

Past events and background actions

Learner workbook

Put a finished event in its time context.

Understand the distinction

The past simple presents a finished event or a past state: I arrived at six; the room was quiet.
The past continuous presents an activity in progress around a past time: I was waiting at six.

Combine them to show background and an event: I was cooking when the phone rang. This does not always mean the first activity stopped. Add then, before, or after when the order needs to be explicit.

Compare the patterns

EVENT

The bus arrived at six.

A completed event.

BACKGROUND

I was waiting at the stop.

An activity in progress.

TOGETHER

I was waiting when the bus arrived.

The arrival happened during the wait.

Read each example. Explain what the highlighted choice means in context. Then cover the example and say a similar sentence.

Check your understanding

Write before looking at the answers. The guide gives a model answer and explains the choice. Other wording can be correct.

1. Choose: At eight yesterday, I ____ dinner. (was cooking / cook)

2. Which happened during the walk: I was walking when it began to rain?

3. Does was reading when the phone rang prove the reading stopped?

Use it in your own life

Write two sentences about a past event and its background.

Self-check

Does your sentence express your intended meaning? Does its form follow the relevant pattern? Can a reader understand the context?

Try again

After checking the explanation, revise your sentence. Say it aloud or use it in a short conversation.

Answers and explanation

1. was cooking

An activity was in progress at a past time.

2. It began to rain.

The walk is the background activity.

3. No. The sentence does not state that.

The reader may have continued.

One possible response

I was working at home yesterday. A neighbor knocked on the door.

This is a model, not the only acceptable answer. Assess meaning, grammar, and context together.
