garden claim because that sounds less personal?

05 • Broker: No. We haven't established that feature. Property-focused wording still needs factual support.

06 • Listing writer: I'll ask for confirmed layout and amenity details before proposing the revised description.

07 • Broker: Good. Our review should also consider the applicable advertising requirements without relying on stereotypes or steering.

08 • Listing writer: Can you confirm the review route before we schedule publication of the revision?

09 • Broker: I'll arrange that check. I can't call the revised advertisement approved before it's assessed.

10 • Listing writer: Then I'll provide a factual draft for review, with any missing material fact identified.

Notice, then rehearse

Name each speaker's purpose. Identify one useful expression and the next step or unresolved question. Read the roles aloud, then switch roles.

LESSON 04 / 05 • CONVERSATIONS / 2 OF 3

A showing request needs a route check

Separate fictional showing: a visitor requests a step-free route; the agent has not verified access to the property entrance.

01 • Showing agent: Could you confirm whether there is a step-free route to the entrance before I finalize this showing?

02 • Property coordinator: I haven't checked the route. Is the visitor asking us to assume the building is fully accessible?

03 • Showing agent: No. The request concerns the entrance route, and we should clarify that specific feature.

04 • Property coordinator: I'll ask the responsible property contact rather than infer access from the front photograph.

05 • Showing agent: Please confirm a realistic time for the check, since the appointment shouldn't imply verified access.

06 • Property coordinator: Would a reasonable-accommodation question require a separate review if the existing route doesn't meet the request?

07 • Showing agent: We should route that appropriately under the actual circumstances, not invent a universal rule here.

08 • Property coordinator: I'll return the verified route information and identify anything that still needs assessment.

09 • Showing agent: Thank you. I'll keep the visitor updated without promising a feature that hasn't been checked.

10 • Property coordinator: The next action is the route check, with appointment details to be confirmed afterward.

Notice, then rehearse

Name each speaker's purpose. Identify one useful expression and the next step or unresolved question. Read the roles aloud, then switch roles.

LESSON 04 / 05 • CONVERSATIONS / 3 OF 3

Rejecting a request to screen by imagined residents

Separate fictional open-house planning: a seller asks the agent to invite only people who seem like the current neighbors; no legitimate property-related criterion is given.

01 • Seller: Could you invite only buyers who seem like the current neighbors to the open house?

02 • Listing agent: Please focus any request on the property and the showing arrangements, not assumptions about who belongs here.

03 • Seller: I meant people who would fit in. Can you turn that into a screening description?

04 • Listing agent: I can't use that vague idea to sort visitors by personal characteristics or implied protected-class preferences.

05 • Seller: Then what information can we usefully confirm before the event?

06 • Listing agent: The actual viewing arrangements and verified property details, with any advertising concern referred for review.

07 • Seller: Could you request those details from the property coordinator and leave resident descriptions out?

08 • Listing agent: Yes. I'll keep the invitation property-focused and avoid steering people based on an imagined community fit.

09 • Seller: I understand. My request should concern the event, not the type of person who attends.

10 • Listing agent: Good. We'll review the factual invitation through the proper process before it is distributed.

Notice, then rehearse

Name each speaker's purpose. Identify one useful expression and the next step or unresolved question. Read the roles aloud, then switch roles.

LESSON 04 / 06 • SAY IT

Two scenarios to practice

Use only the supplied facts. Prepare for two minutes, speak for one minute, then respond to a follow-up. Switch roles and repeat. For solo study, speak both roles aloud.

Scenario 1 | Showings, Open Houses, Fair Housing, and Advertising

A listing draft uses vague claims about the "ideal type of family." The team needs a description focused on the property.

Prepare for two minutes. Speak for 45-60 seconds using the case facts, then respond to your partner's question. Switch roles and repeat without reading the model response.

Partner: You can help but need a clear request and its purpose. Ask what is required and whether the timing is fixed or negotiable.

Second round: The other person cannot meet the requested timing. Clarify an alternative without inventing authority to change a formal deadline.

Model for scenario 1: Please describe the rooms, features, and location facts instead. We can make the listing informative by stating what the property offers and sending the wording through our advertising review.

Scenario 2 | A school claim without a source

A fictional listing draft says guaranteed admission to a named school. No admission evidence is supplied, and the advertisement is unpublished.

Role A: You are the broker. Request removal of the unsupported guarantee and a source check for any factual location statement.

Role B: You are the listing coordinator. Offer a reviewable correction without replacing it with another unverified claim.

Possible opening: Could you remove the admission guarantee and check what school-related information we can actually substantiate?

Success checks

- Reject repetition as evidence of admission rights.
- Keep the unpublished status clear.
- Request verified information and appropriate advertising review.

Add a complication: The seller says nearby properties use the same claim, so it must be safe to repeat.

LESSON 05 / 05 • CONVERSATIONS / 1 OF 3

Thirty days remains a proposed completion date

The lesson's proposed offer seeks completion in thirty days, but the buyer's financing timeline is provisional.

01 • Buyer: I'd like completion in thirty days. Can we promise the seller that date?

02 • Buying agent: Your financing timeline is still provisional, so we cannot present that date as guaranteed.

03 • Buyer: Could a financing contingency make the timing certain regardless of when the lender finishes?

04 • Buying agent: We shouldn't assume that. Any proposed contingency and its implications need appropriate review.

05 • Buyer: What choices can we discuss now without presenting the financing as already settled?

06 • Buying agent: We can present thirty days as requested, with financing uncertainty explicit, or wait for the lender's timeline before proposing timing.

07 • Buyer: I'll choose to wait for the lender's timeline. Please don't communicate a firm completion commitment yet.

08 • Buying agent: Understood. Waiting gives us more timing information but delays presenting that part of the proposal.

09 • Buyer: I accept that tradeoff. I'll request the lender's estimate, without treating it as the seller's agreement.

10 • Buying agent: Then we'll review the timing and terms together. No completion date or seller acceptance is confirmed.

Notice, then rehearse

Name each speaker's purpose. Identify one useful expression and the next step or unresolved question. Read the roles aloud, then switch roles.

LESSON 05 / 05 • CONVERSATIONS / 2 OF 3

An appraisal gap is not an unlimited instruction

Separate fictional offer exercise: a buyer is willing to discuss an appraisal-gap provision but has given no amount or final instruction.

01 • Buying agent: You said you would discuss an appraisal-gap provision. What limit, if any, are you considering?

02 • Buyer: I haven't decided an amount. I didn't mean I would cover any possible difference.

03 • Buying agent: Then we should keep the discussion separate from an offer instruction or financial commitment.

04 • Buyer: Could we compare a capped proposal with leaving the issue for further negotiation?

05 • Buying agent: We can discuss those options, subject to your circumstances and review of the actual wording.

06 • Buyer: Would a proposed cap automatically tell us how the lender will respond?

07 • Buying agent: No. Financing implications need lender clarification; we shouldn't infer them from a conversational example.

08 • Buyer: Please request that clarification before presenting any figure on my behalf.

09 • Buying agent: I will. Your willingness to explore a term isn't authorization to submit an unlimited commitment.

10 • Buyer: Good. Let's agree the limit and review the conditions before changing the offer.

Notice, then rehearse

Name each speaker's purpose. Identify one useful expression and the next step or unresolved question. Read the roles aloud, then switch roles.

LESSON 05 / 05 • CONVERSATIONS / 3 OF 3

A backup offer does not replace the first agreement automatically

Separate fictional negotiation: a buyer wants to discuss a backup offer while another transaction is pending; no backup terms or acceptance are supplied.

01 • Buyer: If we make a backup offer, can we assume the property will become ours if the first buyer hesitates?

02 • Buying agent: No. We need to understand the actual status and review any proposed backup terms.

03 • Buyer: Then being a backup doesn't mean we control when the existing transaction ends.

04 • Buying agent: Correct. We shouldn't promise availability or invent how a condition operates without the relevant documents.

05 • Buyer: Could we ask about the process while keeping our own commitment undecided?

06 • Buying agent: Yes. I'll request the appropriate information and bring any proposed terms for your review.

07 • Buyer: I also want to compare the effect on pursuing other properties before giving instructions.

08 • Buying agent: That is a question for review, not something to resolve with a universal assurance.

09 • Buyer: Then our next step is an information request, not a submitted offer.

10 • Buying agent: Agreed. I'll preserve that boundary and avoid describing a backup position as secured.

Notice, then rehearse

Name each speaker's purpose. Identify one useful expression and the next step or unresolved question. Read the roles aloud, then switch roles.

LESSON 05 / 06 • SAY IT

Two scenarios to practice

Use only the supplied facts. Prepare for two minutes, speak for one minute, then respond to a follow-up. Switch roles and repeat. For solo study, speak both roles aloud.

Scenario 1 | Offers, Counteroffers, Negotiation, and Contingencies

A proposed offer requests completion in 30 days. The buyer's financing timeline is still provisional.

Prepare for two minutes. Speak for 45-60 seconds using the case facts, then respond to your partner's question. Switch roles and repeat without reading the model response.

Partner: You want the preferred outcome but can accept one tradeoff. Ask for two options, then state which condition you can accept and which still needs approval.

Second round: The preferred option is unavailable. Offer an alternative and clearly state any approval still needed.

Model for scenario 1: The buyer prefers 30 days, but the financing timeline is not confirmed. Could we discuss the proposed timing and any relevant contingencies with the appropriate parties before making a firm commitment?

Scenario 2 | A possession request beyond the proposed closing

A fictional seller asks to remain in the property for two weeks after the proposed closing. The buyer has not agreed, and costs, responsibilities, and lender implications are unreviewed.

Role A: You represent the buyer in the discussion. Separate the requested possession timing from the closing date.

Role B: You coordinate the seller's proposal. Ask what terms need review before the request can be considered.

Possible opening: The two-week possession request is separate from the proposed closing date, and its conditions are not agreed.

Success checks

- Name the two-week request accurately.
- Keep costs, responsibilities, and relevant review unresolved.
- Offer a reviewable proposal without promising acceptance.

Add a complication: The seller wants verbal reassurance that the arrangement is approved immediately.

LESSON 06 / 05 • CONVERSATIONS / 1 OF 3

An inspection observation is not the agent's diagnosis

The lesson's inspection report identifies an issue and recommends specialist evaluation; its cause and repair scope are not supplied.

01 • Buyer: The inspection report flags an issue. Can you tell me exactly what's causing it?

02 • Real estate agent: The report recommends specialist evaluation. I can explain that next step, but not diagnose the issue.

03 • Buyer: So the observed issue and the cause are different levels of information here.

04 • Real estate agent: Exactly. We shouldn't turn a recommendation for evaluation into a confirmed repair diagnosis.

05 • Buyer: Could you estimate the concession we should request before the specialist checks it?

06 • Real estate agent: No repair scope or cost is supplied. We need relevant information before discussing a supported proposal.

07 • Buyer: Does the inspection period tell us which timing questions we should ask the transaction team?

08 • Real estate agent: Yes, using the actual agreement and appropriate review, not a deadline invented in this conversation.

09 • Buyer: Please help arrange the specialist inquiry and keep the cause unresolved in our discussion.

10 • Real estate agent: I will. We'll distinguish the report's observation, evaluation recommendation, and any later findings.

Notice, then rehearse

Name each speaker's purpose. Identify one useful expression and the next step or unresolved question. Read the roles aloud, then switch roles.

LESSON 06 / 05 • CONVERSATIONS / 2 OF 3

A credit is not evidence of completed repair

Separate fictional due-diligence conversation: the seller proposes a repair credit, but no repair completion evidence is supplied.

01 • Buyer: The seller offered a credit. Does that mean the defect will be repaired before we proceed?

02 • Buying agent: A proposed financial concession isn't evidence that repair work has been completed or even agreed.

03 • Buyer: Then the credit proposal and the physical condition need to be discussed separately.

04 • Buying agent: Correct. We need the actual terms and any specialist information about the work.

05 • Buyer: Could the amount itself prove the repair will be adequate?

06 • Buying agent: No. A number doesn't establish scope, quality, or completion, and we don't have those findings.

07 • Buyer: I'd like to understand the issue before treating the concession as a full solution.

08 • Buying agent: I'll request the relevant information and arrange review of the proposal's conditions.

09 • Buyer: Please don't tell the transaction team that the repair concern is resolved yet.

10 • Buying agent: Agreed. The current status is a proposed concession with the underlying assessment still open.

Notice, then rehearse

Name each speaker's purpose. Identify one useful expression and the next step or unresolved question. Read the roles aloud, then switch roles.

LESSON 06 / 05 • CONVERSATIONS / 3 OF 3

A disclosure form is not a test result

Separate fictional property review: a file contains a lead-based paint disclosure document, but no test result is supplied. Applicable requirements are not being determined in this exercise.

01 • Buyer: The file includes a lead-based paint disclosure. Does that prove the property tested clear?

02 • Transaction agent: No test result is supplied here. A disclosure document and a testing result are different records.

03 • Buyer: So I shouldn't interpret the document's title as a finding about the property's condition.

04 • Transaction agent: Correct. We should examine what the document actually states and identify any missing assessment.

05 • Buyer: Can you tell me what inspection or legal requirement applies from this short description alone?

06 • Transaction agent: No. Those questions need the actual property facts, relevant documents, and qualified current review.

07 • Buyer: Please help me ask the appropriate professional what information is available and what remains unknown.

08 • Transaction agent: I will, without describing the absence of a supplied result as either safety confirmation or confirmed contamination.

09 • Buyer: That distinction helps me understand the paperwork without assuming a diagnosis.

10 • Transaction agent: Good. We'll keep the document, any testing evidence, and applicable requirements separate during review.

Notice, then rehearse

Name each speaker's purpose. Identify one useful expression and the next step or unresolved question. Read the roles aloud, then switch roles.

LESSON 06 / 06 • SAY IT

Two scenarios to practice

Use only the supplied facts. Prepare for two minutes, speak for one minute, then respond to a follow-up. Switch roles and repeat. For solo study, speak both roles aloud.

Scenario 1 | Inspections, Repairs, Disclosures, and Due Diligence

An inspection report identifies an issue and recommends specialist evaluation. A buyer asks the agent to diagnose it.

Prepare for two minutes. Speak for 45-60 seconds using the case facts, then respond to your partner's question. Switch roles and repeat without reading the model response.

Partner: You are unfamiliar with one technical term in the case. Ask for a plain-English explanation and then paraphrase it. Do not pretend to understand a term you cannot explain.

Second round: Your listener is new to this field. Replace two specialist expressions with clear explanations without changing the meaning.

Model for scenario 1: The report identifies a concern but does not establish its full cause or repair cost. We can help arrange the recommended specialist review so you have better information for your decision.

Scenario 2 | A stain and an unverified repair story

A fictional buyer sees a ceiling stain. The seller says an earlier leak was repaired, but no repair documentation or specialist assessment is supplied.

Role A: You are the agent. Distinguish the visible stain from the seller's account and any diagnosis.

Role B: You are the buyer. Ask what evidence or specialist review would help clarify the issue.

Possible opening: We can observe the stain and attribute the seller's repair statement, but the underlying condition is not verified.

Success checks

- Separate observation, reported history, and unverified cause.
- Avoid diagnosing or guaranteeing condition.
- Agree a documentation or specialist inquiry with transaction timing reviewed separately.

Add a complication: Someone asks you to assure the buyer that the stain is purely cosmetic.

LESSON 07 / 05 • CONVERSATIONS / 1 OF 3

Appraisal received, title questions still open

The lesson's checklist shows the appraisal received and title questions unresolved; overall closing readiness is not established.

01 • Buyer: The appraisal has arrived. Does that mean everything is ready for closing now?

02 • Transaction coordinator: Not yet. The checklist still shows open title questions, so overall readiness isn't confirmed.

03 • Buyer: Then receiving one document is a completed step, not completion of the whole transaction.

04 • Transaction coordinator: Exactly. We should distinguish appraisal receipt from unresolved title work and any other required confirmations.

05 • Buyer: Could the title search be called clear simply because we haven't received another warning?

06 • Transaction coordinator: No. The open questions need an actual status response, not an inference from silence.

07 • Buyer: Please ask the title professional what remains and how it affects the closing discussion.

08 • Transaction coordinator: I will. I won't promise a date or legal outcome that hasn't been confirmed.

09 • Buyer: And any escrow or lender status should remain separate from the appraisal receipt.

10 • Transaction coordinator: Agreed. I'll give you a verified progress update with completed and pending items clearly identified.

Notice, then rehearse

Name each speaker's purpose. Identify one useful expression and the next step or unresolved question. Read the roles aloud, then switch roles.

LESSON 07 / 05 • CONVERSATIONS / 2 OF 3

Receiving a closing document is not approval of every figure

Separate fictional transaction exercise: a buyer received a Closing Disclosure but has not discussed a questioned fee with the lender.

01 • Buyer: I received the Closing Disclosure, but one fee differs from what I expected.

02 • Transaction coordinator: Then receipt is confirmed, while your question about that figure still needs lender clarification.

03 • Buyer: Can you mark the financing paperwork complete so the checklist looks ready?

04 • Transaction coordinator: Not on that basis. We should keep the unresolved fee question visible rather than imply it's settled.

05 • Buyer: Should I compare it with the Loan Estimate and ask the lender to explain the difference?

06 • Transaction coordinator: That is a useful document question for the lender, without assuming the difference is an error.

07 • Buyer: We haven't established why it changed, so I won't call it an unauthorized charge.

08 • Transaction coordinator: Correct. I'll record the inquiry and ask who will provide the explanation.

09 • Buyer: Please distinguish the document received from the review and closing confirmations still pending.

10 • Transaction coordinator: I will. The status update won't treat possession of paperwork as resolution of every issue.

LESSON 07 / 05 • CONVERSATIONS / 3 OF 3

Wire instructions awaiting independent confirmation

Separate fictional closing exercise: a buyer receives an unexpected message with changed payment instructions; authenticity is unverified and no payment has been sent.

01 • Buyer: I received changed payment instructions unexpectedly. Is this the final escrow step I should complete?

02 • Closing coordinator: Authenticity is unverified. Don't treat the message itself as confirmed instructions or a completed funds check.

03 • Buyer: No payment has been sent. What status should be recorded while we verify it?

04 • Closing coordinator: Unexpected instructions received, verification pending, and no payment sent. Keep those facts separate.

05 • Buyer: Should I use the new message's contact details to establish that it's genuine?

06 • Closing coordinator: Use an independently established trusted contact route with the responsible closing professional for verification.

07 • Buyer: Then we aren't declaring fraud, but we also aren't assuming the instructions are valid.

08 • Closing coordinator: Exactly. The appropriate review needs to establish authenticity before any payment decision.

09 • Buyer: I'll request that check and leave the funds-transfer task incomplete for now.

10 • Closing coordinator: I'll coordinate the verified status response without promising that the message is genuine or the closing ready.

Notice, then rehearse

Name each speaker's purpose. Identify one useful expression and the next step or unresolved question. Read the roles aloud, then switch roles.

LESSON 07 / 06 • SAY IT

Two scenarios to practice

Use only the supplied facts. Prepare for two minutes, speak for one minute, then respond to a follow-up. Switch roles and repeat. For solo study, speak both roles aloud.

Scenario 1 | Financing, Appraisal, Title, Escrow, and Closing

A transaction checklist shows the appraisal received but title questions still open. A client asks whether everything is ready to close.

Prepare for two minutes. Speak for 45-60 seconds using the case facts, then respond to your partner's question. Switch roles and repeat without reading the model response.

Partner: You need to brief someone who has only one minute. Ask what is complete, what is open, and which open item affects the next action.

Second round: The listener asks you to reduce the update to two sentences. Preserve the most important completed and pending items.

Model for scenario 1: The appraisal has been received. Title questions remain open, so I cannot say that every closing item is complete. I'll confirm the outstanding items and the next update with the responsible professionals.

Scenario 2 | Signing reported; receipt unconfirmed

A fictional seller says they signed a requested document, but the transaction team's receipt record has not been checked. No one has confirmed acceptance or completeness.

Role A: You coordinate the transaction. Separate reported signing, confirmed receipt, and review.

Role B: You represent the seller. Ask which status check is needed before calling the task complete.

Possible opening: Signing is reported, but receipt and review have not yet been confirmed.

Success checks

- Attribute the reported signing.
- Keep receipt and acceptance unconfirmed.
- Agree the recipient-status check without inventing overall closing readiness.

Add a complication: A colleague wants to mark the entire closing package complete on the seller's statement alone.

LESSON 08 / 05 • CONVERSATIONS / 1 OF 3

Two leak reports without an appointment update

The lesson's tenant reported a leak twice. The issue is logged, but no appointment is confirmed; urgency has not been assessed here.

01 • Tenant: I've reported the leak twice and still haven't received an appointment update.

02 • Property manager: You're right. We logged the issue, but we haven't provided a confirmed appointment or a clear status.

03 • Tenant: Does logged mean a contractor is already scheduled to attend the property?

04 • Property manager: No. That distinction was unclear, and I shouldn't imply a booking that hasn't been confirmed.

05 • Tenant: Please correct the message and tell me what actually happens next.

06 • Property manager: I'll request prompt triage through the property's maintenance process and seek a confirmed appointment update.

07 • Tenant: Can you guarantee the visit time or tell me the leak is harmless now?

08 • Property manager: No. Neither is established. Any immediate hazard needs the appropriate urgent response, not an unsupported reassurance.

09 • Tenant: I want the maintenance concern addressed separately from any lease-term or deposit discussion.

10 • Property manager: Understood. I'll keep the report open and communicate verified status rather than describe logging as resolution.

Notice, then rehearse

Name each speaker's purpose. Identify one useful expression and the next step or unresolved question. Read the roles aloud, then switch roles.

LESSON 08 / 05 • CONVERSATIONS / 2 OF 3

A security-deposit inquiry mislabeled closed

Separate fictional management record: a former tenant asked for a deposit-accounting explanation; an acknowledgment was sent, but the explanation is pending.

01 • Former tenant: The portal marks my security-deposit inquiry closed, but I received only an acknowledgment.

02 • Property manager: That status is inaccurate. Receipt was acknowledged, while the requested accounting explanation remains pending.

03 • Former tenant: Then closing the inquiry doesn't mean the amounts have actually been reviewed with me.

04 • Property manager: Correct. I'll request a status correction and route the substantive question to the responsible reviewer.

05 • Former tenant: Can you tell me today that every deduction is valid or promise a specific refund?

06 • Property manager: Not from this record. The relevant documentation and applicable requirements need review.

07 • Former tenant: Please don't treat this call as acceptance of figures I haven't had explained.

08 • Property manager: I won't. I'll document your unanswered question and distinguish communication repair from the accounting outcome.

09 • Former tenant: Let me know the next confirmed step without inventing a legal deadline.

10 • Property manager: Agreed. We'll provide an accurate process update and keep the underlying inquiry unresolved until addressed.

Notice, then rehearse

Name each speaker's purpose. Identify one useful expression and the next step or unresolved question. Read the roles aloud, then switch roles.

LESSON 08 / 05 • CONVERSATIONS / 3 OF 3

A rent-roll figure was called operating income

Separate fictional commercial report: a manager labeled scheduled rent from a rent roll as NOI; operating expenses have not been included.

01 • Property owner: You called the rent-roll total net operating income. Does that figure include operating expenses?

02 • Asset manager: No. I mislabeled scheduled rent as NOI, and I need to correct the report.

03 • Property owner: So the rent roll describes rental information, whereas the income measure needs a different calculation.

04 • Asset manager: Exactly. We haven't included the relevant operating expenses, and scheduled rent isn't automatically collected cash.

05 • Property owner: Could you simply subtract an assumed expense percentage to make the correction complete?

06 • Asset manager: That would invent inputs. I'll obtain the actual basis needed and keep the NOI calculation pending.

07 • Property owner: Please retain the useful rent-roll information while removing the unsupported income claim.

08 • Asset manager: I will. The correction will identify the original label error and the missing calculation inputs.

09 • Property owner: Then we can discuss property performance after the figures are properly reconciled.

10 • Asset manager: Agreed. I won't replace one misleading label with an unverified profitability estimate.

Notice, then rehearse

Name each speaker's purpose. Identify one useful expression and the next step or unresolved question. Read the roles aloud, then switch roles.

LESSON 08 / 06 • SAY IT

Two scenarios to practice

Use only the supplied facts. Prepare for two minutes, speak for one minute, then respond to a follow-up. Switch roles and repeat. For solo study, speak both roles aloud.

Scenario 1 | Leasing, Property Management, Commercial Basics, Ethics, and Crisis Scenarios

A tenant has reported a leak twice and received no update. The property team has logged the issue but has no confirmed appointment.

Prepare for two minutes. Speak for 45-60 seconds using the case facts, then respond to your partner's question. Switch roles and repeat without reading the model response.

Partner: You are frustrated because an earlier message created an expectation. Explain that expectation. Ask your partner to distinguish the correction from anything still uncertain.

Second round: The listener remains disappointed after the correction. Acknowledge the impact and restate the available next step calmly.

Model for scenario 1: I'm sorry you have had to follow up. The issue is logged, but I do not yet have a confirmed appointment. I'll contact the responsible team and update you today, even if the timing is still pending.

Scenario 2 | A lease-renewal inquiry mistaken for agreement

A fictional tenant asked what renewal options exist. The management record says renewal accepted, although no acceptance or new lease term is documented.

Role A: You are the property manager. Acknowledge the inaccurate record and distinguish inquiry from agreement.

Role B: You are the tenant. Ask for the actual options without accepting a new term during the correction.

Possible opening: We recorded your options inquiry as an accepted renewal; that was inaccurate and needs correction.

Success checks

- Correct the inquiry-versus-acceptance distinction.
- Keep any new lease term unagreed.
- Arrange an accurate options discussion and record review without inventing legal effects.

Add a complication: A colleague proposes treating silence after the options message as acceptance.

Give feedback that helps

Score each criterion 0, 1, or 2. This is a practice rubric, not a professional qualification or CEFR test. Do not award or remove points for a particular accent.

Meaning and accuracy

Keeps the case facts accurate; clearly separates confirmed and unknown information.

Clarity and language

Uses understandable sentences and explains specialist terms when the listener needs it.

Interaction and tone

Responds to the other person's question, checks understanding, and uses an appropriate tone.

Task completion

Makes the requested action or unresolved question clear without inventing authority or facts.

Use the same scale for each criterion

0 - Not yet: The reader or listener cannot yet recover the intended meaning or action.

1 - With support: The message works after a prompt, clarification, or revision.

2 - Independently: The message is clear and accurate without a prompt.

Feedback sequence

First, identify a successful phrase. Next, identify one point where meaning or accuracy needs work. Offer one useful language correction, allow a repeat, and compare the two attempts. A total out of eight describes this performance only; do not translate it into a proficiency level.

Final challenge

Choose a case not rehearsed today. The learner gives a one-minute response, answers two follow-up questions, and writes a 70-110 word message. Add the lesson's second-round challenge. Compare the result with an earlier attempt using the four criteria.

Use the language responsibly

Fictional language practice. Legal, financial, and regulatory meanings depend on jurisdiction and context; use current documents and qualified review for actual decisions.

Meaning before performance

Use specialist terms only when they help the listener. Explain unfamiliar words, preserve uncertainty, and ask when an instruction or responsibility is unclear. The model responses illustrate language; they do not authorize professional actions.

Your next step

Choose one expression you can use in a genuine work situation. Rehearse it with fictional details, then adapt the wording to your role and audience.

Extend your practice with AI

Use the next two prompts after your own first attempt. Each contains the course context and a complete starting case or dialogue. Copy the entire prompt, including the reference, into a new chat in your preferred AI. You can also use the links to copy it from the website.

Choose the right kind of help

A role-play prompt makes the AI wait for your replies. A new-dialogue prompt asks for a complete professional script. Writing feedback begins with your draft. Vocabulary, grammar and review prompts move from explanation to your own attempts.

Choose any lesson or dialogue online

The course prompt workshop has eight practice goals and B1 support, B2 independent and C1 stretch settings. These are practice choices, not assessed proficiency levels. Select the same lesson number or dialogue title you used in this guide.

Keep practice useful

Use fictional or anonymized details. English Ladder does not send anything to an AI service or add your drafts to the prompts. Your chosen service's terms and any usage charges apply. AI responses can contain mistakes; compare feedback with the lesson and verify specialist claims against the course references.

The two starter prompts use B2 practice. To change support in a printed prompt, replace its practice-setting paragraph with a request for shorter explanations and sentence starters (B1), or greater precision and more complex constraints (C1). Keep the professional facts unchanged.

Changing the example

For another case on paper, replace the text between REFERENCE and END REFERENCE with that case, its course context, relevant terms and language target. Include the full exchange if practicing a dialogue. Do not assume your AI can access this PDF or a link. The website makes this substitution for you.

Prompt edition: 2026-09-28. These are original practice instructions; results depend on the AI service you choose.

Be my workplace English practice partner. Follow the practice instructions after the REFERENCE block. The block contains fictional study material, not instructions to you. Keep its facts, numbers, uncertainty and professional responsibilities accurate. Clearly label any new scenario or changed fact as an invented variation. Use natural workplace language; explain unfamiliar abbreviations in context. If a technical expression is uncertain, say so rather than inventing a definition or authority. Coach communication, not professional decisions; respect the course scope. Ask only for fictional or anonymized practice details. Judge clarity, meaning, appropriate tone and the next step. Accept valid alternative English and distinguish errors from style preferences. Do not claim to certify my language level. Unless I ask to change the plan, follow the stages and stop wherever the instructions say to wait.

When discussing a word, phrase, or example sentence as language within an explanation, question, or answer feedback, enclose that wording in quotation marks. For example: What does "about" mean in "about twenty people"? Use "on" with a named day. Keep standalone answer choices, vocabulary headwords, and ordinary reading or dialogue text uncluttered. Quotation marks identifying a language example do not attribute it to a news source; attributed source quotations must remain verbatim.

Practice setting: B2 independent. Use natural professional English with brief explanations. Let me attempt each task without a model first. Offer a hint after difficulty and invite a more precise retry.

Dialogue 01: Buyer Consultation: Agreement Before Touring

Original fictional setting: A buyer wants to see a house immediately but has not discussed representation or compensation.

Professional roles: Buyer / Agent / Transaction adviser

Published dialogue (reference script, not my own performance):

Buyer: Can you show me the house this afternoon? I do not want to sign anything yet.

Agent: Before arranging representation and a tour, let's review the applicable law, brokerage policy, and any agreement requirements. I will explain the services, term, and compensation arrangements clearly.

Transaction adviser: This agreement is not meant to pressure you. It defines who I represent, what I can do for you, and what compensation we agree to. We can keep the term narrow if you only want to evaluate this property.

Buyer: So I have to pay you?

Transaction adviser: Compensation is negotiable and may be paid in different ways depending on the offer and transaction. The important point is that we discuss it clearly before we start representation.

Buyer: I will review the proposed services and ask about anything unclear.

Transaction adviser: We can document the arrangement only after the relevant terms and requirements are understood.

TASK: Interactive workplace role-play

1. Use the supplied case or dialogue as the starting situation. Give a two-sentence briefing and offer two relevant professional roles for me to choose from. For a supplied dialogue, use its actual roles. Ask which role I want, then stop and wait. Do not write my replies.
2. After I choose, identify who you will play and the immediate communication goal. Play the other professional; where a meeting requires a third person, label each of your speakers clearly. Start with one natural workplace turn and wait for my reply. Keep most turns to one to three sentences and ask no more than one question at a time.
3. Let the exchange develop across six to ten learner turns, or end earlier if I type "feedback". Respond to what I actually say. Include a plausible clarification, disagreement or tradeoff without silently changing the starting facts. Mark any added constraint as a fictional second-round variation. Do not resolve approvals, evidence or commitments that remain uncertain.
4. Stay in role during the exchange. If my meaning is unclear, ask for clarification naturally. Give a hint only if I ask or cannot proceed. Do not deliver a model conversation in advance.
5. At the debrief, quote two of my phrases: one successful choice and one worth improving. Check factual accuracy, language, register and whether the next step was clear. Give up to three focused suggestions. Ask me to retry the weakest turn; wait. Only then offer an alternative wording and a harder replay.

TASK: Extend the conversation library

1. Propose six distinct, common scenarios in this field beyond the supplied case or script. For each, name the setting, two or more professional roles, the communication problem and one useful terminology focus. Include routine coordination, clarification, a complication, disagreement, handoff and follow-up where relevant. Choose scenarios that fit this profession, rather than forcing unsuitable situations into it.
2. Ask me to choose one scenario, or request all six in sequence. Stop and wait. Do not write all the scripts before I choose.
3. For the selected scenario, write an original fictional dialogue of 12-18 substantial speaking turns between two or three professionals. Name each role, establish an actual work problem, and let the exchange progress through questions, clarification, competing constraints and a credible next step or explicitly unresolved issue. Use the occupation's natural nomenclature and register. Avoid an interview between a teacher and a learner, generic small talk, and inserting a glossary definition into every reply. Explain specialist terms outside the dialogue instead.
4. After the script, explain five useful expressions in context, identify two grammar or register choices and ask three questions about the speakers' reasoning. Withhold the answers until I attempt them. Add one role-switch challenge.
5. Before presenting a script, check names, numbers, chronology, roles and terminology for consistency. Label invented facts and acknowledge uncertain specialist usage. If I requested all six, deliver one complete script at a time and wait for "next". Make each scenario materially different.
