ENGLISH LADDER

Concept #16 ► Recently/Lately

The words 'recently' and 'lately' often signal the need for the present perfect progressive tense. This tense indicates something was started in the past, is happening now, and is likely to continue into the future.

This tense is emphasizing how the activity is continuous.
Introducing a specific past period of time is not allowed.

- Recently, I have been dieting.
- I have been dieting over the past few days.
- I have been dieting since last month.
- ✗ I have been dieting last month.

- She has been exercising (ever) since she graduated.
- Lately, she has been exercising a lot.
- She has been exercising (on) Saturdays.
- ✗ She has been exercising Saturday.

Suggested Lesson Flow

Warm-up

Display the concept image and ask learners to predict the rule behind Understanding the Use of "Recently" and "Lately" in Present Perfect Progressive Tense before reading the explanation.

Model

Walk through the Core Idea and the sections on Concept #16: Recently/Lately, Additional Examples for Better Understanding, Practice Exercises. Pause after each part so students can restate the pattern in plain English.

Guided practice

Project two or three examples from the concept sheet and ask pairs to explain why each choice works, not just what the answer is.

Independent work

Assign the 24 practice items for quiet work, partner checking, and final feedback.

Closure

Ask students to create one new sentence or mini-example of their own that follows the same pattern.

Likely Learner Errors

- Learners may overgeneralize the first pattern they notice. Keep returning to Concept #16: Recently/Lately, Additional Examples for Better Understanding, Practice Exercises and ask students to explain what changes from one example to the next.
- Long explanations can hide the signal word or structure. Have students underline the exact phrase that tells them which form, pattern, or response is needed.
- If students can choose an answer but cannot explain it, ask them to justify their choice using words taken directly from the concept sheet.

Differentiation and Delivery Notes

- Support: teach one section at a time, then send students back to the examples or the practice set so they can apply the same rule immediately.
- Pair work: let students compare answers aloud before you reveal the key. The explanation step is as important as the final answer.
- Extension: ask stronger students to write two fresh examples or a short dialogue that uses the same target language accurately.

Model Language from the Concept Sheet

- Recently, I have been dieting. This sentence means that the speaker started dieting in the past and is still dieting now.
- I have been dieting over the past few days. This indicates the action started a few days ago and is still ongoing.
- I have been dieting since last month. This shows that the speaker started dieting last month and continues to diet.
- I have been dieting last month. (Incorrect)
- Recently, I have been studying English. This indicates the speaker started studying English in the recent past and continues to study.
- Lately, she has been feeling very tired. This shows that she started feeling tired in the recent past and continues to feel tired.
