Eight scenarios. Eight skills.

Eight service conversations: welcome an early arrival, answer a complaint, offer accommodation alternatives, explain room revenue, coordinate a room release, confirm an event schedule, update a disrupted tour, and clarify an individual preference.

01 Guest Arrival and Front-Desk Escalation

An early-arrival request sounded like a promise | Acknowledge an expectation gap and give a reliable next step without inventing a room-ready time.

02 Complaint Handling and Online Reviews

13

A public reply should not become a public argument | Acknowledge a complaint, protect booking details, and move investigation to the appropriate private channel.

03 Reservations, Overbooking, and Walks

22

The booked room type is unavailable | Present verified alternatives, explain differences honestly, and obtain a guest decision before changing the booking.

04 Revenue Management and Pricing

31

A higher room rate did not produce higher room revenue | Explain occupancy, average daily rate, and revenue per available room using the correct denominators.

05 Housekeeping, Maintenance, and Turnover

40

Clean does not yet mean released | Read back separate department statuses and keep a room unavailable until the required release is recorded.

06 Events, Banquets, and Run of Show

49

The soundcheck everyone assumed someone else had booked | Turn an assumed event arrangement into a timed, owned, and acknowledged schedule entry.

07 Tour Operations and Traveler Safety

58

A weather update is not permission to depart | Communicate an active tour hold, identify decision authority, and give an update without promising departure.

08 Cultural Expectations and Service Style

67

A timing preference is not a nationality-based rule | Clarify an individual service preference, limit its scope, and distinguish a request from a confirmed arrangement.

Hospitality without uncertain promises

Good service combines warmth with accurate information. Say what is confirmed, explain the available options, and take responsibility for the next communication. Keep internal shorthand out of guest-facing explanations.

Acknowledge before correcting

Recognize the inconvenience, then explain the relevant facts. An explanation that starts by blaming the guest can make a solvable problem harder to resolve.

"I can see why that message suggested the room would be ready. Let me clarify what we can confirm."

Promise the action you control

A check with another department and a guest update are actions you can own. A repair completion, room release, or tour departure may depend on a separate decision.

"I will update you at one o'clock, even if the room is still awaiting release."

Translate operational language

Terms such as walk, release, and room inventory have specialist meanings. Use them precisely with colleagues and explain the practical outcome to guests.

"We can arrange the confirmed room at the nearby hotel, with the agreed transfer included."

Ask about the individual

A preference about timing, beds, conversation, or service frequency belongs to the guest. Nationality does not establish the reason or the preferred response.

"Would you prefer service after two today, or no service today?"

PROFESSIONAL BOUNDARIES

All properties, people, figures, and policies in the cases are fictional. This book teaches workplace language, not legal advice or safety procedures. Follow current local rules, approved service policies, privacy requirements, and operator emergency plans. Do not treat an exercise as operational authorization.

An early-arrival request sounded like a promise

A Read the situation

Acknowledge an expectation gap and give a reliable next step without inventing a room-ready time.

Ms Vega arrives at 12:15. Her confirmation says that her early-arrival request has been noted, but she understood this as guaranteed access at noon. Standard check-in begins at 15:00. No room has yet been released, and the front desk has no verified room-ready time. Complimentary luggage storage and use of the lobby seating are available now. Front-desk agent Arun can check with housekeeping and give a personal update at 13:00 even if the status has not changed. He cannot guarantee an earlier room or authorize compensation on his own.

PEOPLE / Arun: Front-desk agent | Ms Vega: Arriving guest

SERVICE LANGUAGE CAN CREATE A COMMITMENT

Noted, requested, and confirmed can sound interchangeable to a tired traveler. Explain their difference without treating the guest as foolish. A calm apology for unclear communication can sit beside an honest limit on what is currently available.

Briefing checks

Circle one answer in each item. Use the briefing.

1. What did the confirmation establish?

- |                                                  |                                          |

Read the definitions and say the common word combinations aloud.

early arrival

Arrival before the standard check-in period.

IN USE note an early arrival

early check-in

Access to a room before the usual check-in time.

IN USE request early check-in

reservation confirmation

A message documenting a booking and its stated terms.

IN USE review the reservation confirmation

special request

A preference or need submitted with a booking.

IN USE record a special request

guaranteed access

A confirmed commitment that entry will be available.

IN USE distinguish guaranteed access

subject to availability

Dependent on whether the requested service is available.

IN USE explain subject to availability

front desk

The guest reception and service point.

IN USE contact the front desk

guest relations

The function handling guest experience and concerns.

IN USE refer to guest relations

duty manager

The manager responsible during a particular shift.

IN USE consult the duty manager

arrival time

The time a guest reaches the property.

IN USE confirm the arrival time

check-in window

The stated period when check-in begins or is expected.

IN USE clarify the check-in window

room assignment

Allocation of a particular room to a booking.

IN USE confirm a room assignment

Precision check

The recorded request is not a confirmed noon check-in. The 13:00 update is a communication commitment, not a room-release estimate. Standard check-in begins at 15:00; Arun should not invent a different guaranteed time.

The vocabulary that does the work

B Find the words / 2 of 2

Read the definitions and say the common word combinations aloud.

room-ready time

The time a room is expected or confirmed to be available.

IN USE verify the room-ready time

room release

Authorization to make a prepared room available for use.

IN USE await room release

luggage storage

A service holding bags before or after room use.

IN USE offer luggage storage

claim ticket

authorization limit

The boundary of what an employee may approve.

IN USE respect an authorization limit

escalation

Referral to a person with relevant responsibility or authority.

IN USE explain the escalation

follow-through

Completion of an action that was promised.

IN USE ensure reliable follow-through

Precision check

Complimentary luggage storage does not imply compensation, a free upgrade, or automatic room access. Describe exactly what is available. If a remedy needs a manager, distinguish requesting approval from obtaining it.

Phrases you can actually use

C Notice the language / 1 of 2

ACKNOWLEDGE THE IMPACT

"I understand that you planned around arriving at noon."

CLARIFY THE RECORD

"The message records your request for early access."

STATE THE CURRENT POSITION

"No room has been released yet."

OFFER IMMEDIATE HELP

"We can store your luggage at no additional charge."

OWN UNCLEAR WORDING

"I am sorry the confirmation did not make that distinction clear."

SEPARATE CONFIRMATION

"It does not confirm that a room is ready at noon."

AVOID AN INVENTED ESTIMATE

"I do not have a verified room-ready time."

OFFER A PLACE TO WAIT

"You are welcome to use the lobby seating."

Noted

Means recorded; it does not necessarily mean approved.

Ready

Use only when the relevant room status is confirmed.

At no additional charge

Explains complimentary in plain guest-facing language.

Phrases you can actually use

C Notice the language / 2 of 2

TAKE THE NEXT ACTION

"I will check the status with housekeeping."

PRESERVE THE DISTINCTION

"That is an update time, not a promise of room access."

AVOID PASSING BLAME

"Let me clarify the wording and the available options."

CHECK THE GUEST'S PREFERENCE

"Would you like us to store your bags now?"

SET THE UPDATE TIME

"I will speak with you again at 13:00."

EXPLAIN THE NORMAL TIMING

"Standard check-in begins at 15:00."

RESPECT APPROVAL LIMITS

"A compensation request needs the duty manager's review."

CLOSE THE LOOP

"I will update you even if the status has not changed."

---

By versus at

By sets a latest time; at names the planned moment.

I will check

Commits to an action, not to a favorable result.

Even if

Makes the update commitment independent of a status change.

Choose the precise message

D Check your understanding

Circle one best answer for each item. Use the stated purpose and case facts, not the option that merely sounds most polite.

1. Which reply handles the misunderstanding best?

- A I see why you expected noon access; the request was recorded, but no room is released yet.
- B You should have understood the wording.
- C Your room will certainly be ready in ten minutes.
- D Housekeeping always causes this problem.

2. Which promise is within Arun's stated control?

- A The room will be ready at 13:00.
- B I guarantee an upgrade.
- C I have approved a refund.
- D I will update you at 13:00 even if we are still waiting.

3. Which statement accurately explains complimentary storage?

- A Your whole stay is now free.
- B You must accept storage instead of a room.
- C Storage guarantees immediate room access.
- D We can hold your luggage without an additional charge.

4. What should Arun do if compensation is requested?

- A Promise approval before checking.
- B Delete the booking to remove the dispute.
- C Say no manager can ever consider it.
- D Refer the request for the duty manager's review.

duty manager / review / early-arrival request / claim ticket / complimentary / expectation gap / status update / follow-through / front desk / room-ready time

- 01 Ms Vega: I asked to arrive at noon, and your email said it was noted. It is already twelve fifteen. I expected to go straight to my room.
- 02 Arun: I understand the <sup>1</sup> _____, and I am sorry the message was unclear. Let me explain the current position and what I can arrange for you immediately.
- 03 Ms Vega: I have been traveling since early this morning. I would have planned differently if I had known I might be waiting.
- 04 Arun: Your <sup>2</sup> _____ is in the booking record. It asked for noon access, but that access was not confirmed. Standard check-in begins at three this afternoon.
- 05 Ms Vega: Is there no possibility of a room before three? Should I leave and return later?
- 06 Arun: I cannot rule out earlier availability, but I do not have a verified <sup>3</sup> _____. No room has been released yet, so I should not give you an estimate as a promise.
- 07 Ms Vega: Another hotel promised twenty minutes, and I waited nearly two hours. I would prefer an honest answer to another guess.
- 08 Arun: That is reasonable. I can offer <sup>4</sup> _____ luggage storage now, and you may use the lobby seating. I will also check directly with housekeeping rather than leave your request without a follow-up.
- 09 Ms Vega: Please store the bags. I still need to decide whether to get something to eat nearby. How will I know whether anything has changed?
- 10 Arun: I will give you a personal <sup>5</sup> _____ at one o'clock. That update will happen even if we are still waiting. One o'clock is not a confirmed time for entering the room.

The conversation, continued

E Conversations / turns 11-20

Continue with the word bank on page 10.

- 11 Ms Vega: All right. I will stay in the lobby until then. Please do not send me to several departments to ask the same question again.
- 12 Arun: You can come back to me at the <sup>6</sup> _____. I will coordinate the check with housekeeping and tell you the result, so you do not need to repeat the request elsewhere.
- 13 Ms Vega: Please also review that email. It sounded as though my early arrival had been approved.
- 14 Arun: I will pass that concern to the <sup>7</sup> _____. I can describe the wording you received and the expectation it created, without suggesting that you caused the misunderstanding.
- 15 Ms Vega: Would the manager be able to consider some compensation for the inconvenience? I understand that you may not be the person who can decide.
- 16 Arun: I can submit that for <sup>8</sup> _____, but I cannot promise the outcome. For now, the confirmed arrangements are luggage storage, lobby seating, and my update at one o'clock.
- 17 Ms Vega: That is clear. I will hand over the bags now, and I will look for you here at one. Please update me even without good news.
- 18 Arun: I will. Once the bags are stored, I will give you a <sup>9</sup> _____ for collecting them. Please keep it with you, and let me know if you need something from the luggage while you wait.
- 19 Ms Vega: Thank you. An accurate answer helps me plan the afternoon. I would rather know what is confirmed than hear another time that might change.
- 20 Arun: Understood. I will keep the <sup>10</sup> _____ with me: check housekeeping, record your concern, and speak with you at one. I will distinguish any new estimate from a confirmed room release.

A public reply should not become a public argument

A Read the situation

Acknowledge a complaint, protect booking details, and move investigation to the appropriate private channel.

Guest-relations agent Elise reviews a draft reply to a public complaint about late-night noise. The draft accuses the guest of exaggerating and includes the room number, stay dates, and booking reference. The complaint has not yet been checked against the property records. Manager Mateo requires a brief, courteous public acknowledgement and an invitation to contact the property through its published guest-relations channel. The private review will verify relevant records before any remedy is decided. Any approved remedy must be independent of whether the guest edits or removes the review.

PEOPLE / Elise: Guest-relations agent | Mateo: Guest-services manager

A REPLY HAS MORE THAN ONE READER

A public response speaks to the reviewer and to future guests. Firmly correcting a verified fact may sometimes be appropriate, but arguing about an unverified account or revealing private details damages trust. Keep investigation and personal booking discussion in the approved private channel.

Briefing checks

Circle one answer in each item. Use the briefing.

1. What is established about the noise complaint?

- A Every detail has been verified.
- B A refund has already been approved.
- C It has been reported but not yet checked.
- D It has been disproved.

2. Which information should be removed from the public draft?

- A A courteous acknowledgement
- B The published guest-relations channel
- C A brief invitation to contact the property
- D Room number, stay dates, and booking reference

3. What may an approved remedy depend on here?

- A Removal of the review
- B A five-star replacement review
- C Public praise for the manager
- D The outcome of the service review and applicable policy

- 01 Elise: Could you check my response to the noise review before I publish it? I was frustrated by the guest's description.
- 02 Mateo: Let us start with the <sup>1</sup> _____. It will be read by future guests as well. We need a calm acknowledgement and a useful next step, not an argument.
- 03 Elise: I included the room number and stay dates to show that we know the booking. I also said the guest exaggerated what happened that night.
- 04 Mateo: Remove the <sup>2</sup> _____ and the other private details. Knowing the reservation does not justify publishing it. Have we actually checked the complaint against the relevant property records yet?
- 05 Elise: No, not yet. I used the original complaint and my colleague's impression of the conversation. That is not enough to establish whether the reported noise occurred.
- 06 Mateo: Then describe it as <sup>3</sup> _____ awaiting review. Do not call the account false, and do not claim that we have already proved a service failure. Neither conclusion is established.
- 07 Elise: Could the reply say that we are sorry to hear the stay was disappointing, then invite the guest to contact our published guest-relations channel?
- 08 Mateo: Yes. That provides an <sup>4</sup> _____ without announcing an investigation result. Keep it brief, and make the next step easy to find. We do not need to reconstruct the stay in public.
- 09 Elise: I will remove the exaggeration sentence. We are judging the guest personally instead of checking the service concern.
- 10 Mateo: Exactly. That <sup>5</sup> _____ makes a factual conversation harder. We can explain relevant verified information later, but first we need a proper review and a clear person responsible.

E Conversations / turns 11-20

Continue with the word bank on page 19.

- 11 Elise: I can handle the follow-up. Once the guest contacts us privately, I will confirm the necessary booking information through our approved process and review the available records.
- 12 Mateo: Consult the <sup>6</sup> _____ as part of that work. Record what it supports and what remains uncertain. An absent entry alone should not become a sweeping claim that nothing happened.
- 13 Elise: A colleague suggested a credit if the guest removes the review. That seems to connect two separate decisions.
- 14 Mateo: Do not make that <sup>7</sup> _____. Any approved remedy must stand independently of review removal or revision. Our task is to address the service concern, not purchase a different public account.
- 15 Elise: Understood. I will not promise compensation in the initial reply either. We still need to check the facts and determine what our policy permits.
- 16 Mateo: Correct. A <sup>8</sup> _____ has not been decided. Explain that clearly in the private conversation if asked, and avoid language that suggests approval is automatic or impossible.
- 17 Elise: The public version now thanks the guest for raising the noise concern, acknowledges the disappointing experience, and directs them to the published contact route for follow-up.
- 18 Mateo: That is suitable. After publishing, create the <sup>9</sup> _____ and identify yourself as the contact. Preserve the distinction between the public acknowledgement and the unfinished private investigation.
- 19 Elise: I will check the records before reaching a conclusion, then communicate any authorized outcome directly. The guest will remain free to leave the review as it is.
- 20 Mateo: Good. Update the <sup>10</sup> _____ when the review progresses. For now, mark it as awaiting private follow-up, not resolved merely because we have answered online.

Present verified alternatives, explain differences honestly, and obtain a guest decision before changing the booking.

Mr Chen booked one king-bed room for tonight. That room type is unavailable. Duty manager Sofia has two verified alternatives: an on-site twin room with two separate beds at no additional charge, or a king-bed room at the nearby Harbor Hotel. For the off-site option, this property has approved payment of the room-price difference and a transfer; other expenses are not approved. Harbor Hotel has confirmed availability for tonight. Mr Chen has not selected an option. Sofia must explain the bed arrangements and location, check his preference, and complete the chosen arrangement before calling it confirmed.

A SUBSTITUTE IS NOT AUTOMATICALLY EQUIVALENT

Two available rooms may differ in the feature that matters most to a guest. Describe beds, location, and approved costs plainly. Internal shorthand such as walk should not replace a respectful explanation of the actual accommodation arrangement.

Briefing checks

Circle one answer in each item. Use the briefing.

1. Which alternative preserves the booked bed arrangement?

A Neither option has a confirmed bed type.

B The king room at Harbor Hotel

C The on-site twin room

D Either option has one king bed.

2. What costs are approved for the off-site option?

A Every expense during the stay

B A future holiday

C Only an unconfirmed taxi estimate

D The room-price difference and transfer

3. Has the guest accepted an alternative?

A Yes; the manager chose silently.

B No; both alternatives are unavailable.

C No; his choice is still required.

D Yes; availability means acceptance.

- 01 Mr Chen: I reserved a king room; two separate beds do not suit us. The receptionist mentioned a problem. What is available?
- 02 Sofia: I am sorry. Your booked <sup>1</sup> _____ is unavailable tonight. I have two verified alternatives, and I want to explain the differences before you choose either one.
- 03 Mr Chen: Please start with the option here. We would prefer not to move unless staying means losing the bed arrangement that we specifically booked.
- 04 Sofia: The on-site option is a <sup>2</sup> _____ with two separate beds, at no additional charge. It keeps you at this property, but it does not match your king-bed preference.
- 05 Mr Chen: That difference matters to us. What is the second option, and have you actually checked that the other hotel can provide the right room tonight?
- 06 Sofia: The <sup>3</sup> _____ is Harbor Hotel nearby. They have confirmed that a king room is available tonight. That preserves the bed type, although it changes where you will stay.
- 07 Mr Chen: Would I have to pay the difference? I do not want to arrive there and discover that this solution costs more than the booking I made.
- 08 Sofia: Our approved arrangement covers the <sup>4</sup> _____ and the transfer to Harbor Hotel. Other expenses are not included. I will make that scope clear in the arrangements rather than leave you with an open-ended promise.
- 09 Mr Chen: I understand the room difference and transport are covered, not everything I might spend. Can you arrange the king room there if that is our choice?
- 10 Sofia: Yes. I need your <sup>5</sup> _____ before completing the change. I have not treated the availability check as your acceptance or amended the booking without asking you.

- 12 Sofia: I will complete the <sup>6</sup> _____ and coordinate with Harbor Hotel. I will check the room, arrival details, and payment arrangements so the receiving team has the same information.
- 13 Mr Chen: A member of staff used the word walk earlier. Does that mean we are expected to walk there with our bags? That would be difficult.
- 14 Sofia: No. That is internal shorthand for <sup>7</sup> _____. In your case, the approved offer includes transport. I should have explained the arrangement in ordinary language instead of leaving that term unclear.
- 15 Mr Chen: Do you have a transport departure time yet? Should we stay by reception or wait somewhere else?
- 16 Sofia: I still need to confirm the <sup>8</sup> _____ details. Please remain by reception while I coordinate them. I will not describe a departure time as confirmed until the transport arrangement is verified.
- 17 Mr Chen: That is fine. Before we leave, please give us the receiving contact and explain what we should show when we arrive at Harbor Hotel.
- 18 Sofia: I will provide the <sup>9</sup> _____ once the booking is completed. They will identify the receiving contact and booking details, with the agreed room-price and transfer arrangements clearly recorded.
- 19 Mr Chen: Let me check: a king room at Harbor Hotel tonight, the price difference and transfer covered, and other expenses outside that offer.
- 20 Sofia: That <sup>10</sup> _____ is accurate. I will now finish the booking and transport coordination, then confirm the completed details with you before you leave this property.

A higher room rate did not produce higher room revenue

04

A Read the situation

Explain occupancy, average daily rate, and revenue per available room using the correct denominators.

Revenue analyst Mina reviews two single-night results with general manager Owen. Each night had 100 available rooms. On Night A, 80 rooms sold and room revenue was $8,000. On Night B, 60 rooms sold and room revenue was $7,200. These figures exclude non-room revenue; no cost figures are supplied. Owen calls the higher average daily rate a complete commercial improvement. Mina needs to distinguish the higher rate among sold rooms from the lower occupancy and lower revenue per available room. The two observations alone do not establish why demand changed.

WORD + PHRASE BANK

ADR / room revenue / price elasticity / channel mix / RevPAR / cost figures / trade-off / rooms available / non-room revenue / occupancy

- 01 Owen: Our average rate went up on the second night, so I have called it a complete commercial improvement. Is there anything missing from that summary?
- 02 Mina: The higher <sup>1</sup> _____ is real, but it is only one measure. We should look at how many rooms sold and what the available room supply earned as well.
- 03 Owen: Start with the room supply. I do not want to mistake a capacity change for performance.
- 04 Mina: Both nights had one hundred <sup>2</sup> _____. Night A sold eighty rooms for eight thousand dollars. Night B sold sixty rooms for seven thousand two hundred dollars. These are room-only revenue figures.
- 05 Owen: So the first average is one hundred dollars per sold room, and the second is one hundred and twenty. That is a twenty-percent increase.
- 06 Mina: Correct. Meanwhile, <sup>3</sup> _____ moved from eighty percent to sixty percent. That is a fall of twenty percentage points, or twenty-five percent relative to the original eighty-percent level.
- 07 Owen: I see the distinction. The higher rate applies to a smaller number of sold rooms. How should we describe the result across all available rooms?
- 08 Mina: Use <sup>4</sup> _____. Eight thousand divided by one hundred is eighty dollars. Seven thousand two hundred divided by one hundred is seventy-two dollars. The capacity-based room revenue measure fell.
- 09 Owen: That means an eight-dollar reduction per available room. Relative to eighty dollars, it is ten percent lower, despite the higher average selling rate.
- 10 Mina: Yes. Total <sup>5</sup> _____ also fell ten percent, from eight thousand to seven thousand two hundred. The unchanged supply means those two percentage changes align in this comparison.

E Conversations / turns 11-20

04

Continue with the word bank on page 37.

- 11 Owen: Could we still say that profit improved because we had fewer rooms to service? Fewer occupied rooms might mean some costs were lower.
- 12 Mina: That is possible, but we have no <sup>6</sup> _____ here. We cannot calculate profit or assume how expenses changed. A possible cost effect should remain a question, not become a reported financial result.
- 13 Owen: Fair point. What about restaurant and event spending? Those could change the property's total revenue even when the room figures move in the opposite direction.
- 14 Mina: They could, but <sup>7</sup> _____ is not included in this comparison. We should label the scope clearly instead of using the room result as a complete measure of hotel performance.
- 15 Owen: Does the rate increase explain the lower occupancy, or is that too strong a claim from two nightly results?
- 16 Mina: Yes. We have not isolated <sup>8</sup> _____ or controlled the other influences on demand. Different events, segments, or booking patterns could matter, but none is established as the explanation here.
- 17 Owen: Then the next discussion should look at context rather than force a cause into the headline. Which breakdown would make that review more useful?
- 18 Mina: Examine market segments and <sup>9</sup> _____, alongside demand and booking pace. Keep the same period and definitions, and include relevant costs before making a profitability claim.
- 19 Owen: I will revise the summary to say that ADR increased while occupancy, RevPAR, and room revenue declined. That is less sweeping and more informative.
- 20 Mina: Exactly. It describes the observed <sup>10</sup> _____ without treating one favorable metric as the whole result. We can then investigate why it happened and whether the strategy should change.

IN USE complete status reconciliation

Precision check

Codes such as out of order and out of service vary by property and reporting system. Confirm the local definition instead of assuming a universal meaning. In this case, the explicit release process governs assignment.

D Check your understanding

Circle one best answer for each item. Use the stated purpose and case facts, not the option that merely sounds most polite.

1. Which handover is accurate?

- A Close the repair to make the system look consistent.
- B Promise 417 will be ready in ten minutes.
- C Assign 419; keep 417 on hold until its required clearances and release are recorded.
- D Assign 417 because the bed is clean.

2. What does the housekeeping inspection prove here?

- A The lock repair is finished.
- B The duty manager has released the room.
- C The repair will finish before arrival.
- D The housekeeping checks are complete.

3. Which statement about room-status codes is safest?

- A Every property uses identical definitions.
- B Any green screen label overrides an open repair.
- C Out of service always means cleaned and assignable.
- D Check the property's definitions and release rules.

4. Which response avoids blaming a team?

- A Housekeeping caused all delays.
- B Reception should ignore everyone else.
- C Maintenance clearance is pending; I will check the responsible contact.
- D Engineering never finishes anything.

WORD + PHRASE BANK

return to service / room assignment / work order / handover log / readback / status reconciliation / maintenance clearance / release authorization / release hold / housekeeping clearance

- 01 Leah: Housekeeping says Room 417 is clean. The guest is waiting, so can I assign it now? The desk needs a clear answer before issuing keys.
- 02 Marco: Keep the <sup>1</sup> _____ in place. Housekeeping has completed its inspection, but the door-lock repair remains open. We need the remaining clearance and the duty manager's release.
- 03 Leah: The room screen shows vacant clean. I assumed that meant it was available, since the cleaning team had already finished its part.
- 04 Marco: That label describes <sup>2</sup> _____ here, not every release condition. We must check the separate maintenance and authorization records rather than infer that all teams have completed their work.
- 05 Leah: I see an open work order for the lock. Could it simply be an old entry that someone forgot to close after finishing the repair?
- 06 Marco: It could need checking, but the <sup>3</sup> _____ is still open. We cannot turn that possibility into a completed repair. Ask the responsible team for the recorded status.
- 07 Leah: I do not want to hold up the guest unnecessarily. Is there another room that we can use without waiting for this particular repair?
- 08 Marco: Room 419 has <sup>4</sup> _____, housekeeping clearance, and final release. Its room type and the guest-required features have been checked and match. It is the confirmed alternative available now.
- 09 Leah: Good. I will assign 419. I will not change 417 to available simply because we have solved this guest's immediate accommodation problem.
- 10 Marco: Exactly. The <sup>5</sup> _____ and the unresolved repair are separate matters. The guest can be accommodated while 417 remains unavailable under the current release process.

E Conversations / turns 11-20

Continue with the word bank on page 46.

- 11 Leah: What should I say if the guest asks why the originally considered room is not ready? I do not want to share a speculative technical diagnosis.
- 12 Marco: Say that it is awaiting the required <sup>6</sup> _____. Then explain that we have a released room matching the booking. Do not invent a repair deadline or blame a department.
- 13 Leah: We sometimes receive conflicting room lists at shift change. One says clean and another says unavailable, and staff assume somebody has made a mistake.
- 14 Marco: That calls for <sup>7</sup> _____. The labels may describe different checks rather than contradictory facts. Confirm their definitions and ensure reception sees whether final release has actually occurred.
- 15 Leah: For the handover, I will record 419 as the assigned room and 417 as unavailable, with its lock work order still open pending verification.
- 16 Marco: Include that in the <sup>8</sup> _____, together with the contact responsible for checking the maintenance status. Avoid marking the repair complete merely to make two screens display the same word.
- 17 Leah: Once the repair is cleared, does reception release 417 directly, or does the duty manager still need to record the final decision?
- 18 Marco: The duty manager records <sup>9</sup> _____ after both clearances. That is the process in this property. A maintenance update alone does not remove the final authorization requirement.
- 19 Leah: Let me repeat the action: assign 419, keep 417 unavailable, check the maintenance record, and wait for the duty manager's release before assigning 417.
- 20 Marco: That <sup>10</sup> _____ is correct. Please confirm the same status with the next shift. We have a practical guest solution and a separate outstanding room issue.

A Read the situation

Turn an assumed event arrangement into a timed, owned, and acknowledged schedule entry.

06

Venue coordinator Ren and event planner Asha compare their schedules. The soundcheck has no confirmed time, room, or owner; each team assumed the other arranged it. They now have a verified slot in Room A from 10:30 to 11:00. Audio lead Vera has accepted responsibility, the required equipment is available, and audience doors open at 11:15. Vera will check the event microphone and playback feed during the slot. Ren will update the controlled run of show and send it to the affected teams; Asha will confirm their acknowledgement. Later changes require coordinated review rather than a silent edit.

SHARED AWARENESS IS NOT SHARED RESPONSIBILITY

An event team may all know that a soundcheck is needed while nobody has actually arranged it. Name the owner, location, start, finish, and affected handovers. Asking for a readback can be a practical coordination habit rather than a sign of distrust.

- B Soundcheck: sometime before the event.
- C Audio: someone from the venue.
- D Room A: equipment maybe available.

2. What happens if soundcheck ends at 11:15 with doors unchanged?

- A The original schedule remains unaffected.
- B The fifteen-minute buffer disappears.
- C The buffer grows to thirty minutes.
- D Doors automatically move to noon.

3. Which statement correctly separates responsibilities?

- A Nobody owns communication after the edit.
- B Asha silently edits Vera's task.
- C Vera alone must guess every team's needs.
- D Ren updates and sends; Asha confirms affected-team acknowledgement.

4. What is the best response to a later timing change?

- A Change one private copy only.
- B Assume the buffer will absorb any delay.
- C Treat an unread email as acceptance.
- D Review its effects with the relevant teams and issue an acknowledged update.

WORD + PHRASE BANK

Doors open / soundcheck / task owner / change control / assumption / run of show / buffer time / acknowledgement / playback feed / readback

- 01 Asha: My team expected the venue to arrange the soundcheck. Your schedule just says audio before doors. Do we have a confirmed room and time anywhere?
- 02 Ren: No. That <sup>1</sup> _____ was shared without a named owner. We need to replace it with a definite entry, not ask both teams to keep expecting the other to act.
- 03 Asha: Agreed. I have checked Room A, and the available slot is ten thirty until eleven. Does that fit the equipment and audio lead?
- 04 Ren: Yes. Vera has accepted the <sup>2</sup> _____ responsibility, and the equipment is available. She will test the event microphone and playback feed during that slot.
- 05 Asha: Let us name her explicitly. If the schedule only says technical team, several people may see it without knowing who is actually responsible for finishing.
- 06 Ren: Vera will be listed as the <sup>3</sup> _____. I will also include Room A and both times. A start time alone would not show when the space must be ready for the next activity.
- 07 Asha: The audience comes in at eleven fifteen. Finishing at eleven gives us fifteen minutes between the audio work and admission, provided nobody silently extends the test.
- 08 Ren: Correct. That is our <sup>4</sup> _____. It is not an unallocated extra rehearsal slot. Any change that consumes it needs a review of the handover before doors open.
- 09 Asha: A presenter asked whether playback was included. They were worried that the microphone might be checked while the recorded material was left until the session itself.
- 10 Ren: The <sup>5</sup> _____ is part of Vera's confirmed scope. I will put both items in the entry so the presenter and audio team can see the same expectation.

- 11 Asha: Which document should people use? There is an old planning email, my event schedule, and a venue copy with the vague audio note.
- 12 Ren: I will update the controlled <sup>6</sup> _____ and send the identified version to the affected teams. The earlier notes should not remain competing sources for the soundcheck arrangement.
- 13 Asha: I will ask the affected teams to confirm receipt. Sending the revised version is necessary, but we need to know they have actually seen the change.
- 14 Ren: Thank you. Their <sup>7</sup> _____ closes the communication step. If someone raises a conflict, we should resolve it explicitly rather than interpret silence as acceptance of every detail.
- 15 Asha: If Vera later needs more time, should she simply edit the finish in the shared document, or contact us before changing the schedule?
- 16 Ren: Follow <sup>8</sup> _____. A later finish could affect the room handover and audience admission. We need coordinated review and a communicated update before treating a new time as agreed.
- 17 Asha: I will also make sure the admission team sees eleven fifteen clearly. They should not mistake the eleven o'clock soundcheck finish for permission to let attendees enter.
- 18 Ren: Exactly. <sup>9</sup> _____ remains eleven fifteen. Keep that separate from setup and testing times, even though all three activities occur in the same room sequence.
- 19 Asha: To confirm: Room A, ten thirty to eleven, Vera responsible, microphone and playback checked, then a fifteen-minute buffer before audience admission.
- 20 Ren: That <sup>10</sup> _____ captures it. I will send the revised run of show, and you will collect team acknowledgements. We now have an arrangement instead of a shared assumption.

A weather update is not permission to depart

A Read the situation

Communicate an active tour hold, identify decision authority, and give an update without promising departure.

At 09:10, thunderstorms have triggered the tour operator's local departure hold for a coastal excursion. Guests are already inside the hotel's designated indoor waiting lounge, away from windows. Tour-desk agent Camila must keep the group there under the current plan; she cannot clear departure. The operator has not confirmed a route, restart, or cancellation. Operations lead Ben is responsible for the operational decision and will send a status update at 09:30. No refund or alternative excursion has been approved. Camila can promise to relay that update, including an unchanged hold, but cannot promise that the group will leave at 09:30.

PEOPLE / Camila: Tour-desk agent | Mr Ellis: Excursion guest

REASSURANCE MUST NOT WEAKEN THE INSTRUCTION

Guests under time pressure may hear an update time as a departure time. State the current hold first, identify the decision-maker, and repeat what guests should do now. A friendly tone should not turn an active safety instruction into an optional suggestion.

Briefing checks

1. What is the current operational status?

- A The tour has been canceled.
- C Departure is on hold under the operator's plan.

- B The coastal route has been cleared.
- D Departure is confirmed for 09:30.

2. What should the group do now in this case?

- A Treat clearer-looking sky as authorization.
- C Wait outside beside the coach.

- B Remain in the designated indoor lounge under the current plan.
- D Decide by a guest vote to depart.

3. Who makes the operational decision?

- A Any guest who has traveled before
- C The person posting the earliest online comment

- B Camila acting independently
- D Operations lead Ben

- 01 Mr Ellis: Somebody mentioned nine thirty. Is that our new departure time? Should we get our bags ready outside?
- 02 Camila: No. The <sup>1</sup> _____ remains in place. Please stay in this designated indoor lounge, away from the windows, under the operator's current plan. Nine thirty is the next update.
- 03 Mr Ellis: Thank you for making that clear. I am worried about losing the whole day, especially because we booked another activity later this afternoon.
- 04 Camila: I understand the <sup>2</sup> _____. I will give you verified information as it arrives. At present, no route or restart time has been confirmed, so I cannot promise when the excursion will begin.
- 05 Mr Ellis: The sky looks brighter. Could the driver take us out now and avoid the worst part of the coast?
- 06 Camila: We need <sup>3</sup> _____, not a judgment based on a brighter patch of sky. Our operations lead, Ben, is responsible for the decision. I cannot clear departure myself.
- 07 Mr Ellis: So the coastal route is still being checked, rather than canceled? I want to be precise when I explain the situation to the rest of my family.
- 08 Camila: Correct. The <sup>4</sup> _____ has not produced a confirmed route for us. Cancellation is also unconfirmed. The current status is a hold, with the group remaining in the designated indoor area.
- 09 Mr Ellis: Will we hear from you at nine thirty even without a decision, or should we keep asking at the desk?
- 10 Camila: I will relay the <sup>5</sup> _____ to the group even if the hold is unchanged. You should not have to interpret silence or assume that no message means permission to leave.

- 11 Mr Ellis: I appreciate that. Would a cancellation mean that we automatically receive our money back, or move to another excursion today?
- 12 Camila: I need to verify <sup>6</sup> _____ and any available alternatives before promising either outcome. No refund or replacement excursion has been approved. Those arrangements are separate from the immediate departure decision.
- 13 Mr Ellis: Please do not put us on a different activity without asking. Our group includes people with different preferences, and a replacement might not work for everyone.
- 14 Camila: Of course. Any <sup>7</sup> _____ would need a confirmed option and your agreement. I will explain the actual itinerary and relevant terms if an alternative becomes available, rather than treating it as already arranged.
- 15 Mr Ellis: Where should our group wait so that we do not miss the announcement?
- 16 Camila: Stay together in this <sup>8</sup> _____. If someone needs assistance, please tell the desk. We will use the operator's communication process and keep the current instruction clear until it changes.
- 17 Mr Ellis: I will tell the others that nine thirty means news, not departure. I will also explain that neither cancellation nor a refund has been decided.
- 18 Camila: That is accurate. There is no <sup>9</sup> _____ at present. I know waiting is inconvenient, but I should not soften that message into a suggestion that the group may choose to depart.
- 19 Mr Ellis: Understood. We will remain here and wait for the operator's message. Please include us even if the next announcement only says the hold continues.
- 20 Camila: I will. The <sup>10</sup> _____ is Ben to the desk and then to the group. I will make the current status and next instruction explicit when I relay the update.

Clarify an individual service preference, limit its scope, and distinguish a request from a confirmed arrangement.

Ms Rahman declines morning housekeeping on the first day of a three-night stay. A colleague assumes guests from her country never want housekeeping and proposes canceling routine service for the whole stay. Guest-relations agent Nico checks directly. Ms Rahman wants no routine room entry before 14:00 today and would like service after 14:00 if available. The afternoon team has not yet confirmed a slot. Her preference for later days has not been stated. Nico can record today's request and seek confirmation, but cannot promise the time or infer future preferences. Emergency access follows the property's separate rules.

ASK WITHOUT MAKING THE GUEST DEFEND A GROUP

People differ within every nationality and language community. A neutral question about today's service is more useful than an explanation of what people from a country supposedly prefer. Confirm the individual choice, its time period, and whether the requested service is actually available.

1. Which note is accurate?

- A No housekeeping for this nationality.
- B Cancel all service for three nights.
- C Service guaranteed at exactly 14:00.
- D No routine entry before 14:00 today; later service requested, slot pending.

2. Which question avoids stereotyping?

- A Why are all your compatriots so private?
- B Would you prefer service later today or no service today?
- C Do people from your country dislike housekeeping?
- D Your nationality means you never need service, correct?

3. What needs confirmation before promising afternoon service?

- A An available slot from the afternoon team
- B The guest's nationality
- C The employee's general impression
- D A guess based on the empty corridor

4. Which statement about future days is supported?

- A An individual preference cannot ever change.
- B Their service preference remains unstated.
- C Today automatically controls every later day.
- D Three nights means exactly three afternoon services are booked.

- 01 Nico: Ms Rahman, may I clarify your housekeeping request? I understand you declined the morning visit. Would you prefer service later today, or no service today?
- 02 Ms Rahman: Later today, if possible. My <sup>1</sup> _____ is not to have routine room entry before two. I would like housekeeping after that if your team has availability.
- 03 Nico: I will record no routine entry before fourteen hundred today, then check with the afternoon team before confirming a time.
- 04 Ms Rahman: That is fine. I am asking for an <sup>2</sup> _____, not insisting that someone starts at exactly two. Please tell me what is available rather than promise a time that may not work.
- 05 Nico: I will do that. One earlier note seemed to treat the morning decline as a request to cancel housekeeping for your whole three-night stay.
- 06 Ms Rahman: That is not the <sup>3</sup> _____. I was only describing today. We have not discussed the other days, and I do not want them marked as declined on that basis.
- 07 Nico: I will correct the note to reflect today only. You do not need to explain a personal reason for the preference.
- 08 Ms Rahman: Thank you. Someone suggested it was connected with where I come from. I would prefer a <sup>4</sup> _____ about the service itself. People from the same place do not all want the same arrangements.
- 09 Nico: You are right. I should ask each guest directly and avoid treating a nationality or language as an explanation for an unstated preference.
- 10 Ms Rahman: Exactly. There is plenty of <sup>5</sup> _____. Today I want a quiet morning, but that does not tell you how I want every future visit or conversation handled.

- 11 Nico: I will keep the record practical: no routine entry before two today, with housekeeping after two requested if a slot is available. Is that accurate?
- 12 Ms Rahman: Yes. Please make the <sup>6</sup> _____ specific enough that the afternoon staff do not read it as no service at all. A broad do-not-enter note could create another misunderstanding.
- 13 Nico: Good point. I will use the property's request process and distinguish routine service from the separate emergency-access rules. I am not changing those rules.
- 14 Ms Rahman: That distinction is clear. My request concerns <sup>7</sup> _____ and its timing today. It is not a request for you to redefine the hotel's emergency procedures.
- 15 Nico: I will now check with the afternoon team. The request will be recorded, but I will not mark the service as arranged until they confirm availability.
- 16 Ms Rahman: Please keep that <sup>8</sup> _____ separate. I have had requests entered in a system before, then discovered the staff could not actually provide the time I had asked for.
- 17 Nico: I will report the available option once checked. We can clarify later days separately instead of copying today's timing.
- 18 Ms Rahman: That works. I may choose a different <sup>9</sup> _____ tomorrow, but I have not decided yet. Please leave those future arrangements unassumed rather than filling in a preference for me.
- 19 Nico: To read it back: no routine entry before fourteen hundred today, later housekeeping requested subject to availability, and no stated preference yet for the remaining days.
- 20 Ms Rahman: Yes. Please keep the note <sup>10</sup> _____, as you have just done. Confirm the afternoon option when you have it; your colleagues do not need assumptions about my reasons.

A Briefing checks / page 4

1. What did the confirmation establish?

A. The early-arrival request was recorded.

The wording recorded the request but did not confirm early access.

2. What can Arun provide now?

B. Complimentary luggage storage and lobby seating

The brief confirms these two immediate services, not a room or financial remedy.

3. What does the 13:00 commitment concern?

B. A personal status update

Arun controls the update; no room-ready time has been verified.

D Language checks / page 9

1. Which reply handles the misunderstanding best?

A. I see why you expected noon access; the request was recorded, but no room is released yet.

The first reply acknowledges the expectation and preserves the verified room status.

2. Which promise is within Arun's stated control?

D. I will update you at 13:00 even if we are still waiting.

The brief authorizes a status update, not a room guarantee or financial remedy.

3. Which statement accurately explains complimentary storage?

D. We can hold your luggage without an additional charge.

Complimentary describes the storage charge only, not the wider booking terms.

4. What should Arun do if compensation is requested?

D. Refer the request for the duty manager's review.

Arun lacks personal authority to approve compensation but can seek the appropriate review.

01 Conversation answers

Guest Arrival and Front-Desk Escalation

E Dialogue gaps

Pages 10-11

1. expectation gap. Turn 2. The expectation gap is the difference between expected noon access and the actual unconfirmed room availability.

2. early-arrival request. Turn 4. The request was recorded with the booking, but recording it did not establish guaranteed early access.

3. room-ready time. Turn 6. The room-ready time remains unknown; the agent must not replace that uncertainty with a guessed promise.

4. complimentary. Turn 8. Complimentary means the luggage storage is available without an additional charge, not that the entire stay is free.

5. status update. Turn 10. A status update communicates the current position; it is the action Arun can reliably commit to at thirteen hundred.

6. front desk. Turn 12. The front desk is the reception point where Arun remains responsible for communicating the next update.

7. duty manager. Turn 14. The duty manager is the appropriate person to review the communication concern and any remedy beyond Arun's authority.

8. review. Turn 16. Review means the request will be considered; it does not mean compensation has already been authorized.

9. claim ticket. Turn 18. The claim ticket identifies the stored bags and supports their later retrieval.

10. follow-through. Turn 20. Follow-through means carrying out the promised check and update, not merely making a reassuring statement.

F Transfer conversation

1. room access

Guest: "Is noon a guaranteed time for room access?"

The question concerns entry, which remains unconfirmed despite the scheduled update.

2. update

Agent: "No; noon is the time for my update."

The agent controls the noon communication, not the unverified room release.

3. luggage

Guest: "Can you hold my luggage while I wait?"

Storage of the guest's bags is the immediate confirmed service.

4. complimentary

Agent: "Yes, that service is complimentary."

The brief explicitly states that luggage storage is free.

A Briefing checks / page 13

1. What is established about the noise complaint?

C. It has been reported but not yet checked.

The brief supplies an unverified complaint, not a completed investigation or remedy.

2. Which information should be removed from the public draft?

D. Room number, stay dates, and booking reference

These booking details belong in the appropriate private process, not the public reply.

3. What may an approved remedy depend on here?

D. The outcome of the service review and applicable policy

The fictional policy makes remedies independent of whether the guest changes the review.

D Language checks / page 18

1. Which public reply is most appropriate?

B. We are sorry to hear about the noise concern; please contact our published guest-relations channel so we can review it.

The first reply acknowledges the concern and offers a private next step without inventing findings.

2. Which internal note is suitably neutral?

D. The guest reports late-night noise; verification is pending.

It distinguishes the reported experience from the pending factual review.

3. Which proposal should be rejected?

D. Offer a credit only if the guest removes the review.

Linking a benefit to review removal improperly conditions service recovery on the review.

4. What does posting the public reply establish?

D. The concern has received an acknowledgement and a next step.

A public acknowledgement does not itself establish investigation, remedy, or acceptance.

Complaint Handling and Online Reviews

E Dialogue gaps

Pages 19-20

- 1. public reply. Turn 2. A public reply is visible beyond the original reviewer, so its wording must suit the wider audience.
- 2. booking reference. Turn 4. The booking reference and other reservation details should not be exposed in the public response.
- 3. guest feedback. Turn 6. Guest feedback identifies the reported experience without pretending that its factual review is already complete.
- 4. acknowledgement. Turn 8. An acknowledgement recognizes the concern and does not by itself confirm every allegation or approve a remedy.
- 5. defensive tone. Turn 10. A defensive tone shifts attention from helping with the complaint to protecting the property from criticism.
- 6. incident log. Turn 12. The incident log may contain relevant reports and actions; it is a source to check, not a presumed verdict.
- 7. conditional offer. Turn 14. The proposed credit is improperly conditional on removing the review rather than on the service-review outcome.
- 8. service remedy. Turn 16. A service remedy is an authorized response to the service problem, not an outcome already decided by acknowledging the complaint.
- 9. case record. Turn 18. The case record should track responsibility, relevant facts, and actions so the private review does not lose continuity.
- 10. resolution status. Turn 20. Resolution status records where the complaint actually stands; posting a reply is not the same as resolving it.

F Transfer conversation

Page 21

1. reservation code

Manager: "Remove the reservation code from the public response."

The reservation identifier is private booking information, not necessary public reply content.

2. acknowledgement

Agent: "We can give a courteous acknowledgement now."

Recognition of the concern is appropriate before the factual review is complete.

3. factual check

Manager: "The complaint still needs a factual check."

The brief states that no investigation has yet been completed.

4. deletion

Agent: "Any approved voucher must be independent of review deletion."

A service remedy must not be conditional on removing the review.

Reservations, Overbooking, and Walks

A Briefing checks / page 22

1. Which alternative preserves the booked bed arrangement?

B. The king room at Harbor Hotel

Harbor Hotel has the verified king-bed alternative; the on-site room has two separate beds.

2. What costs are approved for the off-site option?

D. The room-price difference and transfer

The brief limits the approved package to the room-price difference and transfer.

3. Has the guest accepted an alternative?

C. No; his choice is still required.

Both alternatives are available, but the guest has not selected one.

D Language checks / page 27

1. Which description is most accurate?

D. The twin room is on-site but has two separate beds.

The first description preserves the verified difference in bed configuration.

2. Which statement overpromises?

B. We will pay every expense you incur.

The approval does not extend to every incidental or future expense.

3. What should happen before changing the booking?

A. Explain the alternatives and obtain the guest's choice.

The guest has not selected an alternative and needs accurate information before agreeing.

4. Which handover is complete in principle?

B. Verify the chosen booking, receiving contact, arrival details, and approved transfer.

A practical relocation requires coordination of the selected accommodation and its agreed supporting arrangements.

Reservations, Overbooking, and Walks

03

E Dialogue gaps

Pages 28-29

1. room type. Turn 2. Room type identifies the accommodation category that cannot be supplied tonight, rather than suggesting the entire reservation never existed.

2. twin room. Turn 4. A twin room has two separate beds and therefore does not preserve the guest's booked king-bed arrangement.

3. receiving property. Turn 6. The receiving property is Harbor Hotel, which has verified the relevant accommodation for tonight.

4. rate difference. Turn 8. The rate difference is the additional room-price amount the original property has specifically approved paying.

5. consent. Turn 10. Consent means the guest agrees to the specific alternative after hearing the differences and approved costs.

6. booking amendment. Turn 12. The booking amendment records the guest's selected change; it is distinct from merely identifying an available alternative.

7. relocation. Turn 14. Relocation means accommodation at another property; the approved transfer means the guest is not simply told to walk there.

8. transfer. Turn 16. The transfer is the transport arrangement, which requires its own confirmation even though the room option is available.

9. arrival instructions. Turn 18. Arrival instructions make the receiving handover practical by explaining where to go and what booking information is needed.

10. readback. Turn 20. A readback repeats the agreed details so both parties can correct any misunderstanding before the relocation is carried out.

F Transfer conversation

A Briefing checks / page 31

1. What is Night B's average daily rate?

A. $120

A. Profit

Costs are not supplied, so room revenue measures do not establish profit.

D Language checks / page 36

1. Which summary is accurate?

B. ADR rose while occupancy, RevPAR, and room revenue fell.

The supplied calculations show higher sold-room rate but lower volume and capacity-based revenue.

2. Which calculation gives Night A's RevPAR?

A. $8,000 divided by 100

RevPAR divides room revenue by available room supply, not sold rooms.

3. Which occupancy change is correctly stated?

C. A fall of 20 percentage points

Eighty percent minus sixty percent is twenty points; the relative fall is twenty-five percent.

4. Which causal claim is justified by these two nights alone?

B. None; further evidence is needed to isolate a pricing effect.

The comparison reports outcomes but does not control other influences on demand.

Revenue Management and Pricing

E Dialogue gaps

Pages 37-38

- 1. ADR. Turn 2. ADR measures average room revenue among sold rooms, so it can rise while overall room revenue falls.
- 2. rooms available. Turn 4. Rooms available is the common supply denominator, which stayed at one hundred on both nights.
- 3. occupancy. Turn 6. Occupancy is rooms sold divided by available rooms, giving eighty percent on Night A and sixty percent on Night B.
- 4. RevPAR. Turn 8. RevPAR uses all available rooms as the denominator, producing eighty dollars on Night A and seventy-two on Night B.
- 5. room revenue. Turn 10. Room revenue fell from eight thousand to seven thousand two hundred dollars, the same ten-percent decline with unchanged supply.
- 6. cost figures. Turn 12. Cost figures are needed before a revenue comparison can support a conclusion about profit.
- 7. non-room revenue. Turn 14. Non-room revenue is outside the supplied room-only figures, so no total-property revenue conclusion is established.
- 8. price elasticity. Turn 16. Price elasticity concerns how demand responds to price; two uncontrolled nights do not establish that response.
- 9. channel mix. Turn 18. Channel mix identifies how sales are distributed across booking routes and can add context to revenue and distribution-cost analysis.
- 10. trade-off. Turn 20. The trade-off is the higher average rate alongside fewer sold rooms, without asserting a proven cause or profit outcome.

1. 80

Analyst: "Occupancy is 80 percent."

Forty sold rooms divided by fifty available rooms equals eighty percent.

2. 150

Manager: "ADR is 150 dollars."

Six thousand dollars divided by forty sold rooms equals one hundred fifty.

3. 120

Analyst: "RevPAR is 120 dollars."

Six thousand dollars divided by fifty available rooms equals one hundred twenty.

4. profit

Manager: "We cannot calculate profit from these figures alone."

The case supplies revenue but no relevant cost figures.

05 Briefing and language checks

Housekeeping, Maintenance, and Turnover

A Briefing checks / page 40

1. What is missing for Room 417?

A. Maintenance clearance and final release

Housekeeping is complete, but the repair remains open and release is unrecorded.

2. Which room can reception assign on the supplied facts?

A. Room 419

Room 419 is released and its required features match the guest's needs.

3. Who performs the final release in this fictional process?

B. The duty manager

The brief explicitly assigns final release to the duty manager after both clearances.

D Language checks / page 45

1. Which handover is accurate?

C. Assign 419; keep 417 on hold until its required clearances and release are recorded.

The released and suitable alternative meets the guest need without bypassing 417's outstanding requirements.

2. What does the housekeeping inspection prove here?

D. The housekeeping checks are complete.

A department-specific inspection does not establish another department's clearance or final authorization.

3. Which statement about room-status codes is safest?

D. Check the property's definitions and release rules.

Local status definitions and the stated release process determine their operational meaning.

4. Which response avoids blaming a team?

C. Maintenance clearance is pending; I will check the responsible contact.

It states the actionable status and next step without an unsupported general accusation.

Housekeeping, Maintenance, and Turnover

E Dialogue gaps

Pages 46-47

1. release hold. Turn 2. The release hold prevents assignment while the required maintenance clearance and final authorization remain outstanding.

2. housekeeping clearance. Turn 4. Housekeeping clearance covers housekeeping's checks and cannot stand in for maintenance clearance or the final room release.

3. work order. Turn 6. The work order is the maintenance record requiring verification; its possible staleness is not proof the repair is complete.

4. maintenance clearance. Turn 8. Maintenance clearance is already recorded for 419, alongside its housekeeping clearance and final release.

5. room assignment. Turn 10. The room assignment concerns 419 only; providing that alternative does not change the unresolved status of 417.

6. release authorization. Turn 12. Release authorization is the missing operational permission, which can be described without guessing at the technical fault or repair time.

7. status reconciliation. Turn 14. Status reconciliation checks what each label means and resolves the records without automatically treating different department statuses as contradictions.

8. handover log. Turn 16. The handover log transfers the actual room assignment, unresolved item, and responsibility to the next shift.

9. return to service. Turn 18. Return to service requires the stated final release after both department clearances; reception does not bypass that step.

10. readback. Turn 20. The readback confirms the room numbers, hold, and release sequence so the two departments act on the same information.

F Transfer conversation

1. 210

Reception: "The released alternative is Room 210."

The brief identifies 210 as released and suitable for the booking.

2. maintenance

Coordinator: "Room 208 still lacks maintenance clearance."

Only housekeeping clearance has been recorded for Room 208.

3. release

Reception: "It also needs the manager's final release."

The local process requires a separate final manager authorization.

4. unavailable

Coordinator: "Keep 208 unavailable until those requirements are met."

Assignment must wait for the outstanding clearance and release.

Events, Banquets, and Run of Show

A Briefing checks / page 49

1. What was missing from the earlier soundcheck arrangement?

D. Confirmed time, room, and owner

Both teams assumed the other had arranged the task, leaving these details unconfirmed.

2. How long is the confirmed soundcheck slot?

D. Thirty minutes

The slot runs from 10:30 until 11:00, a thirty-minute duration.

3. What buffer remains before doors open?

D. Fifteen minutes

Soundcheck finishes at 11:00 and doors open at 11:15.

D Language checks / page 54

1. Which schedule entry is complete?

A. Soundcheck: Room A, 10:30-11:00, Vera, microphone and playback feed.

The complete entry identifies location, interval, owner, and specific work.

2. What happens if soundcheck ends at 11:15 with doors unchanged?

B. The fifteen-minute buffer disappears.

The revised finish coincides with admission, leaving no transition buffer.

3. Which statement correctly separates responsibilities?

D. Ren updates and sends; Asha confirms affected-team acknowledgement.

The brief assigns preparation and distribution to Ren and acknowledgement follow-up to Asha.

4. What is the best response to a later timing change?

D. Review its effects with the relevant teams and issue an acknowledged update.

Changes can affect dependencies and must reach the teams expected to act on them.

06 Conversation answers

Events, Banquets, and Run of Show

E Dialogue gaps

Pages 55-56

1. assumption. Turn 2. The assumption is the unverified belief that another team had arranged the soundcheck; it left essential details unconfirmed.

2. soundcheck. Turn 4. The soundcheck is the scheduled audio test Vera will conduct in the verified room and time slot.

3. task owner. Turn 6. The task owner is the named person who has accepted responsibility, avoiding an ambiguous department-level assignment.

4. buffer time. Turn 8. Buffer time is the fifteen-minute interval between the eleven o'clock soundcheck finish and eleven-fifteen audience admission.

5. playback feed. Turn 10. The playback feed is explicitly included alongside the event microphone in Vera's soundcheck scope.

6. run of show. Turn 12. The run of show is the shared timed event record that should carry the current soundcheck details.

7. acknowledgement. Turn 14. Acknowledgement confirms that the update reached the relevant teams; sending it alone does not establish that shared awareness.

8. change control. Turn 16. Change control requires reviewing and communicating the effect of a later adjustment rather than silently changing a dependent schedule.

9. Doors open. Turn 18. Doors open identifies the audience-admission time, which is eleven fifteen rather than the eleven o'clock technical finish.

10. readback. Turn 20. The readback verifies the agreed location, duration, owner, scope, and dependent admission time before circulation.

F Transfer conversation

1. 30

Planner: "The test lasts 30 minutes."

The interval from 09:20 to 09:50 is thirty minutes.

2. 10

Coordinator: "The buffer before doors is 10 minutes."

Ten minutes separate the 09:50 finish from 10:00 admission.

3. Jo

Planner: "The named task owner is Jo."

The brief explicitly assigns responsibility to audio lead Jo.

4. acknowledgement

Coordinator: "After circulation, collect team acknowledgement."

Sending the schedule alone does not confirm the affected teams received it.

Tour Operations and Traveler Safety

A Briefing checks / page 58

1. What is the current operational status?

C. Departure is on hold under the operator's plan.

The operator's hold is active; no restart, route, or cancellation is confirmed.

2. What should the group do now in this case?

B. Remain in the designated indoor lounge under the current plan.

The supplied local plan keeps the group in its designated indoor waiting location.

3. Who makes the operational decision?

D. Operations lead Ben

The brief assigns the decision to Ben and does not give Camila departure-clearance authority.

D Language checks / page 63

1. Which announcement is accurate?

D. Departure remains on hold; the next operator update is at 09:30.

The announcement preserves the active hold and correctly labels the scheduled communication.

2. What should Camila do if guests demand an immediate departure?

A. Repeat the active instruction and refer the decision through the operator's process.

Guest pressure does not give the agent authority to override the active operational hold.

3. Which statement about cancellation is supported?

A. It has not been confirmed.

The brief distinguishes the current hold from an undecided cancellation.

4. Which financial statement fits the facts?

B. Refund eligibility and any remedy still require confirmation.

No refund decision or alternative arrangement has been approved in the case.

07 Conversation answers

Tour Operations and Traveler Safety

E Dialogue gaps

Pages 64-65

1. departure hold. Turn 2. The departure hold is the active restriction on leaving, so guests should not interpret the update time as permission to board.

2. travel disruption. Turn 4. Travel disruption describes the effect on the guest's plans without implying that a restart or remedy is already confirmed.

3. operational clearance. Turn 6. Operational clearance must come through the authorized operator process; a change in appearance or an improvised route does not provide it.

4. route assessment. Turn 8. The route assessment concerns whether and how the excursion can operate; no route outcome has yet been confirmed.

5. status update. Turn 10. The status update must be passed on even if it only confirms that the existing hold continues.

6. refund eligibility. Turn 12. Refund eligibility depends on the applicable conditions and decision; the case does not establish an approved refund.

7. rebooking. Turn 14. Rebooking changes the reservation and would require a confirmed option and the guest's agreement, not an automatic assumption.

8. indoor waiting area. Turn 16. The designated indoor waiting area is the location specified by the current local plan, keeping guests available for the authorized update.

9. all-clear. Turn 18. An all-clear would require authorized instructions ending the restriction; none has been issued merely because an update is scheduled.

10. communication chain. Turn 20. The communication chain carries the operations lead's authorized status through the tour desk to the guests without inventing an intermediate decision.

F Transfer conversation

1. departure

Guest: "Does eleven mean departure?"

The guest is asking about leaving, which has not been authorized.

2. update

Agent: "No; eleven is the next update."

The scheduled time refers only to the operator's communication.

3. lounge

Guest: "We should remain in the designated indoor lounge."

The current local plan keeps the group in that location.

4. hold

Agent: "Correct; the operational hold remains active."

No authorized decision has ended the restriction on departure.

Cultural Expectations and Service Style

A Briefing checks / page 67

1. What does Ms Rahman want before 14:00 today?

A. No routine room entry

Her stated preference concerns routine entry before a specific time today.

2. What is the status of afternoon service?

D. Requested but not yet confirmed

The afternoon team has not confirmed a slot, so the request remains pending.

3. What is known about later days?

C. No preference has been stated.

The brief explicitly limits the stated preference to today, not the entire stay.

D Language checks / page 72

1. Which note is accurate?

D. No routine entry before 14:00 today; later service requested, slot pending.

The first note preserves the guest's stated scope and the unconfirmed afternoon availability.

2. Which question avoids stereotyping?

B. Would you prefer service later today or no service today?

The neutral question asks about the individual's service choice rather than a presumed group trait.

3. What needs confirmation before promising afternoon service?

A. An available slot from the afternoon team

The requested time depends on staffing availability that has not yet been checked.

4. Which statement about future days is supported?

B. Their service preference remains unstated.

The guest has only specified today's preference, so later days cannot be inferred.

08 Conversation answers

Cultural Expectations and Service Style

E Dialogue gaps

Pages 73-74

1. service preference. Turn 2. The service preference is the guest's individual choice about timing, which should be checked directly rather than inferred from nationality.

2. afternoon slot. Turn 4. An afternoon slot is the requested service allocation that still needs confirmation from the relevant team.

3. scope of request. Turn 6. The scope of request is limited to today's routine-entry timing and does not cover the entire three-night stay.

4. clarifying question. Turn 8. A clarifying question asks what this guest wants rather than substituting a nationality-based explanation.

5. individual variation. Turn 10. Individual variation means people within a group can have different preferences; group membership does not determine this guest's request.

6. preference note. Turn 12. The preference note should record the explicit day, service boundary, and pending request without adding unsupported personal explanations.

7. routine room entry. Turn 14. Routine room entry identifies ordinary housekeeping access, not a new rule governing emergencies or other separate procedures.

8. service confirmation. Turn 16. Service confirmation is the verified arrangement, which comes after recording the request and checking the team's availability.

9. service window. Turn 18. The service window concerns the period for service and may differ on later days; today's request does not fix it for the stay.

10. neutral. Turn 20. Neutral describes wording limited to the service facts, without stereotyping or unsupported explanations of the guest's motives.

F Transfer conversation

1. 15:00

Agent: "The no-entry boundary is before 15:00 today."

The guest supplied fifteen hundred as today's routine-entry boundary.

2. availability

Guest: "Later service is subject to availability."

The team has not yet confirmed that a suitable later slot exists.

3. unstated

Agent: "Tomorrow's preference remains unstated."

No request has been supplied for the following day.

4. stereotype

Guest: "Please record my individual request without a cultural stereotype."

A nationality-based generalization is not evidence of this guest's service preference.
