Concept #17 ► Recommend & Suggest

The words 'recommend' and 'suggest' use a unique verb style. We will first look at the normal style, then at the unique style of these special verbs.

Normal

Most verbs are followed by an object pronoun such as "me", "her", and "them".
The style is of the form "He [verb] [object pronoun] to [action]."

My boss wants me to finish the report soon.
I need you to set up a meeting for Friday.
She expected us to return to the office by noon.

Unique

However, a small set of verbs use subject pronouns such as "I", "she", and "they".
This set includes: Suggest | Recommend | Hope | Insist | Prefer | Request
This style is of the form "He [verb] (that) [subject pronoun] [action]."

I suggested (that) they take a break.
I hope (that) she does not burn out from overwork.
He insisted (that) I go home since I looked tired.
I prefer (that) she give me fewer assignments.
He requested/insisted (that) we work remotely.

Suggested Lesson Flow

Warm-up	Display the concept image and ask learners to predict the rule behind Understanding the Usage of "Recommend" and "Suggest" before reading the explanation.
Model	Walk through the Core Idea and the sections on Key Points, Additional Examples, Practice Exercises. Pause after each part so students can restate the pattern in plain English.
Guided practice	Project two or three examples from the concept sheet and ask pairs to explain why each choice works, not just what the answer is.
Independent work	Assign the 24 practice items for quiet work, partner checking, and final feedback.
Closure	Ask students to create one new sentence or mini-example of their own that follows the same pattern.

Likely Learner Errors

- Learners may overgeneralize the first pattern they notice. Keep returning to Key Points, Additional Examples, Practice Exercises and ask students to explain what changes from one example to the next.
- Long explanations can hide the signal word or structure. Have students underline the exact phrase that tells them which form, pattern, or response is needed.
- If students can choose an answer but cannot explain it, ask them to justify their choice using words taken directly from the concept sheet.

Differentiation and Delivery Notes

- Support: teach one section at a time, then send students back to the examples or the practice set so they can apply the same rule immediately.
- Pair work: let students compare answers aloud before you reveal the key. The explanation step is as important as the final answer.
- Extension: ask stronger students to write two fresh examples or a short dialogue that uses the same target language accurately.

Model Language from the Concept Sheet

- My boss wants me to finish the report soon. "wants" is the verb, "me" is the object pronoun, and "to finish" is the action.
- I need you to set up a meeting for Friday. "need" is the verb, "you" is the object pronoun, and "to set up" is the action.
- She expected us to return to the office by noon. "expected" is the verb, "us" is the object pronoun, and "to return" is the action.
- I suggested (that) they take a break. "suggested" is the verb, "they" is the subject pronoun, and "take a break" is the action.
- I hope (that) she does not burn out from overwork. "hope" is the verb, "she" is the subject pronoun, and "does not burn out" is the action.
- He insisted (that) I go home since I looked tired. "insisted" is the verb, "I" is the subject pronoun, and "go home" is the action.
