Your route through the book

01 Enrollment, Admissions, and Placement, page 4

Explain an allocation decision without disclosing other applicants or promising a future offer.

02 Curriculum Planning and Learning Outcomes, page 15

Align a measurable learning outcome with classroom preparation, assessment evidence, and a shared scoring rule.

03 Student Support and Intervention, page 29

Distinguish need, implementation, and outcome when reviewing a student-support plan.

04 Parent and Guardian Communication, page 42

Acknowledge the effect of a message, correct unsupported wording, and arrange a clear, accessible meeting.

05 Faculty Coordination and Evaluation, page 56

Resolve scoring disagreements through shared criteria and evidence rather than averaging incompatible judgments.

06 Compliance, Records, and Privacy, page 69

Clarify purpose, authorized access, and minimum task-relevant records without treating job title as blanket permission.

07 Accreditation and Program Review, page 84

Report action status, ownership, and evidence without confusing completion with effectiveness or accreditation approval.

08 Budget, Staffing, and Institutional Priorities, page 97

Compare staffing options using capacity, full cost, displaced work, and authorization status.

Clear language, fair processes

An education administrator often connects people who use the same words differently: families, teachers, reviewers, and budget holders. State the relevant rule, the available evidence, and the next authorized step.

Name the actual process

Eligibility, selection, enrollment, and placement are different stages. A person can meet entry conditions without receiving a place when capacity is limited.
"The application met the eligibility criteria; the published allocation process determined the offer."

Separate observation from interpretation

Describe recorded attendance, submitted work, or a documented action before making a claim about motivation, support, or learning.
"The record shows three late arrivals; it does not establish the reason."

Make the next step usable

Specify the responsible person, date, channel, and decision needed. An invitation to talk should not sound like a finding of fault.
"Please confirm whether Tuesday at 08:45 works, and whether you need an interpreter."

Keep claims within the evidence

A completed action does not by itself prove improved outcomes. A policy, an implemented practice, and evidence of effectiveness serve different purposes.
"The action is complete; the outcome review is still scheduled for next month."

LESSON 01 / ENROLLMENT, ADMISSIONS, AND PLACEMENT

Explain an allocation decision without disclosing other applicants or promising a future offer.

Eligible, but no place available yet

Admissions officer Leena speaks with guardian Mr. Ortiz about a fictional program with 20 places and 24 eligible applicants. The published process uses a lottery among eligible applicants. His child met the entry criteria but was not selected and is fourth on the waiting list. The local procedure allows a factual-error review requested within five school days of the decision notice. A review is not a second lottery, and no vacancy is confirmed. Leena may explain the family's own record and published process, not other applicants' information.

People: Leena, Admissions officer; Mr. Ortiz, Guardian.

Read the record

Choose one answer per question using the facts above.

1. Why was an offer not made?

A. The child failed the entry criteria.
B. The application was submitted late.
C. A factual-error review has already rejected the case.
D. The eligible applicant was not selected in the capacity-limited lottery.

2. What is the current waiting-list position?

A. Fourth
B. First
C. Twentieth
D. Twenty-fourth

3. What does the local review procedure examine?

A. A guaranteed new place
B. Another family's private record
C. A new lottery requested by any guardian
D. A claimed factual error in the application decision

C Phrases that move the work forward

Acknowledge disappointment
"I understand why this outcome is disappointing."

Separate selection
"Eligibility did not guarantee a place in this intake."

Name the process
"The published procedure used a lottery."

Limit a prediction
"No vacancy is confirmed at present."

Offer permitted information
"I can explain your child's record and the published process."

Avoid a false promise
"A review is not a second lottery."

Request evidence
"Please identify the disputed fact and supporting document."

Distinguish later stages
"Enrollment begins only after the relevant offer steps."

Confirm eligibility
"Your child met the published entry criteria."

Explain capacity
"There were 20 places for 24 eligible applicants."

State the current position
"Your child is fourth on the waiting list."

Protect another family
"I cannot discuss another applicant's record."

Define review scope
"The review examines a claimed factual error."

Specify the window
"The local window is five school days from the notice."

Confirm receipt
"We will acknowledge your review request."

Close clearly
"I will send the procedure and confirm the current waiting-list position."

Precision in real exchanges

Purpose: Explain capacity
Useful wording: "There were 20 places for 24 eligible applicants."

Purpose: Name the process
Useful wording: "The published procedure used a lottery."

D Choose the response that fits

Choose one response for each situation. Preserve the facts, the decision boundary, and the purpose of the exchange.

1. Which response best corrects a misunderstanding about eligibility?

A. "The child must have failed the criteria."

B. "A waiting-list place is an offer."

C. "Your child was eligible; the capacity-limited lottery determined the offer."

D. "Eligibility means enrollment is guaranteed."

2. Which request can Leena address within the supplied scope?

A. Name the families likely to withdraw.

B. Guarantee a place next week.

C. Explain the child's own decision record.

D. Send all selected applicants' files.

3. A colleague needs the term for this meaning: The published conditions an applicant must satisfy. Which term fits?

A. lottery

B. entry criteria

C. intake

D. review request

4. Rebuild the exchange from "Eligible, but no place available yet". Mr. Ortiz: "All right, so her application passed that stage. Where is she on the list, and should we keep looking for another place?" Leena: [missing response] Mr. Ortiz: "Does fourth mean that four children would have to leave? I do not want to misunderstand the number and make plans the school cannot support." Which response belongs in the gap?

A. Identify the disputed fact and attach the relevant supporting document. The review team needs a clear account of the issue. A new application is not what this procedure asks for.

B. It states her current position, not an offer timetable. Any vacancy would be handled under the published procedure. I can send that procedure so you can see how the list operates.

C. She is fourth on the waiting list. No vacancy is confirmed at present. I understand that makes planning difficult, but I do not want to give you an unsupported date.

D. Her eligibility is confirmed. The program had twenty places and twenty-four eligible applicants. Meeting the entry conditions allowed her into the allocation process, but did not guarantee selection.

Answers and explanations, page 126

One useful distinction

Eligibility means the applicant meets the conditions for consideration. It does not guarantee selection in an oversubscribed program. Selection, acceptance of an offer, enrollment, and class placement should not be treated as interchangeable.

03 Mr. Ortiz: Was this a comparison of ability, or was something missing from my daughter's file?

04 Leena: The published process used a [2] _____ among eligible applicants. I can explain your daughter's record and that process, but I cannot discuss other families' applications or personal information.

05 Mr. Ortiz: All right, so her application passed that stage. Where is she on the list, and should we keep looking for another place?

09 Mr. Ortiz: I also noticed a review option. Can I ask for the lottery to be run again because we are disappointed with the result?

10 Leena: The local review examines a claimed [5] _____. It is not a second lottery. If you believe a fact in your daughter's decision record is wrong, identify it and provide supporting material.

13 Mr. Ortiz: If I identify an incorrect fact, should I send a whole new application, or just explain the issue and attach the relevant evidence?

14 Leena: Identify the disputed fact and attach the relevant [7] _____. The review team needs a clear account of the issue. A new application is not what this procedure asks for.

15 Mr. Ortiz: If I send that document today, what will your reply actually confirm? I do not want to mistake a receipt for a changed decision.

16 Leena: An [8] _____ confirms receipt, not the outcome. The review team still needs to examine the identified fact. I cannot promise that the result will change.

17 Mr. Ortiz: Thank you. I had also assumed the placement discussion would happen now, but perhaps that is a different stage from this application review.

18 Leena: Yes. [9] _____ concerns the class or setting, rather than whether a place has been offered. We should keep those stages separate while the admissions position remains unchanged.

19 Mr. Ortiz: Please send the procedure, the permitted record information, and confirmation that she remains fourth. I will check for any factual error before deciding about review.

20 Leena: I will include the relevant [10] _____ details. Your daughter met the entry criteria; the lottery did not select her; and no vacancy is currently confirmed. Those are the facts we can rely on.

1. Which statement about the review is accurate?

A. It guarantees a fresh lottery.
B. It removes the capacity limit.
C. It examines a claimed factual error under the local procedure.
D. It automatically moves the applicant to first place.

2. What should Leena say about timing?

A. "No vacancy is confirmed, so I cannot give an offer date."
B. "Fourth means four days."
C. "All waiting-list applicants enter next week."
D. "The review deadline is also the enrollment date."

Answers and explanations, page 129

Listen for the distinction

Repeat turns 9-16, distinguishing the review request from its acknowledgment.

Explain the rule without sounding dismissive

A family may hear a capacity decision as a judgment about the child. Acknowledge that concern, distinguish eligibility from selection, and give a precise next step. Warmth does not require predicting a waiting-list outcome or discussing another family.

LESSON 02 / CURRICULUM PLANNING AND LEARNING OUTCOMES

Align a measurable learning outcome with classroom preparation, assessment evidence, and a shared scoring rule.

A topic list is not a learning outcome

Curriculum coordinator Pavel and teacher Nia review a draft course before teaching begins. Its topic list includes media literacy, but the proposed quiz asks only for definitions. The agreed intended outcome is to compare two supplied sources and justify which is more reliable using authorship and supporting evidence. The draft lessons currently practice only recalling terms. The team can revise the lessons and assessment before approval. They need source-comparison practice and a task scored on both named criteria, not a claim that remembering definitions demonstrates evaluation.

People: Pavel, Curriculum coordinator; Nia, Teacher.

Read the record

Choose one answer per question using the facts above.

1. What must learners demonstrate in the intended outcome?

A. Recite every definition from the glossary.
B. Choose whichever source is longer.
C. Express an unsupported preference.
D. Compare two sources and justify reliability using authorship and evidence.

2. What does the proposed quiz currently assess?

A. Recall of definitions
B. A supported comparison of two sources
C. Implementation of a revised curriculum
D. Agreement between graders

3. When can the team make the proposed changes?

A. After secretly changing completed scores
B. Without updating instruction
C. Before teaching begins and before draft approval
D. Only after final grades are published

1. Which assessment matches the intended outcome?

A. List five definitions from memory.

B. Copy a paragraph without evaluation.

C. Rank sources by length alone.

D. Compare the supplied sources using authorship and evidence, then justify the stronger source.

2. Which instructional change is needed?

A. Keep recall-only practice and assess comparison unexpectedly.

B. Remove all explanation of evidence.

C. Teach only the scoring total.

D. Add guided source comparisons before the final assessment.

3. A colleague needs the term for this meaning: An action word that identifies demonstrable performance. Which term fits?

Could we use them to check the vocabulary before students tackle the sources?" Nia: [missing response] Pavel: "Our lessons practice definitions too. Changing only the final assessment would confront learners with a comparison task they had not practiced." Which response belongs in the gap?

A. Add a guided practice task with two sources. We can model how authorship and supporting evidence affect the judgment, then gradually reduce the support before the assessed task.

B. Certainly. The issue is alignment, not whether definitions matter. The outcome, classroom practice, and assessment should reinforce the same performance, with vocabulary serving that performance rather than replacing it.

C. The intended learning outcome is to compare two supplied sources and justify which is more reliable using authorship and supporting evidence. That is more specific than covering the topic.

D. Update the curriculum map as well. That will show where learners practice the comparison and where they demonstrate it, instead of leaving the revised quiz disconnected from the plan.

B. Write a clear descriptor for each level. It should distinguish naming a feature from explaining why that feature strengthens or weakens a source for this purpose.

C. A shared rubric should describe how well the learner uses authorship information and supporting evidence. Persuasive wording alone cannot substitute for an accurate, supported comparison.

D. Yes. Each assessment criterion should be visible in the task and the scoring guidance. We should not reward a long response that never evaluates either source.

1. A colleague needs the term for this meaning: Meeting the conditions for consideration. Which term fits?

A. placement
B. eligibility
C. factual error
D. allocation

2. A colleague needs the term for this meaning: Evidence used during learning to guide improvement. Which term fits?

A. formative assessment
B. curriculum
C. application
D. authorship

3. Rebuild the exchange from "Eligible, but no place available yet". Mr. Ortiz: "I also noticed a review option. Can I ask for the lottery to be run again because we are disappointed with the result?" Leena: [missing response] Mr. Ortiz: "I would like to check the record first. How long do I have to request that review, and where should I find the precise instructions?" Which response belongs in the gap?

A. Identify the disputed fact and attach the relevant supporting document. The review team needs a clear account of the issue. A new application is not what this procedure asks for.
B. She is fourth on the waiting list. No vacancy is confirmed at present. I understand that makes planning difficult, but I do not want to give you an unsupported date.
C. The local review examines a claimed factual error. It is not a second lottery. If you believe a fact in your daughter's decision record is wrong, identify it and provide supporting material.
D. It states her current position, not an offer timetable. Any vacancy would be handled under the published procedure. I can send that procedure so you can see how the list operates.

4. Rebuild the exchange from "A topic list is not a learning outcome". Pavel: "This is still a draft, so we can revise before teaching starts. I will check that the lesson sequence, task instructions, and scoring guidance all match." Nia: [missing response] Pavel: "Our approval summary will say that learners compare two supplied sources, apply both criteria, and justify the stronger source. Definitions remain supporting knowledge, not the final evidence." Which response belongs in the gap?

A. The intended learning outcome is to compare two supplied sources and justify which is more reliable using authorship and supporting evidence. That is more specific than covering the topic.

B. Update the curriculum map as well. That will show where learners practice the comparison and where they demonstrate it, instead of leaving the revised quiz disconnected from the plan.

C. Certainly. The issue is alignment, not whether definitions matter. The outcome, classroom practice, and assessment should reinforce the same performance, with vocabulary serving that performance rather than replacing it.

D. Add a guided practice task with two sources. We can model how authorship and supporting evidence affect the judgment, then gradually reduce the support before the assessed task.

LESSON 03 / STUDENT SUPPORT AND INTERVENTION

Distinguish need, implementation, and outcome when reviewing a student-support plan.

> A plan on paper is not a delivered intervention
> Student-support coordinator Mina and attendance lead Theo review a learner who arrived late on four of the last ten school days. An earlier plan proposed ten morning check-ins over two weeks. A recovered log documents only two check-ins; the other eight have no delivery record. The available evidence does not establish whether the full plan was delivered or whether it was ineffective. Mina will coordinate a new ten-day record, confirm the learner's and guardian's reported barriers, and review a local target of no more than one late arrival. No cause of lateness is established.

People: Mina, Student-support coordinator; Theo, Attendance lead.

Read the record

Choose one answer per question using the facts above.

1. What does the attendance record show?

A. Ten completed check-ins
B. A confirmed transport problem
C. Four late arrivals in ten school days
D. Four full-day absences

2. How much check-in delivery is documented?

A. Eight confirmed missed check-ins
B. Two of ten planned check-ins
C. All ten planned check-ins
D. None of the ten check-ins

3. What conclusion is premature?

A. The learner had four late arrivals.
B. A new review needs a clear record.
C. The fully delivered intervention failed.
D. The implementation record is incomplete.

C Phrases that move the work forward

Start with observation
"The record shows four late arrivals in ten school days."

Keep categories separate
"Late arrivals are not the same as full-day absences."

Name the planned support
"The plan proposed ten morning check-ins."

State documented delivery
"The log records two completed check-ins."

Preserve uncertainty
"Delivery of the other eight is unverified."

Limit an effectiveness claim
"We cannot say the fully delivered plan failed."

Check implementation
"First establish what support actually occurred."

Invite the learner's account
"We need the learner's account of the morning barriers."

Include the guardian
"Confirm what the guardian reports without assuming the cause."

Assign coordination
"Mina will coordinate the new ten-day record."

Specify the target
"The local target is no more than one late arrival."

Set the review period
"Review the next ten school days."

Track both sides
"Record support delivery as well as attendance."

Use a fair comparison
"Compare periods of the same length."

Avoid a causal leap
"Improvement alone would not prove which factor caused it."

Close the plan
"The record must show the action, responsible person, and date."

Precision in real exchanges

Purpose: State documented delivery
Useful wording: "The log records two completed check-ins."

Purpose: Preserve uncertainty
Useful wording: "Delivery of the other eight is unverified."

D Choose the response that fits

Choose one response for each situation. Preserve the facts, the decision boundary, and the purpose of the exchange.

1. Which sentence accurately summarizes implementation?

A. "Exactly eight check-ins definitely did not occur."

B. "The learner refused eight check-ins."

C. "Two check-ins are documented; eight have no delivery record."

D. "All ten check-ins definitely occurred."

2. Which question is most useful before evaluating effectiveness?

A. Can we compare this ten-day count with a twenty-day count without adjustment?

B. Would a lower target make the plan easier to close?

C. Was the planned support delivered as intended?

D. Did the written plan include a target?

3. A colleague needs the term for this meaning: Documentation of presence, absence, or arrival. Which term fits?

4. Rebuild the exchange from "A plan on paper is not a delivered intervention". Theo: "I will remove failed intervention from the minutes. Can we check with the staff who covered the other mornings before the review?" Mina: [missing response] Theo: "Colleagues suspect transport, but neither the learner nor the guardian has confirmed a cause." Which response belongs in the gap?

A. Then our delivery log is incomplete. We can confirm two documented contacts, but the other eight are unverified. Missing entries do not prove either that the contacts happened or that they did not.

B. Exactly. We need to establish implementation before describing a fully delivered intervention as ineffective. Otherwise a gap in delivery or documentation could be mistaken for evidence that the support approach cannot work.

C. Use the same definitions for progress monitoring. Track the next ten school days, alongside support delivery. A count without the observation period would be difficult to compare fairly with the current record.

D. Record it as a possible barrier, not a finding. Ask for the learner's account and the guardian's input. We should not replace their experience with a convenient explanation that nobody has verified.

Answers and explanations, page 136

LESSON 04 / PARENT AND GUARDIAN COMMUNICATION

Acknowledge the effect of a message, correct unsupported wording, and arrange a clear, accessible meeting.

Repair a message that sounded accusatory

Administrator Rosa sent an authorized guardian, Ms. Lin, an email saying the family had failed to prioritize punctuality. The verified attendance record shows three late arrivals in the last five school days, but no cause is established. Ms. Lin says the wording was accusatory and reports a bus delay. Rosa must correct the unsupported inference, retain the accurate attendance facts, and offer a meeting on Tuesday at 08:45. An interpreter can be requested; availability and the guardian's preferred language still need confirmation. The meeting is to understand barriers and agree support, not announce a predetermined penalty.

People: Rosa, School administrator; Ms. Lin, Authorized guardian.

Choose one answer per question using the facts above.

1. Which part of the email is unsupported?

A. The five-school-day observation period
B. The proposed Tuesday meeting time
C. The claim that the family failed to prioritize punctuality
D. The count of three late arrivals

2. How should the bus issue be described now?

A. A verified cause of all late arrivals
B. Proof that the school made no error
C. A reason to erase the attendance record
D. A delay reported by the guardian

3. What needs confirmation for language support?

A. A penalty before the meeting
B. That translation is never necessary

Rebuild the exchange

Choose the missing response. Read the completed three-turn exchange aloud, changing roles on the second reading.

1. Rebuild the exchange from "Repair a message that sounded accusatory". Ms. Lin: "Could you also send the meeting purpose in writing? Having it in advance would help me check the facts and prepare the information I need." Rosa: [missing response] Ms. Lin: "Could we start with the journey to school? I can explain where the delay happens, and then we can look at what might help." Which response belongs in the gap?

A. We need two-way communication. Your account matters, alongside the school's records. We can clarify the circumstances and identify actions without assuming that either side already has the whole picture.

B. Yes. I will send a corrected meeting invitation stating the attendance facts, the purpose, and the proposed time. It will identify anything still awaiting confirmation, including the language-support arrangement.

C. I am correcting the unsupported inference, not removing accurate attendance information. The verified record shows three late arrivals in the last five school days. Both parts should be stated clearly.

D. The agenda is to understand the barriers and agree support. This invitation is not announcing a predetermined penalty. We need to hear your account and discuss practical arrangements together.

> Revisit "Student Support and Intervention" and "Parent and Guardian Communication". Choose precise terminology, then reconstruct the missing responses using both neighboring turns. The final two questions also revisit earlier conversations.

1. A colleague needs the term for this meaning: The starting measure used for comparison. Which term fits?

A. support plan
B. review point
C. implementation
D. baseline

2. A colleague needs the term for this meaning: A conclusion drawn beyond directly recorded facts. Which term fits?

A. guardian
B. correction
C. inference
D. translation

3. Rebuild the exchange from "A topic list is not a learning outcome". Pavel: "For the final task, I suggest supplying both sources and asking for a choice with reasons under the two named headings. That keeps the evidence focused." Nia: [missing response] Pavel: "Some teachers suggest one overall mark for sounding persuasive. That seems hard to explain consistently without mentioning the two required criteria." Which response belongs in the gap?

A. A shared rubric should describe how well the learner uses authorship information and supporting evidence. Persuasive wording alone cannot substitute for an accurate, supported comparison.
B. Write a clear descriptor for each level. It should distinguish naming a feature from explaining why that feature strengthens or weakens a source for this purpose.
C. Yes. Each assessment criterion should be visible in the task and the scoring guidance. We should not reward a long response that never evaluates either source.
D. They show recall, not the complete comparison. A learner could reproduce every definition without applying either criterion to the sources. We need a different final task.

4. Rebuild the exchange from "Repair a message that sounded accusatory". Ms. Lin: "Afterward, please distinguish agreed actions from open questions. That should help avoid another misunderstanding." Rosa: [missing response] Ms. Lin: "Thank you. I will confirm the proposed time and my language preference. I appreciate the correction without losing the discussion about the late arrivals." Which response belongs in the gap?

A. I will send a follow-up summary distinguishing those items. It should name the actions, responsible people, and any dates we actually agree, rather than presenting a suggestion as a settled commitment.

B. Would Tuesday at eight forty-five suit your availability? That is a proposed time, not a confirmed appointment. If it does not work, please tell me so we can discuss another arrangement.

C. I understand why the tone concerned you. I should not have inferred your family's priorities. The attendance record shows late arrivals, but it does not establish your intentions or the reason.

D. I am correcting the unsupported inference, not removing accurate attendance information. The verified record shows three late arrivals in the last five school days. Both parts should be stated clearly.

LESSON 05 / FACULTY COORDINATION AND EVALUATION

Resolve scoring disagreements through shared criteria and evidence rather than averaging incompatible judgments.

The same paper, two different rubric readings

Department lead Erin and teacher Sam compare scores for the same anonymized student paper. The published rubric has three criteria, each scored from zero to four, for a maximum of twelve. Erin awarded ten and Sam seven. For the evidence criterion, the level-three descriptor requires two relevant examples with an explanation of how each supports the claim. The paper supplies both, but Sam reduced that criterion because the response was short. Length is not a criterion. They must calibrate the rubric, review affected work, and explain any corrected scores under the institution's process.

People: Erin, Department lead; Sam, Teacher.

Read the record

Choose one answer per question using the facts above.

1. What is the maximum rubric total?

A. Seven
B. Four
C. Twelve
D. Ten

2. What caused the identified disagreement?

A. Sam used response length although it is not a rubric criterion.
B. The paper lacked both examples.
C. The rubric had only one criterion.
D. The two teachers scored different papers.

3. What does the evidence descriptor require?

A. Two relevant examples and explanation of how each supports the claim
B. A minimum page count
C. Three teacher signatures
D. Agreement with the teacher's preferred conclusion

D Choose the response that fits

Choose one response for each situation. Preserve the facts, the decision boundary, and the purpose of the exchange.

1. Which evidence supports level three on the evidence criterion?

A. The average of the two totals

B. Two relevant examples, each explained in relation to the claim

C. A short answer by itself

D. A teacher's seniority

2. Why is simply averaging ten and seven inadequate?

A. All teachers must always give identical scores.

B. It leaves the unsupported length penalty and interpretation unresolved.

C. Averages can never be calculated.

D. The maximum score is only seven.

3. A colleague needs the term for this meaning: The permitted interval of marks. Which term fits?

A. rationale

B. scoring discrepancy

C. score adjustment

D. score range

4. Rebuild the exchange from "The same paper, two different rubric readings". Sam: "Looking at the paper, both examples are relevant, and each has a sentence explaining its connection. The response is concise, but those elements are present." Erin: [missing response] Sam: "Eight and a half would split the difference. But I would still be marking short answers down tomorrow, so that would not fix this." Which response belongs in the gap?

A. Then the rationale supports level three on this criterion. Concision does not remove the evidence. We should avoid rewarding additional words merely because they create an impression of greater effort.

B. Review the affected cohort under the institution's process. Some judgments may remain unchanged after review; others may need correction. We should not apply a blanket increase without examining the work.

C. It would preserve the scoring discrepancy beneath a compromise number. We need a shared interpretation of the published standard, not a numerical agreement that leaves the unsupported length rule in place.

D. Read the descriptor. Level three requires two relevant examples and an explanation of how each supports the claim. It does not specify a page count or minimum response length.

Answers and explanations, page 146

One useful distinction

A total of ten versus seven signals disagreement but does not reveal which criterion is wrong. Examine the criterion-level judgments. Averaging the totals to 8.5 would conceal the identified unsupported length penalty rather than resolve it.

LESSON 06 / COMPLIANCE, RECORDS, AND PRIVACY

Clarify purpose, authorized access, and minimum task-relevant records without treating job title as blanket permission.

A route-planning task does not need an entire file

Transport coordinator Dana asks records officer Yusuf for complete student files to update pickup assignments. The task requires student IDs and assigned pickup stops only; counseling notes, disciplinary history, and health information are not needed for this task. The fictional institution requires the records owner to approve the fields, recipients, and access period before release. That approval is pending. 2. What is the current release status?

A. A job title grants unrestricted access.
B. Approval is pending, so no roster may be released yet.
C. The narrow roster is automatically approved.
D. The old folder replaces approval.

3. What should happen to the old broad-access folder?

Explain the useful alternative

A privacy boundary is easier to understand when paired with a route to completing the work. State the task-relevant fields and the approval still required. Avoid implying that a colleague is untrustworthy merely because the request was broader than necessary.

F Say it / transfer to a new case

Preparation is not permission

An examinations team needs student IDs and assigned rooms. Medical notes are not needed. Local policy requires the records owner to approve fields and recipients before release; approval is still pending.

Complete the four gaps. With a partner, read alternate roles, then switch. Studying alone, read both roles and pause before each response.

Rebuild the exchange

Choose the missing response. Read the completed three-turn exchange aloud, changing roles on the second reading.

1. Rebuild the exchange from "A route-planning task does not need an entire file". Dana: "I will include the proposed access period. Once that ends, should the source records be deleted, or does the period refer only to our access?" Yusuf: [missing response] Dana: "The old folder still contains more information than this task needs. Should I assume someone approved that earlier and continue using it until the new list arrives?" Which response belongs in the gap?

A. Yes, including restrictions on redisclosure. Authorization to receive the list does not automatically authorize further distribution. Keep the approved audience and purpose attached to the information when you use it.

B. Let us define the access scope for this task. Updating pickup assignments needs student IDs and assigned pickup stops. It does not require counseling notes, disciplinary history, or health information.

C. It concerns access. The retention schedule determines how records are kept under the applicable rules. Do not turn an access end date into an unauthorized instruction to destroy source records.

D. The records owner must approve the fields, recipients, and access period. Your role explains the task, but it does not create unrestricted permission to receive every part of a student file.

2. A colleague needs the term for this meaning: Limiting data to what is necessary for the purpose. Which term fits?

A. data minimization

B. education record

C. access period

D. sensitive information

3. Rebuild the exchange from "Repair a message that sounded accusatory". Ms. Lin: "Tuesday might work. Please give me an exact time so I can arrange the journey and check my work schedule." Rosa: [missing response] Ms. Lin: "I will check and reply. I may also need language support. I can discuss ordinary school matters, but I do not want to miss important details." Which response belongs in the gap?

A. I am correcting the unsupported inference, not removing accurate attendance information. The verified record shows three late arrivals in the last five school days. Both parts should be stated clearly.

B. I understand why the tone concerned you. I should not have inferred your family's priorities. The attendance record shows late arrivals, but it does not establish your intentions or the reason.

C. Would Tuesday at eight forty-five suit your availability? That is a proposed time, not a confirmed appointment. If it does not work, please tell me so we can discuss another arrangement.

D. I will send a follow-up summary distinguishing those items. It should name the actions, responsible people, and any dates we actually agree, rather than presenting a suggestion as a settled commitment.

Report action status, ownership, and evidence without confusing completion with effectiveness or accreditation approval.

> Three completed actions are not a closed review
> Quality coordinator Amara and program director Hugh prepare a fictional internal review due on October 15. Its action plan has five actions. Actions 1, 2, and 3 have approved completion evidence. Action 4 is underway, with an assigned owner and an October 10 deadline. Action 5 has no assigned owner and no completion evidence. No outcome evaluation has yet established whether the completed actions improved learning. The team must report three of five actions complete, seek an owner and deadline for Action 5, and avoid presenting the internal review as an accreditation decision.

A. "The entire improvement plan is complete."

B. "Four actions complete because one has started."

C. "No actions have any evidence."

D. "Three actions complete; one underway; one unassigned."

2. What should the director decide about Action 5?

A. Declare completion because the review is approaching.

B. Delete it silently from the denominator.

C. Transfer accreditation authority to the action owner.

D. Assign an owner and deadline, without falsely marking it complete.

3. A colleague needs the term for this meaning: A group examining a program against relevant expectations. Which term fits?

A. action owner

B. evidence gap

C. closure criterion

D. review panel

4. Rebuild the exchange from "Three completed actions are not a closed review". Hugh: "Action Four has an October tenth deadline and an assigned owner. We can report that schedule without saying the work is already finished." Amara: [missing response] Hugh: "The fifth action has no owner at all. I do not want that lost in the notes, because nobody is currently accountable for moving it forward." Which response belongs in the gap?

A. That count describes an output, not the intended outcome measure. We need suitable evidence about the learning result. A convenient administrative count should not quietly replace the purpose of the improvement.

B. The correct completion evidence exists for three actions only. Three out of five is sixty percent. Counting the fourth would overstate progress before the action meets its closure requirements.

C. We need an action owner and an agreed deadline. The report should request that decision explicitly. Once assigned, the action remains open until the required work and evidence are completed.

D. Yes, describe it as underway. Keep its owner and deadline visible. A planned date gives readers useful context, but it does not become a completion date simply because it is approaching.

LESSON 08 / BUDGET, STAFFING, AND INSTITUTIONAL PRIORITIES

Compare staffing options using capacity, full cost, displaced work, and authorization status.

One more class still leaves four learners waiting

Operations manager Kiran and principal Elise consider one extra class for a waiting list of 24 learners. The class cap is 20, so one class would leave four learners waiting. Option A reallocates an existing qualified teacher for four weekly teaching hours, removing four weekly tutoring hours; it has no additional direct staffing charge. Option B uses confirmed available, qualified temporary support at an all-inclusive cost of $4,800 against an uncommitted $5,000 budget, preserving tutoring. Both options meet room and timetable requirements. Funding approval is pending. The stated priority is preserving tutoring while adding capacity.

People: Kiran, Operations manager; Elise, Principal.

A. Twenty-four
B. Four
C. Zero
D. Twenty

2. What does Option A displace?

A. The entire waiting list
B. A confirmed temporary contract
C. Four weekly tutoring hours
D. All classroom teaching

3. Which option matches the stated priority within the supplied budget?

A. Neither, because $4,800 exceeds $5,000
B. Both automatically approved
C. Option B, subject to funding approval
D. Option A with no tutoring impact

Kiran: [missing response] Elise: "We have five thousand uncommitted dollars. Please state the remaining amount, rather than saying the cost is approximately within budget." Which response belongs in the gap?

A. Its all-inclusive cost is four thousand eight hundred dollars. The person is qualified and available, and both options meet the room and timetable requirements. Those readiness checks are confirmed.

B. The budget headroom is two hundred dollars. Five thousand minus four thousand eight hundred leaves that amount. The option fits the supplied budget, although fitting it does not authorize spending.

C. Exactly. Funding approval remains a decision condition. We can recommend the option and describe readiness, but we must keep the appointment unconfirmed until the authorized decision is made.

D. The class cap is twenty. One class adds twenty places and leaves four learners waiting. Neither staffing option changes that limit, so we should not describe either as clearing the list.

Answers and explanations, page 161

One useful distinction

Option B costs $4,800 against $5,000 available, leaving $200 of budget headroom. The all-inclusive cost and availability are supplied facts. Staying within budget does not itself grant funding approval or authorize a commitment.

One more class still leaves four learners waiting

Return to the case

Operations manager Kiran and principal Elise consider one extra class for a waiting list of 24 learners. The class cap is 20, so one class would leave four learners waiting. Option A reallocates an existing qualified teacher for four weekly teaching hours, removing four weekly tutoring hours; it has no additional direct staffing charge. Option B uses confirmed available, qualified temporary support at an all-inclusive cost of $4,800 against an uncommitted $5,000 budget, preserving tutoring. Both options meet room and timetable requirements. Funding approval is pending. The stated priority is preserving tutoring while adding capacity.

Choose one answer per question. Use the case facts and keep any uncertainty or limits intact.

1. Which recommendation is best supported?

A. Promise all waiting learners immediate places.

B. Approve spending solely because it fits the budget.

C. Describe Option A as identical to Option B.

D. Recommend Option B to preserve tutoring, subject to approval, while acknowledging four learners still waiting.

2. What is still required before a staffing commitment?

A. Deleting the tutoring impact

B. Funding approval

C. Recalculating twenty-four minus twenty as zero

D. Assuming a room conflict despite confirmed feasibility

Listen for the distinction

Repeat turns 9-14, distinguishing a budget balance from spending authorization.

Show what an option displaces

A proposal with no additional charge can still reduce another service. Name that effect without dismissing budget constraints. A recommendation is more useful when it states the priority served, the remaining capacity gap, and the approval still required.

F Say it / transfer to a new case

Budget room does not equal approval

An extra class has 18 places for 22 waiting learners. Qualified temporary support is available for an all-inclusive $3,600 against $4,000 uncommitted. It preserves existing tutoring, but spending approval is pending.

Complete the four gaps. With a partner, read alternate roles, then switch. Studying alone, read both roles and pause before each response.

Rebuild the exchange

Choose the missing response. Read the completed three-turn exchange aloud, changing roles on the second reading.

1. Rebuild the exchange from "One more class still leaves four learners waiting". Elise: "Then Option B meets the tutoring priority more closely, while Option A reduces that service. Both add the same twenty places and fit the practical timetable." Kiran: [missing response] Elise: "Before families hear about an extra class, the message needs to say twenty places, not twenty-four. What happens to the remaining four is still unresolved." Which response belongs in the gap?

A. Keep that unmet demand visible. The proposal adds capacity without resolving every request. Any further provision would need its own feasible plan and authorization rather than being implied by this decision.

B. The class cap is twenty. One class adds twenty places and leaves four learners waiting. Neither staffing option changes that limit, so we should not describe either as clearing the list.

C. That supports the staffing business case for Option B. The recommendation follows our agreed priority and facts, not a general claim that temporary staffing is always better than using existing staff.

D. I will state those decision conditions explicitly. The recommended class can add twenty places and preserve tutoring for four thousand eight hundred dollars, subject to approval, with four learners still waiting.

Review 4 / Meaning and context

Use language from the lessons you have completed. Choose one answer per question.

> Case file
> Revisit "Accreditation and Program Review" and "Budget, Staffing, and Institutional Priorities". Choose precise terminology, then reconstruct the missing responses using both neighboring turns. The final two questions also revisit earlier conversations.

1. A colleague needs the term for this meaning: An institution's documented examination of its own performance. Which term fits?

A. unassigned
B. action plan
C. follow-up review
D. self-study

2. A colleague needs the term for this meaning: Confirmation that a person or resource can be scheduled. Which term fits?

A. direct cost
B. availability check
C. staffing business case
D. staffing allocation

3. Rebuild the exchange from "A route-planning task does not need an entire file". Dana: "The task is a pickup update, not a welfare or discipline review. I will state that purpose in the request." Yusuf: [missing response] Dana: "The roster would only show IDs and stops. Does removing the names change whether we need that approval?" Which response belongs in the gap?

A. Let us define the access scope for this task. Updating pickup assignments needs student IDs and assigned pickup stops. It does not require counseling notes, disciplinary history, or health information.
B. That supports purpose limitation. It also explains why the unrelated notes should be excluded. A narrower request helps us complete the legitimate work without exposing information the task does not need.
C. Refer it for an access review. Existing permissions may be too broad or outdated. We need that issue examined rather than using it to bypass the pending approval for this request.
D. The records owner must approve the fields, recipients, and access period. Your role explains the task, but it does not create unrestricted permission to receive every part of a student file.

Review 4 / Meaning and context / continued

4. Rebuild the exchange from "One more class still leaves four learners waiting". Elise: "The final paragraph should ask for the exact approval needed, state the full cost, and make clear that tutoring is preserved under the recommended option." Kiran: [missing response] Elise: "Please request approval. Do not confirm the appointment or change tutoring while the decision is pending." Which response belongs in the gap?

A. The class cap is twenty. One class adds twenty places and leaves four learners waiting. Neither staffing option changes that limit, so we should not describe either as clearing the list.

B. State the service trade-off in its own terms: four tutoring hours are lost each week. The brief does not price that loss. We should neither ignore it nor invent a dollar equivalent.

C. I will connect it to the institutional priority and record the two hundred dollars remaining. We should also state the capacity limit so the budget decision is not confused with a promise to all families.

D. But the reallocation removes four weekly tutoring hours. The teacher's time is not an unused resource. The proposal needs to show what is displaced, not just the absence of a new invoice.

The approved extra time is missing from the room booking

access arrangement

The access arrangement changes how this learner takes the examination, not the knowledge or marking standard assessed.

Farah: Yes. The approved access arrangement includes twenty-five percent extra working time. The room entry has the ordinary finish time instead.

implementation instructions

Implementation instructions tell the invigilator what to provide; unrelated assessment history is not needed for this operational handover.

Farah: They need the approved implementation instructions, not the whole support file. Use the restricted handover channel and include only what this examination requires.

working-time allowance

The working-time allowance is one hundred minutes here; the planned clock time must not silently shorten that entitlement after a delayed start.

Farah: Exactly. The working-time allowance is one hundred minutes. The invigilator follows the examination procedure for any disruption and records what happened.

rest break

A rest break pauses work under its own arrangements; it does not replace the approved additional working time.

Farah: No. Extra working time and a rest break are different arrangements. This plan specifies the former, and we cannot substitute the latter for scheduling convenience.

assessment demands

Assessment demands remain unchanged in this case; additional working time does not authorize removing questions or changing the marking standard.

Farah: Remove it. The assessment demands remain the same. The learner answers the same paper under the same marking criteria.

booking conflict

The booking conflict concerns the invigilator's overlapping commitments; it remains unresolved until suitable coverage is confirmed.

Farah: Yes. Keep that booking conflict visible until coverage is confirmed. Do not mark the arrangements ready just because the finish time has been corrected.

03 Jules: The standard paper is eighty minutes. So the additional time is twenty minutes, giving one hundred minutes altogether.

04 Farah: That is right. Starting at nine means a ten-forty finish, assuming the examination starts on time and there is no interruption.

05 Jules: Could the learner take those twenty minutes as a break in the middle instead? That might leave the invigilator's next booking intact.

06 Farah: No. Extra working time and a [2] _____ are different arrangements. This plan specifies the former, and we cannot substitute the latter for scheduling convenience.

07 Jules: Understood. I will extend the booking and ask the staffing coordinator to resolve the overlap. I have not confirmed a replacement invigilator yet.

08 Farah: Please check that before sending the final timetable. A room booking alone does not provide the required supervision through the finish.

09 Jules: The exam-room notice can show the start and finish. Does the invigilator also need the learner's full assessment history?

13 Jules: I will correct the note without changing the paper. Shall we check the learner's timetable privately as well?

14 Farah: Yes. They should know the room and expected finish before the day, without their individual arrangements being announced to the whole class.

15 Jules: If the start is delayed, staff will need to record the actual start rather than simply collecting everything at ten forty.

16 Farah: Exactly. The [5] _____ is one hundred minutes. The invigilator follows the examination procedure for any disruption and records what happened.

17 Jules: I will ask for confirmation of Room B and supervision through the full session, then replace the timetable entry.

18 Farah: Send me the revised handover so I can check it against the approved plan before it is issued.

The room capacity is twenty-four, below the class of twenty-eight; proximity does not make the room suitable.

Beth: Then the room capacity does not meet the class size. Room Two Oh Eight is available, accessible, and holds thirty-two.

The lesson pack supplies the planned teaching material and worked solutions, distinct from the attendance register or room assignment.

Beth: Include the lesson pack with the task sequence. Eli should not have to reconstruct the lesson from a worksheet title at the door.

attendance register

The attendance register identifies the learners in today's class and supports recording attendance, rather than relying on an outdated list.

Beth: Send the current attendance register. The room change should not result in attendance being marked against the wrong group.

A single current timetable means the approved current information is consistent across the notices and systems students and staff actually use.

Beth: Replace that notice. We need a single current timetable across the places people check, not conflicting instructions at opposite ends of the corridor.

The supplied quiz asks for definitions rather than the intended comparative judgment.

Return to the exercise, page 15

A3. When can the team make the proposed changes?

C. Before teaching begins and before draft approval

The brief places the course in a draft stage before instruction and approval.

Return to the exercise, page 15

D / Response choices

D1. Which assessment matches the intended outcome?

D. Compare the supplied sources using authorship and evidence, then justify the stronger source.

The correct task directly elicits comparison and justification against both required criteria.

Return to the exercise, page 19

D2. Which instructional change is needed?

D. Add guided source comparisons before the final assessment.

Learners need preparation in the performance that the intended assessment will require.

D3. A colleague needs the term for this meaning: An action word that identifies demonstrable performance. Which term fits?

C. observable verb

A Not here. source reliability: The extent to which a source merits trust for a purpose. The usual combination is "assess source reliability".

B Not here. practice task: An activity preparing learners for a target performance. The usual combination is "sequence practice tasks".

C Correct. observable verb: An action word that identifies demonstrable performance. The usual combination is "choose an observable verb".

D Not here. summative assessment: Evidence used to judge achievement at a designated point. The usual combination is "plan summative assessment".

Return to the exercise, page 19

D4. Rebuild the exchange from "A topic list is not a learning outcome". Pavel: "I would keep the definitions as a starter quiz. Could we use them to check the vocabulary before students tackle the sources?" Nia: [missing response] Pavel: "Our lessons practice definitions too. Changing only the final assessment would confront learners with a comparison task they had not practiced." Which response belongs in the gap?

B. Certainly. The issue is alignment, not whether definitions matter. The outcome, classroom practice, and assessment should reinforce the same performance, with vocabulary serving that performance rather than replacing it.

A Not here. This line belongs to turn 8, after Pavel says: "Our lessons practice definitions too. Changing only the final assessment would confront learners with a comparison task they had not practiced." It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

B Correct. This is Nia's response in turn 6. It connects Pavel's preceding point with Pavel's follow-up. Alignment requires the outcome, instructional practice, and assessment to support the same intended learner performance.

C Not here. This line belongs to turn 2, after Pavel says: "The draft curriculum lists media literacy, and the quiz is ready. Before we approve it, can we state what learners must actually do with the material?" It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

D Not here. This line belongs to turn 18, after Pavel says: "This is still a draft, so we can revise before teaching starts. I will check that the lesson sequence, task instructions, and scoring guidance all match." It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

E / Conversation

1. learning outcome

Turn 2. The learning outcome specifies the observable source-comparison performance, rather than merely naming the media-literacy topic.

2. recall

Turn 4. Recall demonstrates retrieval of definitions, which is useful but does not itself demonstrate comparative evaluation.

3. alignment

Turn 6. Alignment requires the outcome, instructional practice, and assessment to support the same intended learner performance.

4. practice task

Turn 8. A practice task prepares learners for the comparison and justification they will later need to demonstrate independently.

5. assessment criterion

Turn 10. An assessment criterion identifies a dimension of performance to judge, here authorship or supporting evidence.

6. rubric

Turn 12. The rubric describes performance against the required criteria, providing a clearer basis for consistent scoring than an undefined impression.

7. descriptor

Turn 14. A descriptor explains a performance level so teachers do not rely on different unstated interpretations of quality.

8. exemplar

Turn 16. An exemplar makes the expected performance visible and supports discussion of how criteria are applied.

9. curriculum map

Turn 18. The curriculum map records the links between outcomes, teaching experiences, and assessment so the revision remains traceable.

02 / Answers and explanations / continued

10. evaluation

Turn 20. Evaluation is the supported judgment against criteria; it is more than recalling terms or selecting a source without reasons.

Return to the conversation, page 21

F / Accuracy and scope

F1. Which proposed scoring feature is unsupported?

A. Awarding marks only for response length

Length alone is not one of the agreed criteria and does not establish sound evaluation.

Return to the exercise, page 24

F2. Which statement preserves an appropriate role for definitions?

B. Definitions can support comparison but are insufficient evidence of the complete outcome.

Factual knowledge can enable higher-level work without demonstrating that the work occurred.

Return to the exercise, page 24

F / Guided speaking

1. recall

Coordinator: The quiz currently tests recall.

Turn 1. Asking for definitions measures retrieval rather than the required classification with reasons.

2. classification

Teacher: The revised task must include classification.

Turn 2. The stated outcome requires sorting each supplied expense into a category.

3. explanation

Coordinator: Each choice also needs an explanation.

Turn 3. The outcome requires reasons for classifications, not only category labels.

4. teaching begins

Teacher: We should revise practice and assessment before teaching begins.

Turn 4. The course is still a draft, allowing alignment before students encounter instruction.

F / Rebuild the exchange

1. Rebuild the exchange from "A topic list is not a learning outcome". Pavel: "The draft says sufficient evidence. One teacher expects a quotation; another expects an explanation. We need to settle that before anyone marks it." Nia: [missing response] Pavel: "Could we use a sample response during teaching? Students might understand the distinction more quickly if they could see how a reason connects to a judgment." Which response belongs in the gap?

B. Write a clear descriptor for each level. It should distinguish naming a feature from explaining why that feature strengthens or weakens a source for this purpose.

A Not here. This line belongs to turn 4, after Pavel says: "At the moment the quiz asks for definitions of reliability, evidence, and author. Those questions are clear, but do they show the performance we agreed?" It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

B Correct. This is Nia's response in turn 14. It connects Pavel's preceding point with Pavel's follow-up. A descriptor explains a performance level so teachers do not rely on different unstated interpretations of quality.

C Not here. This line belongs to turn 12, after Pavel says: "Some teachers suggest one overall mark for sounding persuasive. That seems hard to explain consistently without mentioning the two required criteria." It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

D Not here. This line belongs to turn 10, after Pavel says: "For the final task, I suggest supplying both sources and asking for a choice with reasons under the two named headings. That keeps the evidence focused." It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

03 / Answers and explanations

A / Read the situation

A1. What does the attendance record show?

C. Four late arrivals in ten school days

The record identifies late arrivals, not absences, completed support, or their cause.

Return to the exercise, page 29

A2. How much check-in delivery is documented?

B. Two of ten planned check-ins

Two are documented; missing records for eight do not prove either delivery or non-delivery.

Return to the exercise, page 29

A3. What conclusion is premature?

C. The fully delivered intervention failed.

The evidence does not establish full delivery, so it cannot support that specific failure claim.

Return to the exercise, page 29

D / Response choices

D1. Which sentence accurately summarizes implementation?

C. "Two check-ins are documented; eight have no delivery record."

The available log supports two contacts and leaves the remaining delivery unverified.

Return to the exercise, page 33

D2. Which question is most useful before evaluating effectiveness?

C. Was the planned support delivered as intended?

The missing delivery evidence must be resolved; a written target or an easier closure rule cannot establish implementation.

D3. A colleague needs the term for this meaning: Documentation of presence, absence, or arrival. Which term fits?

A. attendance record

A Correct. attendance record: Documentation of presence, absence, or arrival. The usual combination is "verify the attendance record".

B Not here. measurable target: A specified outcome that can be checked. The usual combination is "agree a measurable target".

C Not here. barrier: A condition making participation or attendance harder. The usual combination is "explore a reported barrier".

D Not here. delivery log: A record of whether and when support occurred. The usual combination is "maintain a delivery log".

Return to the exercise, page 33

D4. Rebuild the exchange from "A plan on paper is not a delivered intervention". Theo: "I will remove failed intervention from the minutes. Can we check with the staff who covered the other mornings before the review?" Mina: [missing response] Theo: "Colleagues suspect transport, but neither the learner nor the guardian has confirmed a cause." Which response belongs in the gap?

B. Exactly. We need to establish implementation before describing a fully delivered intervention as ineffective. Otherwise a gap in delivery or documentation could be mistaken for evidence that the support approach cannot work.

A Not here. This line belongs to turn 4, after Theo says: "The plan proposed ten contacts over two weeks. The recovered log records only two completed check-ins." It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

B Correct. This is Mina's response in turn 6. It connects Theo's preceding point with Theo's follow-up. Implementation concerns whether the planned support was actually put into practice before its effectiveness is assessed.

C Not here. This line belongs to turn 14, after Theo says: "I will keep late arrivals separate from full-day absences. Combining them would change the measure and mislead the comparison." It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

D Not here. This line belongs to turn 8, after Theo says: "Colleagues suspect transport, but neither the learner nor the guardian has confirmed a cause." It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

E / Conversation

1. baseline

Turn 2. The baseline is the starting attendance measure, here four late arrivals in ten school days, not an explanation of their cause.

2. delivery log

Turn 4. The delivery log documents two check-ins while leaving the other eight without evidence of delivery.

3. implementation

Turn 6. Implementation concerns whether the planned support was actually put into practice before its effectiveness is assessed.

4. barrier

Turn 8. A barrier is a possible obstacle to attendance that needs clarification, not an established cause merely because staff suspect it.

5. case coordinator

Turn 10. The case coordinator organizes the support actions and record, making responsibility clear rather than leaving it with an undefined group.

6. measurable target

Turn 12. A measurable target states a checkable outcome, here zero or one late arrival during a defined ten-day period.

7. progress monitoring

Turn 14. Progress monitoring requires repeated, comparable observations so the team can assess change over the planned period.

8. implementation fidelity

Turn 16. Implementation fidelity asks how closely actual delivery matched the agreed plan, separately from the learner's observed outcome.

9. outcome evidence

Turn 18. Outcome evidence records the observed result but does not alone establish which action caused it.

10. review point

Turn 20. The review point sets when the team will examine the new delivery and attendance evidence rather than leaving the plan open-ended.

Return to the conversation, page 35

03 / Answers and explanations / continued

F / Accuracy and scope

F1. What should the new record track?

D. Both check-in delivery and late arrivals during the same ten-day period

Recording delivery and outcomes together makes the implementation and progress review more informative.

Return to the exercise, page 39

F2. If the next period has one late arrival, what is supported?

A. The local numerical target was met for that ten-day period.

One late arrival meets the stated target but does not prove causation or permanent change.

Return to the exercise, page 39

F / Guided speaking

1. four

Coordinator: Documented check-ins total four.

Turn 1. The delivery log confirms four contacts, not all six scheduled contacts.

2. unverified

Teacher: Delivery of the other two is unverified.

Turn 2. The missing records establish uncertainty, not definite delivery or non-delivery.

3. met

Coordinator: The numerical attendance target was met.

Turn 3. One late arrival is within the stated limit of no more than one.

4. causation

Teacher: The result alone does not prove causation.

Turn 4. The observed change does not isolate support from other possible contributing factors.

F / Rebuild the exchange

1. Rebuild the exchange from "A plan on paper is not a delivered intervention". Theo: "I will keep late arrivals separate from full-day absences. Combining them would change the measure and mislead the comparison." Mina: [missing response] Theo: "At the review, should we first check whether the planned contacts occurred and then look at attendance? That would keep delivery and outcome from being confused." Which response belongs in the gap?

C. Use the same definitions for progress monitoring. Track the next ten school days, alongside support delivery. A count without the observation period would be difficult to compare fairly with the current record.

A Not here. This line belongs to turn 6, after Theo says: "I will remove failed intervention from the minutes. Can we check with the staff who covered the other mornings before the review?" It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

B Not here. This line belongs to turn 4, after Theo says: "The plan proposed ten contacts over two weeks. The recovered log records only two completed check-ins." It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

A / Read the situation

A1. Which part of the email is unsupported?

C. The claim that the family failed to prioritize punctuality

The attendance facts do not establish the family's priorities or motivation.

A2. How should the bus issue be described now?

D. A delay reported by the guardian

The guardian reports a delay, but the brief does not establish it as a verified cause.

C. The preferred language and interpreter availability

The brief explicitly leaves both the language preference and interpreter availability unconfirmed.

D3. A colleague needs the term for this meaning: Language implying blame before it is established. Which term fits?

D. accusatory wording

A Not here. verified fact: Information confirmed by the relevant evidence. The usual combination is "retain verified facts".

B Not here. agenda: The planned topics or purpose of a meeting. The usual combination is "confirm the agenda".

C Not here. two-way communication: An exchange allowing both parties to contribute. The usual combination is "support two-way communication".

D Correct. accusatory wording: Language implying blame before it is established. The usual combination is "remove accusatory wording".

Return to the exercise, page 46

D4. Rebuild the exchange from "Repair a message that sounded accusatory". Ms. Lin: "Please correct that sentence. I am not disputing the three late marks; I am disputing what you said they meant." Rosa: [missing response] Ms. Lin: "That is fair. What is the purpose of the meeting? The original email left me wondering whether a penalty had already been decided." Which response belongs in the gap?

D. I am correcting the unsupported inference, not removing accurate attendance information. The verified record shows three late arrivals in the last five school days. Both parts should be stated clearly.

A Not here. This line belongs to turn 8, after Ms. Lin says: "That is fair. What is the purpose of the meeting? The original email left me wondering whether a penalty had already been decided." It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

B Not here. This line belongs to turn 2, after Ms. Lin says: "Your email said we failed to prioritize punctuality. It sounded as though the school judged us without asking what happened." It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

C Not here. This line belongs to turn 12, after Ms. Lin says: "I will check and reply. I may also need language support. I can discuss ordinary school matters, but I do not want to miss important details." It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

D Correct. This is Rosa's response in turn 6. It connects Ms. Lin's preceding point with Ms. Lin's follow-up. The inference concerns the family's priorities, a conclusion that does not follow from the attendance count alone.

Return to the exercise, page 46

E / Conversation

1. tone

Turn 2. Tone concerns the attitude conveyed by the email, which here implied blame unsupported by the attendance record.

04 / Answers and explanations / continued

2. reported concern

Turn 4. A reported concern preserves the guardian's account while avoiding an unsupported claim that the cause has been independently established.

3. inference

Turn 6. The inference concerns the family's priorities, a conclusion that does not follow from the attendance count alone.

4. agenda

Turn 8. The agenda is to understand barriers and agree support, not to announce a predetermined penalty.

5. availability

Turn 10. Availability concerns whether the guardian can attend the proposed time, which has not yet been confirmed.

6. preferred language

Turn 12. The preferred language must be established before an appropriate interpreter request can be arranged.

7. meeting invitation

Turn 14. The meeting invitation records the proposed time, purpose, and unresolved arrangements so the guardian can respond accurately.

8. two-way communication

Turn 16. Two-way communication gives the guardian a genuine opportunity to contribute rather than treating the meeting as a one-sided announcement.

9. follow-up summary

Turn 18. A follow-up summary records actual agreements and unresolved points without inventing consent or completion.

10. correction

Turn 20. The correction removes the unsupported claim about priorities while preserving the verified attendance facts and next steps.

A useful summary separates genuine agreements from unresolved arrangements and unsupported assumptions.

3. facts

Administrator: The two missed appointments remain recorded facts.

Having it in advance would help me check the facts and prepare the information I need." Rosa: [missing response] Ms. Lin: "Could we start with the journey to school? I can explain where the delay happens, and then we can look at what might help." Which response belongs in the gap?

B. Yes. I will send a corrected meeting invitation stating the attendance facts, the purpose, and the proposed time. It will identify anything still awaiting confirmation, including the language-support arrangement.

A Not here. This line belongs to turn 16, after Ms. Lin says: "Could we start with the journey to school? I can explain where the delay happens, and then we can look at what might help." It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

B Correct. This is Rosa's response in turn 14. It connects Ms. Lin's preceding point with Ms. Lin's follow-up. The meeting invitation records the proposed time, purpose, and unresolved arrangements so the guardian can respond accurately.

A1. What is the maximum rubric total?

C. Twelve

Three criteria scored up to four each produce a maximum total of twelve.

D3. A colleague needs the term for this meaning: The permitted interval of marks. Which term fits?

D. score range

A Not here. rationale: The reason for a judgment or decision. The usual combination is "explain the scoring rationale".

B Not here. scoring discrepancy: A difference between judgments of the same work. The usual combination is "investigate a scoring discrepancy".

C Not here. score adjustment: A change to a recorded mark. The usual combination is "document a score adjustment".

D Correct. score range: The permitted interval of marks. The usual combination is "confirm the score range".

D4. Rebuild the exchange from "The same paper, two different rubric readings". Sam: "Looking at the paper, both examples are relevant, and each has a sentence explaining its connection. The response is concise, but those elements are present." Erin: [missing response] Sam: "Eight and a half would split the difference. But I would still be marking short answers down tomorrow, so that would not fix this." Which response belongs in the gap?

A. Then the rationale supports level three on this criterion. Concision does not remove the evidence. We should avoid rewarding additional words merely because they create an impression of greater effort.

A Correct. This is Erin's response in turn 6. It connects Sam's preceding point with Sam's follow-up. The rationale must connect the judgment to the supplied descriptor and work, not to an unstated preference for longer answers.

B Not here. This line belongs to turn 14, after Sam says: "I may have applied the same length expectation elsewhere. We should identify affected work rather than assume this is isolated." It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

1. criterion

Turn 2. A criterion identifies the dimension being judged, so the discussion must locate the disagreement rather than compare totals alone.

2. descriptor

Turn 4. The descriptor specifies the requirements for a performance level, here two relevant examples and an explanation connecting each to the claim.

3. rationale

Turn 6. The rationale must connect the judgment to the supplied descriptor and work, not to an unstated preference for longer answers.

4. scoring discrepancy

Turn 8. The scoring discrepancy arises from incompatible interpretations, which an average would conceal rather than resolve.

5. anchor paper

Turn 10. An anchor paper is a shared reference sample that helps teachers apply a scoring level consistently.

6. score adjustment

Turn 12. A score adjustment must follow a complete relevant review; resolving one criterion does not establish the final total.

7. affected cohort

Turn 14. The affected cohort consists of work potentially influenced by the same interpretation and needing review, not automatic score increases.

8. feedback comment

Turn 16. A feedback comment should explain performance against the actual criterion so learners are not directed toward an unstated requirement.

9. audit trail

Turn 18. An audit trail records what changed and why, supporting transparent review rather than silently replacing marks.

We should identify affected work rather than assume this is isolated." Erin: [missing response] Sam: "I wrote too short in the margin. I should replace that comment as well; otherwise the student will think we want extra words." Which response belongs in the gap?

D. Review the affected cohort under the institution's process. Some judgments may remain unchanged after review; others may need correction. We should not apply a blanket increase without examining the work.

A Not here. This line belongs to turn 6, after Sam says: "Looking at the paper, both examples are relevant, and each has a sentence explaining its connection. The response is concise, but those elements are present." It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

Yusuf: [missing response] Dana: "I will name the two route planners in the request. If another colleague covers a shift, we will check their access rather than forward the list." Which response belongs in the gap?

C. The records owner must approve the fields, recipients, and access period. Your role explains the task, but it does not create unrestricted permission to receive every part of a student file.

B Not here. This line belongs to turn 16, after Dana says: "The old folder still contains more information than this task needs. Should I assume someone approved that earlier and continue using it until the new list arrives?" It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

C Correct. This is Yusuf's response in turn 6. It connects Dana's preceding point with Dana's follow-up. The records owner is the designated authority for approving the fields, recipients, and access period under the fictional procedure.

D Not here. This line belongs to turn 10, after Dana says: "The task is a pickup update, not a welfare or discipline review. I will state that purpose in the request." It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

E / Conversation

1. access scope

Turn 2. Access scope identifies the information and actions actually needed, instead of treating an existing folder as permission for every record.

2. roster

Turn 4. The roster is the limited list of student IDs and pickup stops that supports the stated task.

3. records owner

Turn 6. The records owner is the designated authority for approving the fields, recipients, and access period under the fictional procedure.

4. authorized recipient

Turn 8. An authorized recipient is approved for the specified information and purpose, rather than included through an indefinite team-wide request.

5. purpose limitation

Turn 10. Purpose limitation keeps use tied to the authorized pickup task instead of allowing unrelated uses of the same information.

6. student identifier

Turn 12. A student identifier can link the roster to a particular learner and is not automatically anonymous merely because it is not a name.

7. retention schedule

Turn 14. The retention schedule governs how long records are kept, a different question from how long a recipient may access them.

8. access review

Turn 16. An access review checks whether existing permissions remain appropriate; their existence alone is not proof of authorization for this use.

9. redisclosure

Turn 18. Redisclosure is further sharing by a recipient and must remain within the applicable approved conditions.

10. release authorization

Turn 20. Release authorization is the required approval still needed before the prepared roster can be disclosed.

F / Accuracy and scope

F1. What must be approved under this fictional procedure?

B. Fields, recipients, and access period

The brief requires approval of all three named elements; a secure channel or a partially defined scope does not replace it.

Return to the exercise, page 79

F2. Which statement about access expiry is accurate?

D. It does not by itself determine record retention or deletion.

The period of permitted access and the record-retention schedule address different decisions.

Return to the exercise, page 79

F / Guided speaking

1. assigned rooms

Officer: The relevant fields are IDs and assigned rooms.

Turn 1. The stated examination task needs the room assignment, not unrelated records.

2. excluded

Coordinator: The medical notes should be excluded.

Turn 2. Medical notes are not needed for the narrowly defined task in this scenario.

3. pending

Officer: The required approval remains pending.

Turn 3. The brief states that the records owner has not yet approved release.

4. released

Coordinator: A prepared list must not yet be released.

Turn 4. Preparation does not replace the required authorization before disclosure.

F / Rebuild the exchange

1. Rebuild the exchange from "A route-planning task does not need an entire file". Dana: "I will include the proposed access period. Once that ends, should the source records be deleted, or does the period refer only to our access?" Yusuf: [missing response] Dana: "The old folder still contains more information than this task needs. Should I assume someone approved that earlier and continue using it until the new list arrives?" Which response belongs in the gap?

C. It concerns access. The retention schedule determines how records are kept under the applicable rules. Do not turn an access end date into an unauthorized instruction to destroy source records.

A Not here. This line belongs to turn 18, after Dana says: "After approval, I can use the approved channel and avoid sending the roster to colleagues who are not included. Is that the right boundary?" It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

B Not here. This line belongs to turn 2, after Dana says: "I need complete student files for the pickup-assignment update. The old shared folder would be convenient, and I already have access to it." It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

C Correct. This is Yusuf's response in turn 14. It connects Dana's preceding point with Dana's follow-up. The retention schedule governs how long records are kept, a different question from how long a recipient may access them.

D Not here. This line belongs to turn 6, after Dana says: "Who decides? I assumed my transport role allowed me to receive anything about students on the routes." It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

A / Read the situation

A1. What share of actions is complete?

A. Three of five, or 60%

Three actions have approved completion evidence out of five total actions.

Return to the exercise, page 84

A2. Which action lacks an owner?

B. Action 5

The brief identifies Action 5 as unassigned while Action 4 has an owner.

Return to the exercise, page 84

A3. What remains unestablished about the completed actions?

D. Whether they improved learning outcomes

Completion is documented, but the brief states that outcome effectiveness has not been established.

Return to the exercise, page 84

D / Response choices

D1. Which headline accurately reports progress?

D. "Three actions complete; one underway; one unassigned."

The correct statement preserves all three status categories supplied in the brief.

Return to the exercise, page 88

D2. What should the director decide about Action 5?

D. Assign an owner and deadline, without falsely marking it complete.

The missing ownership and timing need a decision, while completion remains unsupported.

D3. A colleague needs the term for this meaning: A group examining a program against relevant expectations. Which term fits?

D. review panel

A Not here. action owner: The person accountable for advancing an assigned action. The usual combination is "assign an action owner".

B Not here. evidence gap: Missing support for a claim or required conclusion. The usual combination is "identify an evidence gap".

C Not here. closure criterion: A condition required before an item is closed. The usual combination is "verify closure criteria".

D Correct. review panel: A group examining a program against relevant expectations. The usual combination is "brief the review panel".

Return to the exercise, page 88

D4. Rebuild the exchange from "Three completed actions are not a closed review". Hugh: "Action Four has an October tenth deadline and an assigned owner. We can report that schedule without saying the work is already finished." Amara: [missing response] Hugh: "The fifth action has no owner at all. I do not want that lost in the notes, because nobody is currently accountable for moving it forward." Which response belongs in the gap?

D. Yes, describe it as underway. Keep its owner and deadline visible. A planned date gives readers useful context, but it does not become a completion date simply because it is approaching.

A Not here. This line belongs to turn 14, after Hugh says: "We can count the revised documents now. Would that belong in the completion column rather than the learning-results column?" It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

B Not here. This line belongs to turn 4, after Hugh says: "Someone counted Action Four as complete because work has started. That makes the slide show eighty percent." It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

C Not here. This line belongs to turn 8, after Hugh says: "The fifth action has no owner at all. I do not want that lost in the notes, because nobody is currently accountable for moving it forward." It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

D Correct. This is Amara's response in turn 6. It connects Hugh's preceding point with Hugh's follow-up. Underway means started but not complete, preserving the distinction between progress and verified closure.

E / Conversation

1. status report

Turn 2. The status report should distinguish completed, underway, and unassigned work rather than hide the differences behind a vague label.

2. completion evidence

Turn 4. Completion evidence is required before an action is counted as finished; having an owner and starting work are insufficient.

3. underway

Turn 6. Underway means started but not complete, preserving the distinction between progress and verified closure.

4. action owner

Turn 8. The action owner supplies accountability for progressing the task; assigning one does not itself complete the action.

5. evidence register

Turn 10. The evidence register connects each completion claim with its supporting record so reviewers can verify the stated status.

6. effectiveness

Turn 12. Effectiveness concerns whether intended results were achieved, which has not been established by the supplied completion evidence.

7. outcome measure

Turn 14. The outcome measure should address the result sought, rather than substitute a convenient count of revised documents.

8. evidence gap

Turn 16. The evidence gap concerns missing support for outcome effectiveness as well as the unfinished action, and should remain visible.

9. decision authority

Turn 18. The decision authority for accreditation is distinct from the team preparing an internal progress report.

07 / Answers and explanations / continued

10. follow-up review

Turn 20. The follow-up review checks unresolved actions and outcome evidence rather than treating submission of the current report as completion of all work.

Return to the conversation, page 90

F / Accuracy and scope

F1. Which evidence would address effectiveness rather than mere completion?

B. A suitable evaluation of whether the actions improved the intended outcomes

Effectiveness concerns the intended result, which requires appropriate outcome evidence rather than presentation or scheduling.

Return to the exercise, page 94

F2. What does the October 15 date represent?

B. The internal review submission deadline

The brief assigns October 15 to internal submission, not external recognition or outcome proof.

F / Guided speaking

1. five

Coordinator: The completed-action count is five.

Turn 1. Only the five actions with approved completion evidence are counted as complete.

2. 62.5

Director: The completion rate is 62.5 percent.

Turn 2. Five divided by eight equals sixty-two point five percent.

3. unassigned

Coordinator: The action without an owner is unassigned.

Turn 3. Unassigned describes the missing accountability, not completed or underway work.

4. not confirmed

Director: External accreditation is not confirmed.

Turn 4. The brief states that no external accreditation decision has been issued.

F / Rebuild the exchange

1. Rebuild the exchange from "Three completed actions are not a closed review". Hugh: "We can count the revised documents now. Would that belong in the completion column rather than the learning-results column?" Amara: [missing response] Hugh: "The internal submission will therefore show sixty percent complete, the October tenth action still underway, and the unassigned action needing a decision." Which response belongs in the gap?

D. That count describes an output, not the intended outcome measure. We need suitable evidence about the learning result. A convenient administrative count should not quietly replace the purpose of the improvement.

A Not here. This line belongs to turn 6, after Hugh says: "Action Four has an October tenth deadline and an assigned owner. We can report that schedule without saying the work is already finished." It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

B Not here. This line belongs to turn 4, after Hugh says: "Someone counted Action Four as complete because work has started. That makes the slide show eighty percent." It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

C Not here. This line belongs to turn 8, after Hugh says: "The fifth action has no owner at all. I do not want that lost in the notes, because nobody is currently accountable for moving it forward." It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

D Correct. This is Amara's response in turn 14. It connects Hugh's preceding point with Hugh's follow-up. The outcome measure should address the result sought, rather than substitute a convenient count of revised documents.

A / Read the situation

A1. How many learners would remain waiting after one extra class?

B. Four

The waiting list has twenty-four learners, while the extra class has only twenty places.

Return to the exercise, page 97

A2. What does Option A displace?

C. Four weekly tutoring hours

The existing teacher's four teaching hours replace four weekly tutoring hours.

Return to the exercise, page 97

A3. Which option matches the stated priority within the supplied budget?

C. Option B, subject to funding approval

Option B preserves tutoring and fits the budget, but approval remains pending.

D1. What is the budget headroom under Option B?

C. $200

Subtracting the all-inclusive cost of four thousand eight hundred from five thousand leaves two hundred.

D3. A colleague needs the term for this meaning: An hour of direct teaching or scheduled learner contact. Which term fits?

A. contact hour

A Correct. contact hour: An hour of direct teaching or scheduled learner contact. The usual combination is "calculate contact hours".

B Not here. budget headroom: The amount remaining within an available budget. The usual combination is "calculate budget headroom".

C Not here. class cap: The maximum permitted class size in the stated setting. The usual combination is "respect the class cap".

D Not here. timetable feasibility: Whether a proposal fits the available schedule. The usual combination is "check timetable feasibility".

Return to the exercise, page 101

D4. Rebuild the exchange from "One more class still leaves four learners waiting". Elise: "Our priority is preserving tutoring while adding places. What is the full cost of temporary support?" Kiran: [missing response] Elise: "We have five thousand uncommitted dollars. Please state the remaining amount, rather than saying the cost is approximately within budget." Which response belongs in the gap?

A. Its all-inclusive cost is four thousand eight hundred dollars. The person is qualified and available, and both options meet the room and timetable requirements. Those readiness checks are confirmed.

A Correct. This is Kiran's response in turn 6. It connects Elise's preceding point with Elise's follow-up. The supplied all-inclusive cost is four thousand eight hundred dollars, not an hourly rate or an incomplete estimate.

B Not here. This line belongs to turn 8, after Elise says: "We have five thousand uncommitted dollars. Please state the remaining amount, rather than saying the cost is approximately within budget." It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

C Not here. This line belongs to turn 10, after Elise says: "Good. Funding approval is still pending. We should not tell the temporary teacher that the appointment is confirmed while the decision is unresolved." It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

D Not here. This line belongs to turn 2, after Elise says: "Twenty-four learners are waiting. The proposal for one additional class needs to explain staffing and remaining demand clearly." It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

Return to the exercise, page 101

E / Conversation

1. class cap

Turn 2. The class cap limits the new class to twenty learners, so it cannot accommodate the entire twenty-four-person waiting list.

2. reallocation

Turn 4. Reallocation moves existing staff time from tutoring to the new class, creating a service loss as well as extra teaching capacity.

3. all-inclusive cost

Turn 6. The supplied all-inclusive cost is four thousand eight hundred dollars, not an hourly rate or an incomplete estimate.

4. budget headroom

Turn 8. Budget headroom is the two hundred dollars remaining after subtracting the stated cost from the uncommitted budget.

5. Funding approval

Turn 10. Funding approval is the authorization still needed before a commitment, separate from available funds and operational readiness.

6. service trade-off

Turn 12. The service trade-off is the loss of four weekly tutoring hours; the brief does not assign that loss a dollar value.

7. staffing business case

Turn 14. The staffing business case connects the recommendation to cost, capacity, feasibility, and the stated institutional priority.

8. unmet demand

Turn 16. Unmet demand is the remaining need not covered by the new class, here four learners still awaiting places.

9. institutional priority

Turn 18. The institutional priority is the supplied objective of preserving tutoring while adding capacity, which justifies the choice between otherwise feasible options.

10. decision conditions

Turn 20. Decision conditions define what must be authorized before the proposal proceeds, preventing a recommendation from being treated as a completed commitment.

Turn 2. Four thousand dollars minus three thousand six hundred leaves four hundred.

3. preserved

Manager: Existing tutoring would be preserved.

Turn 3. The supplied temporary-support option does not reallocate current tutoring hours.

4. pending

F / Rebuild the exchange

1. Rebuild the exchange from "One more class still leaves four learners waiting". Elise: "Then Option B meets the tutoring priority more closely, while Option A reduces that service. Both add the same twenty places and fit the practical timetable." Kiran: [missing response] Elise: "Before families hear about an extra class, the message needs to say twenty places, not twenty-four. What happens to the remaining four is still unresolved." Which response belongs in the gap?

C. That supports the staffing business case for Option B. The recommendation follows our agreed priority and facts, not a general claim that temporary staffing is always better than using existing staff.

A Not here. This line belongs to turn 16, after Elise says: "Before families hear about an extra class, the message needs to say twenty places, not twenty-four. What happens to the remaining four is still unresolved." It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

B Not here. This line belongs to turn 2, after Elise says: "Twenty-four learners are waiting. The proposal for one additional class needs to explain staffing and remaining demand clearly." It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

C Correct. This is Kiran's response in turn 14. It connects Elise's preceding point with Elise's follow-up. The staffing business case connects the recommendation to cost, capacity, feasibility, and the stated institutional priority.

3. Rebuild the exchange from "Eligible, but no place available yet". Mr. Ortiz: "I also noticed a review option. Can I ask for the lottery to be run again because we are disappointed with the result?" Leena: [missing response] Mr. Ortiz: "I would like to check the record first. How long do I have to request that review, and where should I find the precise instructions?" Which response belongs in the gap?

C. The local review examines a claimed factual error. It is not a second lottery. If you believe a fact in your daughter's decision record is wrong, identify it and provide supporting material.

A Not here. This line belongs to turn 14, after Mr. Ortiz says: "If I identify an incorrect fact, should I send a whole new application, or just explain the issue and attach the relevant evidence?" It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

B Not here. This line belongs to turn 6, after Mr. Ortiz says: "All right, so her application passed that stage. Where is she on the list, and should we keep looking for another place?" It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

C Correct. This is Leena's response in turn 10. It connects Mr. Ortiz's preceding point with Mr. Ortiz's follow-up. A factual error concerns an incorrect fact or record, which is the stated scope of this review process.

D Not here. This line belongs to turn 8, after Mr. Ortiz says: "Does fourth mean that four children would have to leave? I do not want to misunderstand the number and make plans the school cannot support." It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

4. Rebuild the exchange from "A topic list is not a learning outcome". Pavel: "This is still a draft, so we can revise before teaching starts. I will check that the lesson sequence, task instructions, and scoring guidance all match." Nia: [missing response] Pavel: "Our approval summary will say that learners compare two supplied sources, apply both criteria, and justify the stronger source. Definitions remain supporting knowledge, not the final evidence." Which response belongs in the gap?

B. Update the curriculum map as well. That will show where learners practice the comparison and where they demonstrate it, instead of leaving the revised quiz disconnected from the plan.

A Not here. This line belongs to turn 2, after Pavel says: "The draft curriculum lists media literacy, and the quiz is ready. Before we approve it, can we state what learners must actually do with the material?" It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

B Correct. This is Nia's response in turn 18. It connects Pavel's preceding point with Pavel's follow-up. The curriculum map records the links between outcomes, teaching experiences, and assessment so the revision remains traceable.

C Not here. This line belongs to turn 6, after Pavel says: "I would keep the definitions as a starter quiz. Could we use them to check the vocabulary before students tackle the sources?" It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

D Not here. This line belongs to turn 8, after Pavel says: "Our lessons practice definitions too. Changing only the final assessment would confront learners with a comparison task they had not practiced." It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

3. Rebuild the exchange from "A topic list is not a learning outcome". Pavel: "For the final task, I suggest supplying both sources and asking for a choice with reasons under the two named headings. That keeps the evidence focused." Nia: [missing response] Pavel: "Some teachers suggest one overall mark for sounding persuasive. That seems hard to explain consistently without mentioning the two required criteria." Which response belongs in the gap?

C. Yes. Each assessment criterion should be visible in the task and the scoring guidance. We should not reward a long response that never evaluates either source.

A Not here. This line belongs to turn 12, after Pavel says: "Some teachers suggest one overall mark for sounding persuasive. That seems hard to explain consistently without mentioning the two required criteria." It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

B Not here. This line belongs to turn 14, after Pavel says: "The draft says sufficient evidence. One teacher expects a quotation; another expects an explanation. We need to settle that before anyone marks it." It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

C Correct. This is Nia's response in turn 10. It connects Pavel's preceding point with Pavel's follow-up. An assessment criterion identifies a dimension of performance to judge, here authorship or supporting evidence.

D Not here. This line belongs to turn 4, after Pavel says: "At the moment the quiz asks for definitions of reliability, evidence, and author. Those questions are clear, but do they show the performance we agreed?" It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

Rosa: [missing response] Ms. Lin: "Thank you. I will confirm the proposed time and my language preference. I appreciate the correction without losing the discussion about the late arrivals." Which response belongs in the gap?

A. I will send a follow-up summary distinguishing those items. It should name the actions, responsible people, and any dates we actually agree, rather than presenting a suggestion as a settled commitment.

A Correct. This is Rosa's response in turn 18. It connects Ms. Lin's preceding point with Ms. Lin's follow-up. A follow-up summary records actual agreements and unresolved points without inventing consent or completion.

B Not here. This line belongs to turn 10, after Ms. Lin says: "Tuesday might work. Please give me an exact time so I can arrange the journey and check my work schedule." It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

Yusuf: [missing response] Dana: "I will submit the two fields, named recipients, and proposed period. Please prepare the roster for review, but hold release until the decision is recorded." Which response belongs in the gap?

C. Yes, including restrictions on redisclosure. Authorization to receive the list does not automatically authorize further distribution. Keep the approved audience and purpose attached to the information when you use it.

A Not here. This line belongs to turn 2, after Dana says: "I need complete student files for the pickup-assignment update. The old shared folder would be convenient, and I already have access to it." It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

B Not here. This line belongs to turn 6, after Dana says: "Who decides? I assumed my transport role allowed me to receive anything about students on the routes." It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

C Correct. This is Yusuf's response in turn 18. It connects Dana's preceding point with Dana's follow-up. Redisclosure is further sharing by a recipient and must remain within the applicable approved conditions.

D Not here. This line belongs to turn 14, after Dana says: "I will include the proposed access period. Once that ends, should the source records be deleted, or does the period refer only to our access?" It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

Review 4 / Explanations

Cumulative review

1. A colleague needs the term for this meaning: An institution's documented examination of its own performance. Which term fits?

D. self-study

A Not here. unassigned: Without a designated responsible person. The usual combination is "flag an unassigned action".

B Not here. action plan: A set of improvement actions with responsibilities and timing. The usual combination is "update the action plan".

C Not here. follow-up review: A later check of progress or results. The usual combination is "schedule a follow-up review".

D Correct. self-study: An institution's documented examination of its own performance. The usual combination is "prepare a self-study".

Return to the exercise, page 110

2. A colleague needs the term for this meaning: Confirmation that a person or resource can be scheduled. Which term fits?

B. availability check

A Not here. direct cost: A charge directly attributable to an option. The usual combination is "compare direct costs".

B Correct. availability check: Confirmation that a person or resource can be scheduled. The usual combination is "complete an availability check".

C Not here. staffing business case: A reasoned proposal for a staffing decision. The usual combination is "present a staffing business case".

D Not here. staffing allocation: Assignment of personnel time to work. The usual combination is "review staffing allocations".

Review 4 / Explanations / continued

3. Rebuild the exchange from "A route-planning task does not need an entire file". Dana: "The task is a pickup update, not a welfare or discipline review. I will state that purpose in the request." Yusuf: [missing response] Dana: "The roster would only show IDs and stops. Does removing the names change whether we need that approval?" Which response belongs in the gap?

B. That supports purpose limitation. It also explains why the unrelated notes should be excluded. A narrower request helps us complete the legitimate work without exposing information the task does not need.

A Not here. This line belongs to turn 2, after Dana says: "I need complete student files for the pickup-assignment update. The old shared folder would be convenient, and I already have access to it." It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

B Correct. This is Yusuf's response in turn 10. It connects Dana's preceding point with Dana's follow-up. Purpose limitation keeps use tied to the authorized pickup task instead of allowing unrelated uses of the same information.

C Not here. This line belongs to turn 16, after Dana says: "The old folder still contains more information than this task needs. Should I assume someone approved that earlier and continue using it until the new list arrives?" It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

D Not here. This line belongs to turn 6, after Dana says: "Who decides? I assumed my transport role allowed me to receive anything about students on the routes." It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

4. Rebuild the exchange from "One more class still leaves four learners waiting". Elise: "The final paragraph should ask for the exact approval needed, state the full cost, and make clear that tutoring is preserved under the recommended option." Kiran: [missing response] Elise: "Please request approval. Do not confirm the appointment or change tutoring while the decision is pending." Which response belongs in the gap?

C. I will connect it to the institutional priority and record the two hundred dollars remaining. We should also state the capacity limit so the budget decision is not confused with a promise to all families.

A Not here. This line belongs to turn 2, after Elise says: "Twenty-four learners are waiting. The proposal for one additional class needs to explain staffing and remaining demand clearly." It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

B Not here. This line belongs to turn 12, after Elise says: "Let us keep no additional staffing charge in the comparison, but put the lost tutoring hours right beside it. That is the actual choice." It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

C Correct. This is Kiran's response in turn 18. It connects Elise's preceding point with Elise's follow-up. The institutional priority is the supplied objective of preserving tutoring while adding capacity, which justifies the choice between otherwise feasible options.

D Not here. This line belongs to turn 4, after Elise says: "Option A uses an existing qualified teacher for four hours each week. There is no additional direct staffing charge, which makes it look attractive." It addresses that point, not the missing turn in the supplied exchange.

Additional case 1 / Explanations

Extended conversation

1. access arrangement

Turn 2. The access arrangement changes how this learner takes the examination, not the knowledge or marking standard assessed.

2. rest break

Turn 6. A rest break pauses work under its own arrangements; it does not replace the approved additional working time.

3. implementation instructions

Turn 10. Implementation instructions tell the invigilator what to provide; unrelated assessment history is not needed for this operational handover.

4. assessment demands

Turn 12. Assessment demands remain unchanged in this case; additional working time does not authorize removing questions or changing the marking standard.

5. working-time allowance

Turn 16. The working-time allowance is one hundred minutes here; the planned clock time must not silently shorten that entitlement after a delayed start.

6. booking conflict

Turn 20. The booking conflict concerns the invigilator's overlapping commitments; it remains unresolved until suitable coverage is confirmed.

Return to the conversation, page 113

Transfer exchange

1. thirty

Officer: The additional working time is thirty minutes.

Turn 1. Fifty percent of sixty is thirty additional working minutes, not thirty minutes total.

Additional case 1 / Explanations / continued

2. 14:30

Coordinator: The planned finish must therefore be 14:30.

Turn 2. Ninety working minutes from thirteen hundred ends at fourteen thirty.

3. unchanged

Officer: The questions remain unchanged.

Turn 3. The approved time arrangement does not authorize a different assessment paper.

4. extension

Coordinator: The supervision booking needs an extension.

Turn 4. The existing booking ends thirty minutes before the learner's planned finish.

Return to the conversation, page 115

Additional case 2 / Explanations

Extended conversation

1. teaching commitment

Turn 2. The teaching commitment is Daria's existing English class in the same period, which prevents treating her as available cover.

2. room capacity

Turn 6. The room capacity is twenty-four, below the class of twenty-eight; proximity does not make the room suitable.

3. lesson pack

Turn 10. The lesson pack supplies the planned teaching material and worked solutions, distinct from the attendance register or room assignment.

4. attendance register

Turn 12. The attendance register identifies the learners in today's class and supports recording attendance, rather than relying on an outdated list.

5. single current timetable

Turn 16. A single current timetable means the approved current information is consistent across the notices and systems students and staff actually use.

6. handover

Turn 20. The handover confirms the teacher, room, records, materials, and transition responsibility, not merely the name entered in the cover system.

Return to the conversation, page 117

Transfer exchange

1. Noor

Coordinator: The available teacher is Noor.

Turn 1. Noor is qualified and free; Ben already has a simultaneous teaching commitment.

2. Room D

Deputy: The suitable room is Room D.

Turn 2. Room D accommodates twenty-six learners, while Room C falls four places short.

3. four

Coordinator: The room has four spare places.

Turn 3. Thirty available places minus twenty-six learners leaves four spare places.

4. lesson pack

Deputy: Send the current register and the lesson pack.

Turn 4. The supplied plan requires both attendance information and the prepared teaching materials.

Return to the conversation, page 120

Additional case 3 / Explanations

Extended conversation

1. reunification procedure

Turn 2. The reunification procedure governs verified release after this evacuation, rather than allowing adults to collect children directly from the supervised group.

2. release verification

Turn 6. Release verification checks authority for this pickup; recognition and identification alone do not establish that authority under the supplied procedure.

3. verified contact record

Turn 10. The verified contact record provides the established contact route for checking the request; a newly supplied number alone does not authenticate authorization.

4. family waiting area

Turn 12. The family waiting area keeps adults within the designated process while students remain supervised until the release check is completed.

5. exception referral

Turn 16. The exception referral remains with the duty administrator when routine verification cannot be completed; it does not authorize an automatic release.

6. handover record

Turn 20. The handover record documents the actual verified release, including the required collection details, rather than treating arrival or a request as completion.

Return to the conversation, page 122

Transfer exchange

1. identity

Staff: The identification establishes the adult's identity.

Turn 1. Identification can establish who the adult is without establishing collection authority.

2. verification

Neighbor: The pickup authority still needs verification.

Turn 2. The administrator has received the request but has not verified release.

3. supervised

Staff: The learner must remain supervised.

Turn 3. The supplied process keeps the learner supervised while the release check remains incomplete.

4. handover

Neighbor: My arrival is not a completed handover.

Turn 4. Check-in records arrival, whereas a handover records the actual verified collection.

Explain the process. Support the learner.

Eight school and program decisions: explain an admissions outcome, align learning and assessment, review support, repair a family message, calibrate grading, limit record access, report review evidence, and compare staffing options.

Enrollment, Admissions, and Placement

Eligibility means the applicant meets the conditions for consideration. It does not guarantee selection in an oversubscribed program. Selection, acceptance of an offer, enrollment, and class placement should not be treated as interchangeable.

Curriculum Planning and Learning Outcomes

A topic names what a course covers; an outcome states what learners will do. "Media literacy" is a topic. Comparing two sources and justifying reliability against specified criteria is an observable outcome.

Student Support and Intervention

Two documented check-ins do not establish that only two occurred. The other eight are unverified. This is a delivery-evidence gap, which must not be converted into either confirmed non-delivery or confirmed full implementation.

Parent and Guardian Communication

An apology for accusatory wording does not require withdrawing accurate attendance information. Rosa can correct the inference about priorities while retaining the verified count and inviting the guardian to explain the circumstances.
