

Real Estate English

Participant workbook: agency, fair housing, pricing, offers, disclosures, inspections, financing, closing, leasing, and transaction dialogue practice

Audience: advanced ESL learners working in real estate, leasing, property management, commercial real estate, transaction coordination, and related roles

Focus: high-level professional English for real estate workplaces, including agency, representation agreements, buyer and seller consultations, pricing, property descriptions, fair housing, offers, contingencies, inspections, appraisals, financing, disclosures, title, escrow, closings, leasing, commercial basics, and realistic transaction dialogue.

Designed for advanced ESL learners who work as agents, brokers, assistants, transaction coordinators, property managers, leasing staff, commercial real estate staff, relocation specialists, mortgage-adjacent staff, title-adjacent staff, or real-estate business partners.

Teaching stance: real estate English is trust, precision, and risk control under time pressure. Learners need language that is persuasive but not misleading, helpful but not discriminatory, confident but not legally careless. This curriculum teaches professional communication and judgment, not state-specific legal advice.

How to Use This Workbook

This workbook helps you sound precise, calm, and trustworthy in real estate conversations. The goal is not to memorize more terms. The goal is to explain role, evidence, risk, options, and next steps in a way clients and colleagues can act on.

Your starting point

- Which real estate conversations are hardest for you: buyer intake, listing price, fair housing questions, offer strategy, inspections, financing updates, leasing, or conflict?
- Which terms do you understand when reading but avoid when speaking?
- When a client asks a risky question, do you become too agreeable, too blunt, too vague, or too legalistic?
- What is one recent transaction conversation you wish you had handled more clearly?

Use the guided dialogue activities below. Every item has four choices and a rationale in the answer key; no open-ended writing is required.

Real Estate Workstream Language

Area	Useful verbs	Example sentence
Agency	represent, disclose, consent, document, refer	Before we tour, we need to clarify representation and compensation.
Search	prioritize, filter, compare, verify, narrow	Let's turn your preferences into objective search criteria.
Pricing	compare, adjust, justify, test, reposition	The price needs support from relevant comps and current competition.
Offers	structure, counter, waive, protect, negotiate	This term may strengthen the offer, but it increases your risk.
Transaction	coordinate, confirm, escalate, update, close	The open item is lender documentation, and the next update is due tomorrow.
Risk	disclose, document, pause, review, comply	We should route that question to broker or legal review before responding.

Practice Pages

Module 1. Agency, Representation, Compensation, and Trust

Real estate professionals need language for who they represent, what duties they owe, how compensation works, and what the client is agreeing to before advice becomes transaction-critical.

What you should be able to do

- Distinguish client, customer, agency, fiduciary duty, representation agreement, listing agreement, buyer agreement, dual agency, designated agency, and transaction brokerage.
- Explain written buyer agreements and compensation language without sounding defensive or evasive.
- Clarify when a professional can advise, when they must disclose, and when they should refer to legal, tax, lending, or inspection experts.

Three-step decision practice

Situation

A buyer wants to see a house immediately but has not discussed representation or compensation.

Speaker	Line
Buyer	Can you show me the house this afternoon? I do not want to sign anything yet.
Agent	I understand. Before I tour property with you as your agent, we need a written agreement that explains my services, the term, and how compensation works.
ESL learner	This agreement is not meant to pressure you. It defines who I represent, what I can do for you, and what compensation we agree to. We can keep the term narrow if you only want to evaluate this property.
Buyer	So I have to pay you?
ESL learner	Compensation is negotiable and may be paid in different ways depending on the offer and transaction. The important point is that we discuss it clearly before we start _____.

1. Complete the field language

Use the dialogue and the surrounding evidence to choose the precise term.

Compensation is negotiable and may be paid in different ways depending on the offer and transaction. The important point is that we discuss it clearly before we start _____.

Option	Phrase
A	decision owner
B	evidence threshold
C	approval path
D	representation

2. Choose the strongest professional response

Choose the response that acknowledges pressure, names the real boundary, and keeps the decision moving.

In this situation (A buyer wants to see a house immediately but has not discussed representation or compensation.), a stakeholder asks for an immediate answer. Which response is the strongest?

Option	Phrase
A	Let's avoid naming representation until the discussion is over.
B	I disagree, but I cannot identify the evidence or condition that would change the decision.

Option	Phrase
C	evidence threshold
D	Compensation is negotiable and may be paid in different ways depending on the offer and transaction. The important point is that we discuss it clearly before we start representation.

3. Select the next decision move

Choose the next move that keeps the work controlled without creating unnecessary delay.

After this situation (A buyer wants to see a house immediately but has not discussed representation or compensation.), what should the learner do next?

Option	Phrase
A	evidence threshold
B	Verify representation, name the decision owner, and state the evidence that would change the recommendation.
C	Escalate the issue without first naming the decision, evidence gap, or accountable owner.
D	Use broader jargon instead of making the risk and next action clear.

Module 2. Client Intake, Needs Analysis, and Property Search

Good real estate conversations move from emotion to criteria: budget, timeline, location needs, property type, financing readiness, risk tolerance, and decision process.

What you should be able to do

- Ask precise intake questions without sounding intrusive or robotic.
- Separate must-haves, nice-to-haves, deal breakers, assumptions, and tradeoffs.
- Respond to neighborhood, school, safety, and demographic questions with fair-housing-safe language and objective resources.

Three-step decision practice

Situation

A buyer asks for subjective neighborhood advice that could lead to steering.

Speaker	Line
Buyer	Is this a good neighborhood for families like us?
Agent	I can help you compare objective information, but I cannot steer you based on who lives here.
ESL learner	Let's define what 'good' means for you: commute time, budget, property condition, parks, school district boundaries, noise, transit, or walkability. I can point you to public resources so you can evaluate the area using your own priorities.
Buyer	But would you live here?
ESL learner	I should not substitute my personal preference for your decision. I can give you property facts and objective sources, and you can decide _____ the area fits your needs.

1. Complete the field language

Use the dialogue and the surrounding evidence to choose the precise term.

I should not substitute my personal preference for your decision. I can give you property facts and objective sources, and you can decide _____ the area fits your needs.

Option	Phrase
A	decision owner
B	whether
C	approval path
D	operating constraint

2. Choose the strongest professional response

Choose the response that acknowledges pressure, names the real boundary, and keeps the decision moving.

In this situation (A buyer asks for subjective neighborhood advice that could lead to steering.), a stakeholder asks for an immediate answer. Which response is the strongest?

Option	Phrase
A	I disagree, but I cannot identify the evidence or condition that would change the decision.
B	evidence threshold
C	approval path

Option	Phrase
D	I should not substitute my personal preference for your decision. I can give you property facts and objective sources, and you can decide whether the area fits your needs.

3. Select the next decision move

Choose the next move that keeps the work controlled without creating unnecessary delay.

After this situation (A buyer asks for subjective neighborhood advice that could lead to steering.), what should the learner do next?

Option	Phrase
A	Treat urgency as sufficient evidence and commit before the review is complete.
B	Escalate the issue without first naming the decision, evidence gap, or accountable owner.
C	Use broader jargon instead of making the risk and next action clear.
D	Verify whether, name the decision owner, and state the evidence that would change the recommendation.

Module 3. Listings, Property Descriptions, Pricing, and Market Data

Listing and pricing language must be attractive, accurate, objective, and defensible. Learners need to discuss comps, condition, market movement, and seller expectations without overpromising.

What you should be able to do

- Use CMA, comp, active, pending, closed, DOM, concessions, list-to-sale ratio, appraisal, and absorption terminology accurately.
- Explain pricing strategy to a seller who wants a number above market evidence.
- Guided communication selection: choose the evidence, caveat, audience, and next action needed for property descriptions that highlight property features without discriminatory implications or unsupported claims

Three-step decision practice

Situation

A seller wants to list far above the CMA range because a neighbor got a high price last year.

Speaker	Line
Seller	My neighbor sold for more last year. I want to list at that number plus 10 percent.
Listing agent	The market has changed since then.
ESL learner	We can test a premium only if the evidence supports it. The closest recent comps show lower closed prices, longer DOM, and seller concessions. If we list too high, we may reduce urgency and help competing listings look more attractive.
Seller	I do not want to leave money on the table.
ESL learner	Neither do I. My recommendation is a price that creates serious buyer activity and gives us leverage. We can also agree now on a review point if showings or _____ are weak.

1. Complete the field language

Use the dialogue and the surrounding evidence to choose the precise term.

Neither do I. My recommendation is a price that creates serious buyer activity and gives us leverage. We can also agree now on a review point if showings or _____ are weak.

Option	Phrase
A	operating constraint
B	feedback
C	evidence threshold
D	approval path

2. Choose the strongest professional response

Choose the response that acknowledges pressure, names the real boundary, and keeps the decision moving.

In this situation (A seller wants to list far above the CMA range because a neighbor got a high price last year.), a stakeholder asks for an immediate answer. Which response is the strongest?

Option	Phrase
A	I can approve the result now and look at feedback after the decision.
B	Let's avoid naming feedback until the discussion is over.

Option	Phrase
C	I disagree, but I cannot identify the evidence or condition that would change the decision.
D	Neither do I. My recommendation is a price that creates serious buyer activity and gives us leverage. We can also agree now on a review point if showings or feedback are weak.

3. Select the next decision move

Choose the next move that keeps the work controlled without creating unnecessary delay.

After this situation (A seller wants to list far above the CMA range because a neighbor got a high price last year.), what should the learner do next?

Option	Phrase
A	operating constraint
B	decision owner
C	Treat urgency as sufficient evidence and commit before the review is complete.
D	Verify feedback, name the decision owner, and state the evidence that would change the recommendation.

Module 4. Showings, Open Houses, Fair Housing, and Advertising

Showings and advertising create high-risk language moments. Real estate professionals must be warm, informative, and useful without steering, discriminating, or making claims they cannot support.

What you should be able to do

- Respond to questions about neighborhood, schools, crime, demographics, religion, families, disability access, and safety with appropriate objective-resource language.
- Explain fair housing concepts such as protected class, steering, redlining, blockbusting, reasonable accommodation, and discriminatory advertising.
- Handle open-house conversations with represented buyers, unrepresented buyers, and visitors who ask for advice outside the professional's role.

Three-step decision practice

Situation

A buyer wants to win in a competitive situation but does not understand the risk of waiving protections.

Speaker	Line
Buyer	Let's waive everything and offer over asking.
Agent	That may strengthen the offer, but it changes your risk.
ESL learner	We should compare price, appraisal gap, inspection rights, financing contingency, earnest money, closing date, and seller priorities. A stronger offer is not just a higher price. It is also certainty and clean terms.
Buyer	Can we waive inspection?
ESL learner	You can choose that strategy, but I want you to understand the _____. Another option is a shorter inspection period, informational inspection, or cap on repair requests, depending on local practice and your comfort level.

1. Complete the field language

Use the dialogue and the surrounding evidence to choose the precise term.

You can choose that strategy, but I want you to understand the _____. Another option is a shorter inspection period, informational inspection, or cap on repair requests, depending on local practice and your comfort level.

Option	Phrase
A	risk
B	operating constraint
C	decision owner
D	evidence threshold

2. Choose the strongest professional response

Choose the response that acknowledges pressure, names the real boundary, and keeps the decision moving.

In this situation (A buyer wants to win in a competitive situation but does not understand the risk of waiving protections.), a stakeholder asks for an immediate answer. Which response is the strongest?

Option	Phrase
A	approval path
B	operating constraint

Option	Phrase
C	You can choose that strategy, but I want you to understand the risk. Another option is a shorter inspection period, informational inspection, or cap on repair requests, depending on local practice and your comfort level.
D	evidence threshold

3. Select the next decision move

Choose the next move that keeps the work controlled without creating unnecessary delay.

After this situation (A buyer wants to win in a competitive situation but does not understand the risk of waiving protections.), what should the learner do next?

Option	Phrase
A	evidence threshold
B	approval path
C	Verify risk, name the decision owner, and state the evidence that would change the recommendation.
D	Use broader jargon instead of making the risk and next action clear.

Module 5. Offers, Counteroffers, Negotiation, and Contingencies

Offer strategy requires precise language around price, financing, earnest money, contingencies, timelines, concessions, appraisal risk, inspection risk, and seller priorities.

What you should be able to do

- Use offer terminology accurately: earnest money, contingency, counteroffer, escalation clause, appraisal gap, seller concession, backup offer, possession, and rent-back.
- Explain tradeoffs between competitiveness and protection.
- Summarize competing offers without exaggeration, unauthorized disclosure, or pressure language.

Three-step decision practice

Situation

An inspection found roof and electrical issues. The buyer is angry and wants the seller to fix everything.

Speaker	Line
Buyer	This house has problems. Ask them to fix every item.
Agent	We need to separate major issues from normal maintenance.
ESL learner	The strongest request will focus on safety, systems, and cost. Instead of sending a long emotional list, we can ask for a licensed electrician to address the panel issue and request a credit toward the roof repair, supported by the inspection report and estimate.
Buyer	What if they refuse?
ESL learner	Then we evaluate your contract options, your appetite for repairs, and whether a revised price or credit makes the _____ acceptable.

1. Complete the field language

Use the dialogue and the surrounding evidence to choose the precise term.

Then we evaluate your contract options, your appetite for repairs, and whether a revised price or credit makes the _____ acceptable.

Option	Phrase
A	decision owner
B	evidence threshold
C	approval path
D	risk

2. Choose the strongest professional response

Choose the response that acknowledges pressure, names the real boundary, and keeps the decision moving.

In this situation (An inspection found roof and electrical issues. The buyer is angry and wants the seller to fix everything.), a stakeholder asks for an immediate answer. Which response is the strongest?

Option	Phrase
A	Then we evaluate your contract options, your appetite for repairs, and whether a revised price or credit makes the risk acceptable.
B	I can approve the result now and look at risk after the decision.

Option	Phrase
C	Let's avoid naming risk until the discussion is over.
D	I disagree, but I cannot identify the evidence or condition that would change the decision.

3. Select the next decision move

Choose the next move that keeps the work controlled without creating unnecessary delay.

After this situation (An inspection found roof and electrical issues. The buyer is angry and wants the seller to fix everything.), what should the learner do next?

Option	Phrase
A	Verify risk, name the decision owner, and state the evidence that would change the recommendation.
B	approval path
C	operating constraint
D	decision owner

Module 6. Inspections, Repairs, Disclosures, and Due Diligence

After contract, language becomes tense. Learners need to discuss defects, repair requests, seller disclosures, inspection scope, specialist referrals, and deal uncertainty without blame or panic.

What you should be able to do

- Discuss inspection findings, material defects, seller disclosure, lead-based paint, property condition, repair requests, credits, and due diligence periods.
- Separate factual observation, expert opinion, negotiation strategy, and legal advice.
- Guided communication selection: choose the evidence, caveat, audience, and next action needed for repair-request and disclosure follow-up language that is clear, calm, and documented

Three-step decision practice

Situation

The appraisal comes in below contract price and financing is affected.

Speaker	Line
Lender	The appraisal is twenty thousand below contract price.
Buyer	Does that mean the deal is dead?
ESL learner	Not automatically. We have several paths: challenge the appraisal if there are factual issues, renegotiate price, increase down payment, use an appraisal-gap clause if one exists, or cancel if the contract allows it.
Buyer	What should we do?
ESL learner	First, let's review the appraisal with the lender and compare it to our comps. Then we can choose a negotiation position based on your cash, contract rights, and _____ tolerance.

1. Complete the field language

Use the dialogue and the surrounding evidence to choose the precise term.

First, let's review the appraisal with the lender and compare it to our comps. Then we can choose a negotiation position based on your cash, contract rights, and _____ tolerance.

Option	Phrase
A	evidence threshold
B	risk
C	operating constraint
D	decision owner

2. Choose the strongest professional response

Choose the response that acknowledges pressure, names the real boundary, and keeps the decision moving.

In this situation (The appraisal comes in below contract price and financing is affected.), a stakeholder asks for an immediate answer. Which response is the strongest?

Option	Phrase
A	First, let's review the appraisal with the lender and compare it to our comps. Then we can choose a negotiation position based on your cash, contract rights, and risk tolerance.
B	I can approve the result now and look at risk after the decision.

Option	Phrase
C	Let's avoid naming risk until the discussion is over.
D	I disagree, but I cannot identify the evidence or condition that would change the decision.

3. Select the next decision move

Choose the next move that keeps the work controlled without creating unnecessary delay.

After this situation (The appraisal comes in below contract price and financing is affected.), what should the learner do next?

Option	Phrase
A	evidence threshold
B	approval path
C	Verify risk, name the decision owner, and state the evidence that would change the recommendation.
D	Use broader jargon instead of making the risk and next action clear.

Module 7. Financing, Appraisal, Title, Escrow, and Closing

Closings depend on many parties and documents. Learners need language for mortgage status, underwriting conditions, Loan Estimate, Closing Disclosure, title issues, escrow, prorations, walk-through, and closing delays.

What you should be able to do

- Explain pre-approval, proof of funds, underwriting, conditional approval, clear to close, appraisal, title search, lien, escrow, prorations, Loan Estimate, Closing Disclosure, and cash to close.
- Coordinate updates among buyer, seller, lender, title, escrow, attorney, inspector, and brokerage without overstepping.
- Handle closing delays with timelines, owners, dependencies, and next steps.

Three-step decision practice

Situation

Closing is approaching but the lender still needs documentation.

Speaker	Line
Seller agent	Are your buyers clear to close? We need certainty.
Buyer agent	The file is still in underwriting.
ESL learner	The lender has issued conditional approval and is waiting on two documents from the buyer. We expect an update tomorrow afternoon. I do not want to overpromise, so I will send a written status update by 4 p.m. with any impact on closing.
Seller agent	Should we issue a notice?
ESL learner	I understand your concern. Please send any contract notice through the proper channel. Meanwhile, I will keep the timeline, _____, and dependency clear for everyone.

1. Complete the field language

Use the dialogue and the surrounding evidence to choose the precise term.

I understand your concern. Please send any contract notice through the proper channel. Meanwhile, I will keep the timeline, _____, and dependency clear for everyone.

Option	Phrase
A	decision owner
B	evidence threshold
C	owner
D	operating constraint

2. Choose the strongest professional response

Choose the response that acknowledges pressure, names the real boundary, and keeps the decision moving.

In this situation (Closing is approaching but the lender still needs documentation.), a stakeholder asks for an immediate answer. Which response is the strongest?

Option	Phrase
A	Let's avoid naming owner until the discussion is over.
B	I disagree, but I cannot identify the evidence or condition that would change the decision.

Option	Phrase
C	I understand your concern. Please send any contract notice through the proper channel. Meanwhile, I will keep the timeline, owner, and dependency clear for everyone.
D	I can approve the result now and look at owner after the decision.

3. Select the next decision move

Choose the next move that keeps the work controlled without creating unnecessary delay.

After this situation (Closing is approaching but the lender still needs documentation.), what should the learner do next?

Option	Phrase
A	Verify owner, name the decision owner, and state the evidence that would change the recommendation.
B	decision owner
C	Treat urgency as sufficient evidence and commit before the review is complete.
D	Escalate the issue without first naming the decision, evidence gap, or accountable owner.

Module 8. Leasing, Property Management, Commercial Basics, Ethics, and Crisis Scenarios

Real estate English is broader than residential sales. Learners need enough language for leases, screening, property management, commercial terms, referral boundaries, complaints, and reputational risk.

What you should be able to do

- Use leasing and commercial terms such as lease term, security deposit, rent roll, CAM, NNN, NOI, cap rate, LOI, TI allowance, estoppel, and operating expenses.
- Discuss tenant screening, reasonable accommodation, habitability, maintenance, rent collection, and lease enforcement with fairness and documentation.
- Respond to ethical pressure, referral-kickback risk, public complaints, and transaction breakdowns with documented, policy-aware language.

Three-step decision practice

Situation

A settlement-service provider offers valuable benefits for referrals.

Speaker	Line
Vendor	If you send us your buyers, we can sponsor your client event and give you premium tickets.
Agent	That sounds generous, but we need to be careful.
ESL learner	I cannot accept anything of value in exchange for settlement-service referrals. If we discuss marketing or sponsorship, it must be reviewed by the broker and compliance, tied to real services, and not conditioned on referrals.
Vendor	Everyone does it.
ESL learner	Our policy is to protect clients and avoid referral-kickback _____. I can share your public information with clients if they ask for options, but I cannot trade referrals for benefits.

1. Complete the field language

Use the dialogue and the surrounding evidence to choose the precise term.

Our policy is to protect clients and avoid referral-kickback _____. I can share your public information with clients if they ask for options, but I cannot trade referrals for benefits.

Option	Phrase
A	evidence threshold
B	approval path
C	operating constraint
D	risk

2. Choose the strongest professional response

Choose the response that acknowledges pressure, names the real boundary, and keeps the decision moving.

In this situation (A settlement-service provider offers valuable benefits for referrals.), a stakeholder asks for an immediate answer. Which response is the strongest?

Option	Phrase
A	evidence threshold

Option	Phrase
B	approval path
C	operating constraint
D	Our policy is to protect clients and avoid referral-kickback risk. I can share your public information with clients if they ask for options, but I cannot trade referrals for benefits.

3. Select the next decision move

Choose the next move that keeps the work controlled without creating unnecessary delay.

After this situation (A settlement-service provider offers valuable benefits for referrals.), what should the learner do next?

Option	Phrase
A	operating constraint
B	Verify risk, name the decision owner, and state the evidence that would change the recommendation.
C	evidence threshold
D	approval path

Phrase Bank

Agency and role clarity

- Before I advise you as a client, we need to clarify representation and compensation.
- My role is to explain the process and market context; legal interpretation should come from your attorney.
- This agreement defines the services, term, compensation, and termination process.
- Because the relationship could create a conflict, we need clear disclosure and informed consent before proceeding.

Fair housing and objective resources

- I cannot steer you based on who lives in an area, but I can help you compare objective criteria.
- Let's define what matters to you: commute, schools, budget, property condition, noise, transit, or amenities.
- I can direct you to public resources so you can make your own neighborhood assessment.
- The safest description focuses on property features, not the type of person who might live there.

Pricing and market data

- The strongest price recommendation is the one we can defend with relevant comps.
- If we list above the evidence, we should agree now on a review point and adjustment plan.
- Active listings show competition; closed sales show what buyers actually paid.
- A premium price needs premium evidence: condition, location, scarcity, upgrades, or buyer demand.

Offer and negotiation

- A stronger offer is not only higher price; it is also certainty, timing, and cleaner terms.
- Waiving a contingency may make the offer more competitive, but it also changes your risk.
- Let's separate what we want, what we can support, and what we are willing to risk.
- I recommend we put the request in specific, document-supported terms.

Transaction coordination

- Here is the current status, the open item, the owner, and the deadline.
- I do not want to overpromise; I will confirm in writing once the lender updates us.
- This issue may affect closing timing, so I am escalating it now.
- Let's keep communication factual and avoid assigning blame before we know the cause.

Risk and ethics

- I cannot accept anything of value in exchange for referrals.
- If we know a material issue, hiding it creates more risk than documenting it.
- Let's pause and route this through the broker or compliance before responding.
- The client should understand the consequence before signing or waiving that term.

Answer Key and Rationale

Check each stage after completing the practice sequence. The rationale explains the decision skill the strongest response demonstrates.

1. Buyer Consultation: Agreement Before Touring - 1. Complete the field language

Correct answer	Why it fits
D. representation	'representation' is the precise language in this response. The other options are plausible workplace terms, but they do not fit this sentence's meaning and form. This is the precise term already used in the professional response. It fits both the grammar and the technical meaning.

1. Buyer Consultation: Agreement Before Touring - 2. Choose the strongest professional response

Correct answer	Why it fits
D. Compensation is negotiable and may be paid in different ways depending on the offer and transaction. The important point is that we discuss it clearly before we start representation.	The strongest response is specific about what must be checked and avoids either false certainty or vague resistance. This response protects the decision while still moving the conversation forward.

1. Buyer Consultation: Agreement Before Touring - 3. Select the next decision move

Correct answer	Why it fits
B. Verify representation, name the decision owner, and state the evidence that would change the recommendation.	A practical next move connects a named fact to an owner and a condition for proceeding, revising, or escalating. This creates a bounded decision: a fact to verify, an accountable person, and a clear condition for action.

2. Fair Housing Question: 'Is This a Good Neighborhood?' - 1. Complete the field language

Correct answer	Why it fits
B. whether	'whether' is the precise language in this response. The other options are plausible workplace terms, but they do not fit this sentence's meaning and form. This is the precise term already used in the professional response. It fits both the grammar and the technical meaning.

2. Fair Housing Question: 'Is This a Good Neighborhood?' - 2. Choose the strongest professional response

Correct answer	Why it fits
D. I should not substitute my personal preference for your decision. I can give you property facts and objective sources, and you can decide whether the area fits your needs.	The strongest response is specific about what must be checked and avoids either false certainty or vague resistance. This response protects the decision while still moving the conversation forward.

2. Fair Housing Question: 'Is This a Good Neighborhood?' - 3. Select the next decision move

Correct answer	Why it fits
D. Verify whether, name the decision owner, and state the evidence that would change the recommendation.	A practical next move connects a named fact to an owner and a condition for proceeding, revising, or escalating. This creates a bounded decision: a fact to verify, an accountable person, and a clear condition for action.

3. Listing Presentation: Seller Wants an Unrealistic Price - 1. Complete the field language

Correct answer	Why it fits
B. feedback	'feedback' is the precise language in this response. The other options are plausible workplace terms, but they do not fit this sentence's meaning and form. This is the precise term already used in the professional response. It fits both the grammar and the technical meaning.

3. Listing Presentation: Seller Wants an Unrealistic Price - 2. Choose the strongest professional response

Correct answer	Why it fits
D. Neither do I. My recommendation is a price that creates serious buyer activity and gives us leverage. We can also agree now on a review point if showings or feedback are weak.	The strongest response is specific about what must be checked and avoids either false certainty or vague resistance. This response protects the decision while still moving the conversation forward.

3. Listing Presentation: Seller Wants an Unrealistic Price - 3. Select the next decision move

Correct answer	Why it fits
D. Verify feedback, name the decision owner, and state the evidence that would change the recommendation.	A practical next move connects a named fact to an owner and a condition for proceeding, revising, or escalating. This creates a bounded decision: a fact to verify, an accountable person, and a clear condition for action.

4. Multiple Offers: Stronger Terms vs Higher Price - 1. Complete the field language

Correct answer	Why it fits
A. risk	'risk' is the precise language in this response. The other options are plausible workplace terms, but they do not fit this sentence's meaning and form. This is the precise term already used in the professional response. It fits both the grammar and the technical meaning.

4. Multiple Offers: Stronger Terms vs Higher Price - 2. Choose the strongest professional response

Correct answer	Why it fits
C. You can choose that strategy, but I want you to understand the risk. Another option is a shorter inspection period, informational inspection, or cap on repair requests, depending on local practice and your comfort level.	The strongest response is specific about what must be checked and avoids either false certainty or vague resistance. This response protects the decision while still moving the conversation forward.

4. Multiple Offers: Stronger Terms vs Higher Price - 3. Select the next decision move

Correct answer	Why it fits
C. Verify risk, name the decision owner, and state the evidence that would change the recommendation.	A practical next move connects a named fact to an owner and a condition for proceeding, revising, or escalating. This creates a bounded decision: a fact to verify, an accountable person, and a clear condition for action.

5. Inspection Negotiation: Repair Credit - 1. Complete the field language

Correct answer	Why it fits
D. risk	'risk' is the precise language in this response. The other options are plausible workplace terms, but they do not fit this sentence's meaning and form. This is the precise term already used in the professional response. It fits both the grammar and the technical meaning.

5. Inspection Negotiation: Repair Credit - 2. Choose the strongest professional response

Correct answer	Why it fits
A. Then we evaluate your contract options, your appetite for repairs, and whether a revised price or credit makes the risk acceptable.	The strongest response is specific about what must be checked and avoids either false certainty or vague resistance. This response protects the decision while still moving the conversation forward.

5. Inspection Negotiation: Repair Credit - 3. Select the next decision move

Correct answer	Why it fits
A. Verify risk, name the decision owner, and state the evidence that would change the recommendation.	A practical next move connects a named fact to an owner and a condition for proceeding, revising, or escalating. This creates a bounded decision: a fact to verify, an accountable person, and a clear condition for action.

6. Low Appraisal: Contract Price Is Higher Than Appraised Value - 1. Complete the field language

Correct answer	Why it fits
B. risk	'risk' is the precise language in this response. The other options are plausible workplace terms, but they do not fit this sentence's meaning and form. This is the precise term already used in the professional response. It fits both the grammar and the technical meaning.

6. Low Appraisal: Contract Price Is Higher Than Appraised Value - 2. Choose the strongest professional response

Correct answer	Why it fits
A. First, let's review the appraisal with the lender and compare it to our comps. Then we can choose a negotiation position based on your cash, contract rights, and risk tolerance.	The strongest response is specific about what must be checked and avoids either false certainty or vague resistance. This response protects the decision while still moving the conversation forward.

6. Low Appraisal: Contract Price Is Higher Than Appraised Value - 3. Select the next decision move

Correct answer	Why it fits
C. Verify risk, name the decision owner, and state the evidence that would change the recommendation.	A practical next move connects a named fact to an owner and a condition for proceeding, revising, or escalating. This creates a bounded decision: a fact to verify, an accountable person, and a clear condition for action.

7. Financing Delay: Underwriting Conditions - 1. Complete the field language

Correct answer	Why it fits
C. owner	'owner' is the precise language in this response. The other options are plausible workplace terms, but they do not fit this sentence's meaning and form. This is the precise term already used in the professional response. It fits both the grammar and the technical meaning.

7. Financing Delay: Underwriting Conditions - 2. Choose the strongest professional response

Correct answer	Why it fits
C. I understand your concern. Please send any contract notice through the proper channel. Meanwhile, I will keep the timeline, owner, and dependency clear for everyone.	The strongest response is specific about what must be checked and avoids either false certainty or vague resistance. This response protects the decision while still moving the conversation forward.

7. Financing Delay: Underwriting Conditions - 3. Select the next decision move

Correct answer	Why it fits
A. Verify owner, name the decision owner, and state the evidence that would change the recommendation.	A practical next move connects a named fact to an owner and a condition for proceeding, revising, or escalating. This creates a bounded decision: a fact to verify, an accountable person, and a clear condition for action.

8. RESPA Risk: Referral Benefit - 1. Complete the field language

Correct answer	Why it fits
D. risk	'risk' is the precise language in this response. The other options are plausible workplace terms, but they do not fit this sentence's meaning and form. This is the precise term already used in the professional response. It fits both the grammar and the technical meaning.

8. RESPA Risk: Referral Benefit - 2. Choose the strongest professional response

Correct answer	Why it fits
D. Our policy is to protect clients and avoid referral-kickback risk. I can share your public information with clients if they ask for options, but I cannot trade referrals for benefits.	The strongest response is specific about what must be checked and avoids either false certainty or vague resistance. This response protects the decision while still moving the conversation forward.

8. RESPA Risk: Referral Benefit - 3. Select the next decision move

Correct answer	Why it fits
B. Verify risk, name the decision owner, and state the evidence that would change the recommendation.	A practical next move connects a named fact to an owner and a condition for proceeding, revising, or escalating. This creates a bounded decision: a fact to verify, an accountable person, and a clear condition for action.
