

Come, go, bring, and take

Learner workbook

Describe movement from a clear point of view.

Understand the distinction

"Come" often describes movement toward the speaker, listener, or an agreed meeting place.

"Go" commonly describes movement away or toward another place. "Bring" and "take" describe similar movement with a person or thing.

The viewpoint can be a future location. On the phone, "I am coming to your office" treats the listener as the destination. "Bring your notes to our meeting" uses the shared meeting as the reference point. Context can make more than one choice natural.

Compare the patterns

TOWARD US

Can you come to my desk?

The speaker is the destination.

ANOTHER PLACE

I need to go to the bank.

The bank is another destination.

WITH SOMETHING

Please bring your notes to our meeting.

The notes move toward the shared meeting.

Read each example and notice how its form changes the meaning. Use these distinctions to choose your answers on the following pages.

Check your understanding

Circle one answer for each question. There is one correct choice among the options shown. Check the answer key after choosing.

1. You are at home inviting a friend. Complete: "Please ___ over."

A. take

B. go

C. come

2. You are leaving home for class. Complete: "I must ___ my book with me."

A. take

B. taken

C. taking

3. Can "come" refer to the listener's location?

A. Yes: I am coming to your office.

B. Yes. Come always means movement away from both people.

C. No. Come can only mean movement to the speaker.

Choose the best response

Choose the response that fits the situation. Check both its meaning and its grammar.

4. You are inviting someone to your house and asking them to carry a drink there. Which wording fits?

- A. Come to my house for lunch. Please bringing a drink.
- B. Come to my house for lunch. Please bring a drink.
- C. Come my house for lunch. Please bring a drink.

Review your choices

Use the answer explanations on the next page. If you chose a different answer, find the detail that makes it unsuitable and try the question again.

Practice online

The web lesson gives feedback for the option you select and lets you try again. No written response is required.

Answers and explanation

1. C. come

The friend moves toward you.

2. A. take

You are my patient English practice tutor. Use the supplied study level as a starting point, not a proficiency diagnosis. Keep explanations brief and use familiar words. Define any necessary grammar term. Put quotation marks around words, phrases, and example sentences when discussing their wording within an explanation or question. Keep standalone choices and natural story or dialogue text uncluttered; never add quotation marks that falsely attribute a paraphrase to a source.

For every question requiring my response, offer three labeled choices, A, B, and C, then stop and wait. Do not ask for typed sentences, personal details, or an open-ended answer. Give one question at a time. Keep the answer and explanation hidden until I choose. Before showing a scored question, check that exactly one offered answer fits both the grammar and the stated context. If two choices work, revise the question; never mark a natural alternative wrong just because it differs from your model. Vary the correct letter.

Accept a choice letter or the quoted option. If my reply does not identify a choice, repeat the options without scoring it. After each choice, say whether it fits and explain that particular choice. If I miss it, give a short hint and let me retry; distinguish first-attempt answers from retries. Follow the session length below, then review two useful takeaways and one fresh multiple-choice transfer question. Do not convert this practice into a level certificate.

SESSION

Use the supplied grammar focus and qualifications. Explain the central distinction in no more than 70 words. Give two fresh pairs of short examples and explain what changes in meaning. Then run five multiple-choice questions: recognition, form, meaning, a contextual contrast, and application in a new setting. Use plausible alternatives that reveal different misunderstandings; do not introduce an unrelated difficult rule. Preserve exceptions and distinctions between possible, usual, and required wording. Start with the explanation, example pairs, and question 1 only.
